Committee Votes Debt Limit Boost

Senate Unit OKs Temporary Hike Of Six Billions

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—The Treasury won approval from the Senate Finance Committee today for a six-billion-dollar boost in the present debt limit of 275 billion dollars.

The increase would be temporary, until next June 30, and the Treasury would be under notice it had to get back under the present limit by then.

It was not all the Treasury asked, but it was a partial victory for the administration and it marked a change in the hitherto adamant opposition by Sen. Byrd (D-Va) to any increase.

Vote Reported 9 To 6

It was Byrd who proposed the six billion boost, adopted by the Finance Committee by a vote reported to be 9-6. Just a year ago the committee killed 11-4 a request by the administration for a 15-billion-dollar boost.

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) said Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey asked the committee for a permanent increase of five billion in the debt limit, plus a temporary increase of another five billion until next June 30.

A 1953 House bill approving a 15 billion increase to 290 billion is still alive and Senate committee approval of the temporary six billion increase was in the form of an amendment to the House measure. Whatever sum the Senate okays would have to be adjusted later with the House figure.

Ike Says Hike Necessary

On Aug. 2 the federal debt subject to the legal limit was $274,050,016,864.28 and Treasury officials have been restive at having to operate under such a close margin.

President Eisenhower said July 28 that a raise in the 275 billion limit was a necessity. His monetary lieutenants have said that tax cuts voted by Congress plus a continued high level of government spending have created prospects of a tight squeeze.

TYPHOID CURE — Dr. Albert E. Heustis, Michigan health commissioner, said yesterday Michigan state health laboratories under the direction of Dr. G. D. Red China Snubs Second Protest Of Plane Attack

LONDON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Red China has blandly shipped back an American note protesting against a death-dealing attack on a British airliner off Hainan July 23, it was officially disclosed tonight. For the second time, the Chinese Communists refused even to consider such a protest.

The United States had demanded compensation for three Americans killed and three injured and had called for "appropriate punishment" of those responsible. It has also denounced the attack on two American rescue planes which led to the destruction of two Chinese fighter planes three days after the airliner fell.

"Categorically Rejected"

Peiping radio, quoting a New China News Agency dispatch, said Deputy Foreign Minister Chang Han Fu yesterday had "categorically rejected a U.S. government document designed to entangle the case of the British airliner unwarrantedly."

"It is known that the British airliner accident is being solved through diplomatic channels between the Chinese and British governments and has nothing to do with the U.S. government."

Reds Apologized To British

Red China apologized officially to Britain soon after the Hainan incident, which she said was an unfortunate accident. The Chinese offered to consider British claims for compensation.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles said last week the Chinese were wrong to refuse the American protests. It was accepted in international law, he added, that governments have the right to claim compensation on behalf of their citizens involved in such disasters.

Adlai, 15 Others Unhurt As Plane Hit By Lightning

BILLINGS, Mont., Aug. 5 (INS) — A Western Airlines plane with Adlai Stevenson and 15 other persons aboard was struck by a bolt of lightning this afternoon on a flight from Great Falls to Billings, but no one was injured.

The radio antenna was destroyed, and two holes were torn in the plane.

The plane, en route to Denver, was forced to lay over at Billings, Mont., for two hours before proceeding southward to Denver.

Stevenson will change planes at Denver and fly to Kansas City, where he will confer with former President Harry S. Truman.

Ike Hails Oil Settlement

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower tonight greeted the settlement of the Iranian oil dispute as "the beginning of a new era of economic progress" for Iran. He also called it a significant step toward international friendship.

FAR AHEAD — Sen. Estes Kefauver (above), bidding for renomination, grabbed a 3-1 lead over Rep. Pat Sutton in Tennessee's Democratic primary election yesterday. The election marked Kefauver's first ballot box test since he made a bid for the Democratic presidential nomination two years ago.

Long And Bitter British-Iranian Oil Dispute Ends

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 5 (AP)—The bitter British-Iranian oil dispute was settled today, more than three years after Mohammed Mossadegh nationalized the Iranian oil industry. Oil was expected to flow again to Western markets from this little nation bordering Soviet Russia within two to four months.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles declared "every member of the community of free nations stands to gain" from the settlement between eight big Western oil companies and the Iranian government.

Western diplomats predicted the Iranian accord—together with the recent British-Egyptian agreement on the Suez Canal zone — will pave the way for a new Middle Eastern defense network.

Representatives of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., which had lost installations built up over a half century under the nationalization program, five American companies and Dutch and French firms reached a 25-year agreement with Iran for operation of the industry, which has turned out only a trickle of oil since Mossadegh took over the fields in 1951.

The AIOC, controlled by the British government, agreed to accept 70 million dollars and a 40 per cent interest in the new oil combine for its vast properties, once valued unofficially at more than a billion dollars.

Western oilmen and Finance Minister Ali Amini initialled the compensation agreement in Tehran. It provides for payments beginning Jan. 1, 1957, running 10 years without interest. The company originally demanded a half billion dollars compensation.

The announcement of the overall settlement came in a joint statement here by Amini and Howard Page of Standard Oil of New Jersey, chairman of the negotiators for the companies. The statement said the eight firms will operate the vast Abadan refinery and surrounding oil fields, buying the oil output from Iran and selling the production abroad.

Iran will retain title to the fields and the refining facilities. The statement did not cite the rate of payment to Iran, but informed sources said it was virtually the same 50-50 split that prevails elsewhere in the Middle East.

Socialite Slain By Best Friend

MENLO PARK, Calif., Aug. 5 (AP)—A 36-year-old society woman was shot and killed today in the driveway of her fashionable home while her two sons stood nearby. Police quickly arrested her best friend, 40-year-old mother of two, who had fled in a Cadillac.

Police Inspector William Kiesler said that Mrs. Doris Gloss, 40, admitted slaying Mrs. Harold J. Oberhaus, but said "I don't know why."

Mrs. Oberhaus, wife of a general manager for a firm which builds swimming pools, was shot just after emerging from her home with her two sons.

Patrolman Edgar Pablis shortly afterward spotted the Cadillac cruising in the neighborhood and followed it to the Gloss home. He followed Mrs. Gloss into the house and said she had a .38 revolver in her hands when he arrested her.

Mrs. Gloss appeared in a near hysterical condition at police headquarters.

Canadian To Pay With Life For Murdering Pa. Hunter

PERCE, Que., Aug. 5 (AP)—A Canadian jury took only 34 minutes today to convict 43-year-old prospector Wilbert Coffin of murdering Richard Lindsey, one of three Pennsylvania bear hunters found dead and mutilated in the Gaspe bushland last summer.

Coffin was sentenced to be hanged Nov. 26.

The mutilation of the bodies appeared to be the gnawing of bears, but the crown prosecution, with largely circumstantial evidence, convinced the six English-speaking and six French-speaking male jurors that at least one of the three was a victim of Coffin.

About 80 witnesses testified for the crown. The defense in a surprise move called no witnesses.

The bodies of Richard Lindsey, 17, his father, Eugene, 47, and a friend, 20-year-old Albert Claar, all of Hollidaysburg, Pa., were found in the Gaspe bush where they had gone to shoot bear.

The jury members retired after hearing a two-hour address by Justice Gerard Lacroix, delivered first in English and then in French. The trial was in its 19th day.

Coffin himself appeared weary as the judge drew to the close of his speech.

The prosecution sought to prove Coffin's motive was robbery and that he appeared prosperous after the hunters disappeared.

Justice Lacroix told the jury they must be certain, beyond any doubt, that Coffin was the slayer of Richard Lindsey.

He also raised the possibility of a manslaughter conviction, but only if they were convinced Coffin shot Lindsey while under the influence of alcohol—and if the alcohol was taken with no intention of committing a criminal offense.

Kefauver Leads Tenn. Race

Senator Holds 3-1 Edge Over Rep. Pat Sutton

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 5 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver took an early 3-1 lead tonight in his Democratic primary bid for renomination, the first test of Kefauver's vote-getting prowess since he tried for the presidency two years ago.

Returns from 345 of Tennessee's 2,591 precincts gave the senator 27,720 votes to 9,681 for Rep. Pat Sutton.

In the Democratic gubernatorial race, Gov. Frank Clement was leading former Gov. Gordon Browning by 2-1. Clement had 27,157 votes to 14,210 for Browning. Raulston Schoolfield had 1,211 votes. He campaigned primarily on a pro-segregation stand.

Vice-Presidential Timber?

Clement, at 34 the youngest governor in the nation, has been mentioned by his supporters as possible vice-presidential timber in 1956.

The Clement vote came in the face of a rift between the governor and two of his cabinet members, plus the fact that Browning had the support this year of two unsuccessful candidates for governor two years ago.

None of the early tabulations included votes from the state's larger cities.

What may be a record voter turnout came despite wilting 100-degree heat. Polls in many spots were almost swamped.

Voting Record Seen

Long before poll opening time at 7 a.m., local time, lines of sweating voters had formed up before many of the state's 2,500-odd precincts. Voting continued in some metropolitan areas until 9 p.m. Most rural precincts closed at 5 p.m.

Democratic bigwigs predict a vote of up to 650,000. Republicans estimate 125,000 in their primary. This would far outdistance the 682,648 votes counted in the 1952 primaries. A general election record, however, was set in 1952 with 892,549 ballots cast.

The governor's race for the first time was for a four-year term instead of two years, due to a constitutional amendment.

Closer Check On Security Cases Ordered By Ike

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower issued an order today designed to keep closer tabs on what happens in the case of a government official or employe suspected of being a security risk.

Under the order, each department and agency head must report to the Civil Service Commission "as soon as possible" what action has been taken in these cases.

In no event may these reports be made later than 90 days "after receipt of the final investigative report on a civilian officer or employe subject to a full field investigation."

A full field investigation is one which is made of an employe after preliminary investigation develops there is derogatory information filed against him.

The Civil Service Commission was directed to report to the National Security Council what action had been taken by the government agencies, and to take special note of any delay "in taking timely action under this order."

The National Security Council, the top government agency for coordinating measures for the security of the country, is made up of the President, vice president, secretaries of state and defense, and heads of the Foreign Operations Administration and the Office of Defense Mobilization.

A continuing complaint of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has been that in a number of cases federal agency heads have not acted on security risk information supplied them by the FBI after field investigations.

U. S. To Ship 10 Million Tons Of Coal Overseas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen disclosed today plans to ship a record-breaking 10 million tons of American coal to friendly countries before next June 30.

The massive coal shipments, he said, will help ease unemployment in American mines and help the industry move growing surplus stocks.

At the same time, they will help step up industrial activity overseas and create new markets for coal.

Distillery Fire Causes Six Deaths

Burned out areas of the American Distillery Company are shown in this air view of the plant and adjoining industries. At least six persons died in the two-day, whisky-fed blaze with damage estimated in millions of dollars. Thirty-three persons were injured.

Dockers Battle German Police Over Evictions

BREMERHAVEN, Germany, Aug. 5 (AP) — German dockworkers fought with police here today during a German reviewing team's inspection of a residential area the U.S. Army intends to requisition for a seven-million-dollar housing project. German officials blamed Communist agitators.

A man and a woman, described as "known Red agitators" were jailed as the ringleaders of the brawl which broke out when the team tried to visit the 25 homes that are to be razed.

1,000 Workers Join Melee

Some of the 80 Germans living in the area complained and about 1,000 dock workers left their jobs to join the melee. Fists and clubs flew until police reinforcements quelled the rioters. Several persons were injured.

City officials said a Communist party leader had been seen inciting the people to riot and shouting anti-American epithets. They said most of the Germans in the area have said they were willing to move to other homes found for them.

The construction project will enable the Army to turn back 741 homes to the Germans, the city said. Authorities added that plans have been made to take care of the dispossessed without hardships.

American Supply Port

War-damaged Bremerhaven is the main German port supplying a quarter-million U.S. troops stationed throughout Germany. Most of the troops stationed here are connected with these supply operations.

The Communist party has maintained a continuous barrage of propaganda against U.S. military personnel and their activities here. Red agitators constantly appeal to workers to sabotage American supply work.

Rhee Thanks Truman For Korea Decision

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Aug. 5 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee of South Korea urged the United States today to start fighting Communist aggression but said he didn't mean using atomic and hydrogen bombs.

The fiery little Korean leader paid a personal visit to former President Harry S. Truman at his home here to express his thanks for the historic decision which sent American troops to Korea four years ago.

After their visit, Rhee spoke extemporaneously from the front porch of the Truman home, with the former President at his side. Rhee said the Communists are winning big gains all over the world.

Whisky Loss Mourned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service today mourned the loss of at least 90,000 barrels of whiskey in the Pekin, Ill., fire of American Distilling Co.

The destruction is costing Uncle Sam $4,725,000 in potential alcohol tax collections, a spokesman for the service said.

"Miss America" Finals On Sept. 11 Will Be Televised

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Aug. 5 (AP)—The Miss America Pageant will be televised on the final night, Sept. 11, for the first time since the contest started in 1920, it was announced today.

The Miss America Pageant Board signed contracts with the Philco Corp. of America for televising the finals from 10:30 p.m. until midnight through 150 stations over the American Broadcasting System.

20 Vietnamese Slain, French Say

SAIGON, Indochina, Aug. 5 (AP)—Twenty Vietnamese were shot dead in demonstrations following the official cease-fire Sunday in central Viet Nam, the French High Command said today.

The announcement came on the eve of the cease-fire at 8 a.m. in Laos, the third phase in the five-stage tapering off of military activities throughout Indochina under the Geneva truce agreement.

The truce became effective in North Viet Nam July 27. It will take effect Saturday in Cambodia and next Wednesday in South Viet Nam.

Some 500 persons besieged unidentified troops at Kim Doi, a village 400 miles north of Saigon, the French reported. When the troops were fired on, they turned their guns on the civilians and wounded several.

The demonstrations were described as probably inspired by the Communist-led Vietminh.

Six Lose Lives In Whisky-Fed Distillery Fire

PEKIN, Ill., Aug. 5 (AP)—Firemen strove late today to snuff out a two-day whisky-fed distillery fire that caused six deaths and millions of dollars in losses.

Six bodies have been recovered in the debris.

33 Persons Injured

The chain of fires and explosions on the 61-acre grounds of the American Distilling Co. injured 33 persons and destroyed four buildings. Estimates of the whisky loss ranged from 90,000 to 110,000 barrels — the equivalent of between 14,175,000 and 17,325,000 fifths of liquor.

As the heat eased off, workers moved in with bulldozers and a scoop shovel to search for bodies in the scattered rubble.

Coroner Charles Nelson and Sheriff George Saal said the dead were Lawrence Neavear, 39; Marion S. Garber, 53, William Kohler, 35, James Dancey, 40, construction and engineering superintendent, Richard Eartmoed, 32, and Edward Winkler, 47. All were distillery employes.

Explosion Rips Rackhouse

The bodies were found in the rubble tossed up by an explosion in rackhouse 3 last night.

The fiery marathon had been going on for 38 hours at 4 p.m. Company officials, at various times, expressed the hopeful belief that the fire was under control.

But it was the heat given off by four still-burning buildings that caused concern.

90 Red Subs In Pacific

TOKYO, Friday, Aug. 6 (AP) — Russia has possibly 90 submarines in the Pacific and these would threaten U.S. sea lanes in event of trouble, Vice Adm. William Callaghan said yesterday.

New Navy Jet Plane Faster Than Sound In Level Flight

HICKSVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 5 (AP)—A speck that whisked through the sky over Long Island during the past week was disclosed today to be a new Navy jet fighter capable of supersonic speeds in level flight.

The wasp - waisted craft, the Grumman F9F9 Tiger, is described by the Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. as one of the few combat airplanes in the world capable of such speed on a level course.

Her builders said she is capable of supersonic speed whether at sea level or any altitudes ranging up to around 50,000 feet. The speed of sound at sea level is about 760 miles an hour.

The new craft completed her fourth successful flight today from the corporation's Peconic River plant on Long Island under the guidance of test pilot Corwin Meyer.

The Tiger made her first flight Friday. That was four days before a British jet fighter, the English Electric P1, also capable of supersonic speed in level flight, made her maiden test hop in England.

The new American plane is the first of an undisclosed number of Tigers Grumman will produce for the Navy under a 40-million-dollar contract.

The announcement said, "The entire top section of the wing is machined from a single sheet of aluminum, greatly reducing the number of parts, time and expense usually involved in complex wing assembly."

Six Senators Confer Behind Closed Doors

Bipartisan Committee To Make Preliminary Decision On Censure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Three Republican and three Democratic members of the Senate, extolled by party leaders as high caliber men with open minds, were drafted today to sit in judgment on Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The heavy chore, loaded with political dynamite, was turned over to Republican Senators Arthur V. Watkins (Utah), Frank Carlson (Kan), and Francis Case (SD), and Democratic Senators Edwin C. Johnson (Colo), John C. Stennis (Miss) and Sam J. Ervin Jr. (NC).

They met at once as a select committee to consider how to weigh the 46 overlapping charges which have been made against McCarthy on the Senate floor and to make a preliminary decision on the bitterly debated question of whether the senator from Wisconsin should be censured for his official conduct.

Closed-Door Session

After a closed-door session lasting half an hour, Watkins, acting as spokesman for the committee, reported the only decision reached was to meet again tomorrow at 11 a.m.

Watkins said all the senators chosen for the task felt it was their duty to serve, but he added:

"I think I can speak positively that there were no volunteers."

Vice President Nixon announced the members of the committee to the Senate this morning, but the actual selections were made by party leaders in the Senate.

Under the terms of reference agreed upon by the Senate Monday night, the committee is to make a report before Congress adjourns this month.

Some senators, including McCarthy himself, believe the whole controversy should be settled before the Senate adjourns. Sen. Mundt (R-SD), who presided at the McCarthy-Adams hearings, thinks, however, the job will take three or four months.

Committee To Name Chairman

McCarthy listened to the naming of his judges quietly. He arose at length to ask Nixon who would be chairman. The Vice President replied, "The committee will select its own chairman."

McCarthy then asked for an opportunity to meet with the committee this afternoon, saying he wanted, among other things, to arrange so that there would be no conflict between the committee's requirements on his time and his own plans for conducting hearings before his Senate Investigations subcommittee. Watkins said later there was no plan to meet with McCarthy this afternoon.

Atomic Dispute Talks Collapse

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Government efforts to settle a wage dispute at two atomic plants collapsed tonight and a new strike threatened.

The plants, at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., produce the nation's entire supply of uranium material needed for atomic and hydrogen bombs.

Director Whitley P. McCoy of the Federal Mediation Service told reporters: "There's no progress. So what's the use of further meetings?"

President Elwood Swisher of the CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers Union, whose 4,500 members struck Oak Ridge and Paducah plants for four days July 7-10, said the union has fixed a new strike date.

But he refused to divulge the date. Rumors that it is Aug. 10, next Tuesday, are "pure speculation," he said.

100,000 Chinese Battle To Hold Back Yangtze

TOKYO, Friday, Aug. 6 (AP)—The record crest of the mighty Yangtze rose remorselessly yesterday, surging against the 98-foot dikes which hold it back from 1,255,000 Chinese in Wuhan, central China.

By Peiping account, the crest was little more than 2½ feet from the top of the dikes, where 100,000 workers struggled around the clock to keep the river from bursting into the tri-city area.

Already the Yangtze is more than two feet above the old record level of 1931, when it broke the dikes and submerged the three cities that make up Wuhan—Haniow, Hanyang and Wuchang.

The mutilation of the bodies appeared to be the gnawing of bears, but the crown prosecution, with largely circumstantial evidence, convinced the six English-speaking and six French-speaking male jurors that at least one of the three was a victim of Coffin.

About 80 witnesses testified for the crown. The defense in a surprise move called no witnesses.

The bodies of Richard Lindsey, 17, his father, Eugene, 47, and a friend, 20-year-old Albert Claar, all of Hollidaysburg, Pa., were found in the Gaspe bush where they had gone to shoot bear.

The jury members retired after hearing a two-hour address by Justice Gerard Lacroix, delivered first in English and then in French. The trial was in its 19th day.

Coffin himself appeared weary as the judge drew to the close of his speech.

The prosecution sought to prove Coffin's motive was robbery and that he appeared prosperous after the hunters disappeared.

Justice Lacroix told the jury they must be certain, beyond any doubt, that Coffin was the slayer of Richard Lindsey.

He also raised the possibility of a manslaughter conviction, but only if they were convinced Coffin shot Lindsey while under the influence of alcohol—and if the alcohol was taken with no intention of committing a criminal offense.

Kefauver Leads Tenn. Race

Senator Holds 3-1 Edge Over Rep. Pat Sutton

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 5 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver took an early 3-1 lead tonight in his Democratic primary bid for renomination, the first test of Kefauver's vote-getting prowess since he tried for the presidency two years ago.

Returns from 345 of Tennessee's 2,591 precincts gave the senator 27,720 votes to 9,681 for Rep. Pat Sutton.

In the Democratic gubernatorial race, Gov. Frank Clement was leading former Gov. Gordon Browning by 2-1. Clement had 27,157 votes to 14,210 for Browning. Raulston Schoolfield had 1,211 votes. He campaigned primarily on a pro-segregation stand.

Vice-Presidential Timber?

Clement, at 34 the youngest governor in the nation, has been mentioned by his supporters as possible vice-presidential timber in 1956.

The Clement vote came in the face of a rift between the governor and two of his cabinet members, plus the fact that Browning had the support this year of two unsuccessful candidates for governor two years ago.

None of the early tabulations included votes from the state's larger cities.

What may be a record voter turnout came despite wilting 100-degree heat. Polls in many spots were almost swamped.

Voting Record Seen

Long before poll opening time at 7 a.m., local time, lines of sweating voters had formed up before many of the state's 2,500-odd precincts. Voting continued in some metropolitan areas until 9 p.m. Most rural precincts closed at 5 p.m.

Democratic bigwigs predict a vote of up to 650,000. Republicans estimate 125,000 in their primary. This would far outdistance the 682,648 votes counted in the 1952 primaries. A general election record, however, was set in 1952 with 892,549 ballots cast.

The governor's race for the first time was for a four-year term instead of two years, due to a constitutional amendment.

Closer Check On Security Cases Ordered By Ike

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower issued an order today designed to keep closer tabs on what happens in the case of a government official or employe suspected of being a security risk.

Under the order, each department and agency head must report to the Civil Service Commission "as soon as possible" what action has been taken in these cases.

In no event may these reports be made later than 90 days "after receipt of the final investigative report on a civilian officer or employe subject to a full field investigation."

A full field investigation is one which is made of an employe after preliminary investigation develops there is derogatory information filed against him.

The Civil Service Commission was directed to report to the National Security Council what action had been taken by the government agencies, and to take special note of any delay "in taking timely action under this order."

The National Security Council, the top government agency for coordinating measures for the security of the country, is made up of the President, vice president, secretaries of state and defense, and heads of the Foreign Operations Administration and the Office of Defense Mobilization.

A continuing complaint of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has been that in a number of cases federal agency heads have not acted on security risk information supplied them by the FBI after field investigations.

U. S. To Ship 10 Million Tons Of Coal Overseas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen disclosed today plans to ship a record-breaking 10 million tons of American coal to friendly countries before next June 30.

The massive coal shipments, he said, will help ease unemployment in American mines and help the industry move growing surplus stocks.

At the same time, they will help step up industrial activity overseas and create new markets for coal.

Distillery Fire Causes Six Deaths

Burned out areas of the American Distillery Company are shown in this air view of the plant and adjoining industries. At least six persons died in the two-day, whisky-fed blaze with damage estimated in millions of dollars. Thirty-three persons were injured.

Dockers Battle German Police Over Evictions

BREMERHAVEN, Germany, Aug. 5 (AP) — German dockworkers fought with police here today during a German reviewing team's inspection of a residential area the U.S. Army intends to requisition for a seven-million-dollar housing project. German officials blamed Communist agitators.

A man and a woman, described as "known Red agitators" were jailed as the ringleaders of the brawl which broke out when the team tried to visit the 25 homes that are to be razed.

1,000 Workers Join Melee

Some of the 80 Germans living in the area complained and about 1,000 dock workers left their jobs to join the melee. Fists and clubs flew until police reinforcements quelled the rioters. Several persons were injured.

City officials said a Communist party leader had been seen inciting the people to riot and shouting anti-American epithets. They said most of the Germans in the area have said they were willing to move to other homes found for them.

The construction project will enable the Army to turn back 741 homes to the Germans, the city said. Authorities added that plans have been made to take care of the dispossessed without hardships.

American Supply Port

War-damaged Bremerhaven is the main German port supplying a quarter-million U.S. troops stationed throughout Germany. Most of the troops stationed here are connected with these supply operations.

The Communist party has maintained a continuous barrage of propaganda against U.S. military personnel and their activities here. Red agitators constantly appeal to workers to sabotage American supply work.

Rhee Thanks Truman For Korea Decision

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Aug. 5 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee of South Korea urged the United States today to start fighting Communist aggression but said he didn't mean using atomic and hydrogen bombs.

The fiery little Korean leader paid a personal visit to former President Harry S. Truman at his home here to express his thanks for the historic decision which sent American troops to Korea four years ago.

After their visit, Rhee spoke extemporaneously from the front porch of the Truman home, with the former President at his side. Rhee said the Communists are winning big gains all over the world.

Whisky Loss Mourned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service today mourned the loss of at least 90,000 barrels of whiskey in the Pekin, Ill., fire of American Distilling Co.

The destruction is costing Uncle Sam $4,725,000 in potential alcohol tax collections, a spokesman for the service said.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Aug. 5 (AP)—The Miss America Pageant will be televised on the final night, Sept. 11, for the first time since the contest started in 1920, it was announced today.

The Miss America Pageant Board signed contracts with the Philco Corp. of America for televising the finals from 10:30 p.m. until midnight through 150 stations over the American Broadcasting System.

20 Vietnamese Slain, French Say

SAIGON, Indochina, Aug. 5 (AP)—Twenty Vietnamese were shot dead in demonstrations following the official cease-fire Sunday in central Viet Nam, the French High Command said today.

The announcement came on the eve of the cease-fire at 8 a.m. in Laos, the third phase in the five-stage tapering off of military activities throughout Indochina under the Geneva truce agreement.

The truce became effective in North Viet Nam July 27. It will take effect Saturday in Cambodia and next Wednesday in South Viet Nam.

Some 500 persons besieged unidentified troops at Kim Doi, a village 400 miles north of Saigon, the French reported. When the troops were fired on, they turned their guns on the civilians and wounded several.

The demonstrations were described as probably inspired by the Communist-led Vietminh.

Six Lose Lives In Whisky-Fed Distillery Fire

PEKIN, Ill., Aug. 5 (AP)—Firemen strove late today to snuff out a two-day whisky-fed distillery fire that caused six deaths and millions of dollars in losses.

Six bodies have been recovered in the debris.

33 Persons Injured

The chain of fires and explosions on the 61-acre grounds of the American Distilling Co. injured 33 persons and destroyed four buildings. Estimates of the whisky loss ranged from 90,000 to 110,000 barrels — the equivalent of between 14,175,000 and 17,325,000 fifths of liquor.

As the heat eased off, workers moved in with bulldozers and a scoop shovel to search for bodies in the scattered rubble.

Coroner Charles Nelson and Sheriff George Saal said the dead were Lawrence Neavear, 39; Marion S. Garber, 53, William Kohler, 35, James Dancey, 40, construction and engineering superintendent, Richard Eartmoed, 32, and Edward Winkler, 47. All were distillery employes.

Explosion Rips Rackhouse

The bodies were found in the rubble tossed up by an explosion in rackhouse 3 last night.

The fiery marathon had been going on for 38 hours at 4 p.m. Company officials, at various times, expressed the hopeful belief that the fire was under control.

But it was the heat given off by four still-burning buildings that caused concern.

90 Red Subs In Pacific

TOKYO, Friday, Aug. 6 (AP) — Russia has possibly 90 submarines in the Pacific and these would threaten U.S. sea lanes in event of trouble, Vice Adm. William Callaghan said yesterday.

New Navy Jet Plane Faster Than Sound In Level Flight

HICKSVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 5 (AP)—A speck that whisked through the sky over Long Island during the past week was disclosed today to be a new Navy jet fighter capable of supersonic speeds in level flight.

The wasp - waisted craft, the Grumman F9F9 Tiger, is described by the Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. as one of the few combat airplanes in the world capable of such speed on a level course.

Her builders said she is capable of supersonic speed whether at sea level or any altitudes ranging up to around 50,000 feet. The speed of sound at sea level is about 760 miles an hour.

The new craft completed her fourth successful flight today from the corporation's Peconic River plant on Long Island under the guidance of test pilot Corwin Meyer.

The Tiger made her first flight Friday. That was four days before a British jet fighter, the English Electric P1, also capable of supersonic speed in level flight, made her maiden test hop in England.

The announcement said, "The entire top section of the wing is machined from a single sheet of aluminum, greatly reducing the number of parts, time and expense usually involved in complex wing assembly."

Six Senators Confer Behind Closed Doors

Bipartisan Committee To Make Preliminary Decision On Censure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Three Republican and three Democratic members of the Senate, extolled by party leaders as high caliber men with open minds, were drafted today to sit in judgment on Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The heavy chore, loaded with political dynamite, was turned over to Republican Senators Arthur V. Watkins (Utah), Frank Carlson (Kan), and Francis Case (SD), and Democratic Senators Edwin C. Johnson (Colo), John C. Stennis (Miss) and Sam J. Ervin Jr. (NC).

They met at once as a select committee to consider how to weigh the 46 overlapping charges which have been made against McCarthy on the Senate floor and to make a preliminary decision on the bitterly debated question of whether the senator from Wisconsin should be censured for his official conduct.

Closed-Door Session

After a closed-door session lasting half an hour, Watkins, acting as spokesman for the committee, reported the only decision reached was to meet again tomorrow at 11 a.m.

Watkins said all the senators chosen for the task felt it was their duty to serve, but he added:

"I think I can speak positively that there were no volunteers."

Vice President Nixon announced the members of the committee to the Senate this morning, but the actual selections were made by party leaders in the Senate.

Under the terms of reference agreed upon by the Senate Monday night, the committee is to make a report before Congress adjourns this month.

Some senators, including McCarthy himself, believe the whole controversy should be settled before the Senate adjourns. Sen. Mundt (R-SD), who presided at the McCarthy-Adams hearings, thinks, however, the job will take three or four months.

Committee To Name Chairman

McCarthy listened to the naming of his judges quietly. He arose at length to ask Nixon who would be chairman. The Vice President replied, "The committee will select its own chairman."

McCarthy then asked for an opportunity to meet with the committee this afternoon, saying he wanted, among other things, to arrange so that there would be no conflict between the committee's requirements on his time and his own plans for conducting hearings before his Senate Investigations subcommittee. Watkins said later there was no plan to meet with McCarthy this afternoon.

Atomic Dispute Talks Collapse

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Government efforts to settle a wage dispute at two atomic plants collapsed tonight and a new strike threatened.

The plants, at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., produce the nation's entire supply of uranium material needed for atomic and hydrogen bombs.

Director Whitley P. McCoy of the Federal Mediation Service told reporters: "There's no progress. So what's the use of further meetings?"

President Elwood Swisher of the CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers Union, whose 4,500 members struck Oak Ridge and Paducah plants for four days July 7-10, said the union has fixed a new strike date.

But he refused to divulge the date. Rumors that it is Aug. 10, next Tuesday, are "pure speculation," he said.

100,000 Chinese Battle To Hold Back Yangtze

TOKYO, Friday, Aug. 6 (AP)—The record crest of the mighty Yangtze rose remorselessly yesterday, surging against the 98-foot dikes which hold it back from 1,255,000 Chinese in Wuhan, central China.

By Peiping account, the crest was little more than 2½ feet from the top of the dikes, where 100,000 workers struggled around the clock to keep the river from bursting into the tri-city area.

Already the Yangtze is more than two feet above the old record level of 1931, when it broke the dikes and submerged the three cities that make up Wuhan-Haniow, Hanyang and Wuchang.

Builder Denies Capehart's "Racket" Charge At Probe

Witness Says Nothing Wrong With 5% "Fee"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP) — A Hackensack, N. J., lawyer-builder was denounced face to face by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) today as a man who victimized apartment hunters in a conscienceless "1,000 per cent racket."

"I don't like calling it a racket," protested the witness, George I. Marcus, who contended there was nothing wrong with his charging 5 per cent of a year's rent to people moving into a government-backed apartment project.

Marcus was the last witness in the Washington phase of hearings by the Senate Banking Committee, which Capehart heads, into alleged "windfall" profits and other irregularities in government housing programs.

The committee plans to make on-the-spot investigations in six cities across the country, starting Aug. 24 in New York.

On the Senate floor, Sen. Williams (R-Del) gave a new airing to a previously developed phase of the inquiry. He said seven persons in Columbus, Ohio, ran up a $1,054,000 profit on a total investment of $4,000 by means of Federal Housing Administration mortgages.

Williams said Don Loftus, whom he named as president and trustee of all four companies, put up a total of $500 and pocketed $95,331.82 "as his share of distributed windfall profits" from the Beverly manor apartments.

The Delaware senator said another member of the group, Jack F. Chrysler, invested $400 and got back $76,265.45.

There was no immediate comment from Loftus but Chrysler repeated a statement he made when the Banking Committee investigated the operation. "In addition to the cash and collateral, amounting to approximately $300,000, that I advanced to help finance the building," Chrysler said, "the funds that I had at risk in the entierprise were substantial, or more than seven times the profit realized on that investment."

Williams said Loftus, Chrysler and their associates got FHA mortgages totaling $8,826,400, then built the project for $7,772,046.

Marcus, today's witness before the Capehart committee, lit into the investigators in a previous appearance at the hearing, accusing them of "shooting off your mouths" and of misrepresenting the financial affairs of a client.

Housewife Had 'Hugging' Dates With Sheppard

CLEVELAND, Aug. 5 (AP)—An attractive 27 - year - old suburban housewife admitted today she recently had dates on which she "hugged and kissed — nothing more" with Dr. Samuel Sheppard, osteopath charged with murdering his wife.

The woman told a reporter it "looks like there are a lot of others in this. I might as well join the crowd."

She is one of five women who detectives say had amorous engagements with the handsome 30-year-old doctor. One of the others is Susan Hayes, a sun-tanned hospital technician who admitted intimacies with him last March.

Remarking "perhaps gratitude" played a part in her feeling for the doctor, the housewife said he bolstered her morale in treating her for automobile accident injuries.

Dr. Sheppard said previously their relationship had been "doctor-patient."

The woman said she had been "more aggressive" than the physician. Questioned about whether she planned a divorce so she could marry the doctor, she said: "Why we never talked about such a thing. After all, I have a daughter and he has a son."

A high police official earlier said she had signed a statement admitting three or four hugging and kissing dates and that once they parked in Metropolitan Park.

Her husband signed a statement saying he slapped her because she took a walk in the woods with the doctor, said the officer, who refused to be identified by name.

Referring to the July 4, slaying of Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard, 31, the housewife said "everyone in our set finds this so hard to believe."

Dr. Sheppard spent a good part of the day on an army cot in his cell reading magazines about "hot rod" automobiles. He owns a foreign car.

HE'S JUST TOO YOUNG—Six-year-old Daniel May, Cedar Rapids, Ia., is pictured holding a traffic summons he received for operating a motor vehicle without a license. The boy's father, John May, faces two charges—permitting an unauthorized person to drive a motor vehicle and improper registration. Veteran policemen said they cannot remember anyone that young having even been charged with a traffic offense in the city. The boy was driving the car, made by his father, up and down the street in front of his home.

Senators Warn Farm Supports Might Collapse

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP) — Warnings that the multibillion dollar farm price support program may collapse came from opposing camps in the Senate today.

Republican Leader Knowland (R-Calif) was pressing for a showdown vote on the hot issue of flexible vs. rigid supports. But campaign year oratory by farm state senators indicated that was hours and possibly days away. No less than 20 senators sent their names to the vice president's desk to reserve time for speeches.

Knowland announced in early evening that there would be no vote tonight but he hoped for one tomorrow.

In the face of administration opposition, Sen. Young (R-ND) directed a bipartisan drive to extend present rigid supports on wheat, cotton, corn, rice and peanuts. Contending that Secretary of Agriculture Benson and his chief aides have "greatly distorted and misrepresented" existing farm conditions, Young said in a prepared speech:

"I fear, that unless the Department of Agriculture soon takes a more friendly view, there is a grave danger the whole program will collapse.

"This is undoubtedly what many people are hoping for. If this farm program is destroyed, it will be a sad day for America."

Sen. Potter (R-Mich), who favors the Eisenhower administration's flexible price support plan, forecast the same thing if the rigid, 90 per cent of parity supports first used in World War II were continued.

Pointing to the more than six billion dollars of government funds now invested in farm surpluses, Potter said warehouses, elevators and even surplus ships "are bursting at the seams" and that this year's crop is expected to add to the pressure.

Citizens and taxpayers never "would stand for another program of food destruction, like that of pigs and potatoes," he said.

Truman To Give Short Pep Talk At Demo Huddle

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 5 (AP)—A shortage of money—the green stuff that is the fuel for political campaigns—is troubling Democratic party chieftains on the eve of their big effort to capture control of Congress in the November election.

That's the main reason they are gathering here from all parts of the nation for a council of war tomorrow that will include a brief pep talk from the veteran campaigner, former President Harry S. Truman, who is recovering from a recent operation for removal of his gall bladder and appendix.

Even though still weak, Truman wanted to invite Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell, and some 65 others to his home at nearby Independence for a get-together. But friends said Mrs. Truman "put her foot down on that idea" because she felt it would be too much of a strain on her husband.

Instead, Truman will make a brief appearance after dinner tomorrow night and give the group his counsel. His old political friends will be asked not to exhaust him by offering to shake hands.

Mitchell mailed out invitations to party leaders and others who have helped raise money for the Democrats in the past. The call came at a time when the Democrats are finding that money doesn't come easily to a party that is beaten in a presidential campaign.

Planes Open Fire

$10 Million Would Build Artificial Moon, Expert Says

INNSBRUCK, Austria, Aug. 5 (AP)—The creation of a tiny artificial moon would cost less than 10 million dollars, an American outer space scientist said today.

Dr. I. M. Levitt, director of the Fels Planatarium of Philadelphia's Franklin Institute, said establishment of an unmanned, nonreturnable satellite vehicle would provide scientists with a powerful tool to further their knowledge of the earth.

Morocco Battles Leave Five Dead

CASABLANCA, Morocco, Aug. 5 (AP)—Violence flared repeatedly today in Fez, Morocco's holiest city, and brought death to five persons.

Most of the bloody battling raged between Moorish supporters of exiled former Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef and the present pro-French Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa. The police also figured in the melee.

It started with rumors — which have persisted for days and which each day have caused new violence — that Ben Youssef was returning. He was shipped off to Madagascar by the French because they believed he leaned too much in favor of the nationalists, who are seeking independence for this North African protectorate.

A second outbreak followed a few hours later, resulting in two more deaths.

Atom Boss Says U. S. Way Ahead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said today that the United States has "an overwhelming superiority" in atomic weapons and hopes "we may continue" to be ahead "until such time as all nations agree to workable international control."

Strauss made the statement in an address before more than 7,500 delegates at the 55th annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Noting that Congress is still considering a proposed new Atomic Energy Act, Strauss declined to discuss it except to say that "the objectives of our policy today remain unchanged since the act was first enunciated by Congress in 1946."

Strauss, a former admiral, pointed out that when the AEC's present construction program is finished the American government will have spent 8½ billion dollars on atomic and hydrogen plants.

Navy Plane In First Straight-Up Takeoff

BURBANK, Calif., Aug. 5 (AP)—The Navy was the real winner today in an unofficial race between two aircraft builders to make a fighter plane that will take off straight up.

Both the "pogo stick" planes were designed and built for the Navy for takeoffs requiring no runway.

Convair's XFY1, with test pilot J.F. (Skeets) Coleman at the controls, made the first straight-up takeoff, rising 20 feet into the air last Sunday at Moffett Naval Air Station, near San Francisco, the Navy announced. On a subsequent flight Coleman climbed to 150 feet, then backed straight down.

Simultaneously, the Navy announced that Lockheed's XFV1 has made eight horizontal takeoff test hops, climbed straight up and will be ready for a vertical takeoff in a few weeks.

The average railroad passenger car is 72 feet long.

One Brave Officer

Army HQ Backs Colonel Who Told Soldiers' Wives To Dress Better

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 5 (AP)—U.S. Army headquarters tonight backed up the brave colonel who bluntly told Frankfurt's army wives and daughters to dress better in public.

European headquarters at Heidelberg issued a staement pointing out that local commanders have a duty to see that Army dependents uphold the command's dignity.

Without mentioning Col John H. Dilley's edict the USAREUR—U.S. Army Europe—declaration said:

"It is desired and expected that dependents and civilian employes clothe themselves appropriately at all times. It is further emphasized that standards considered appropriate in the United States are not necessarily appropriate in foreign countries."

Dilley's order to the Frankfurt community specifically warned against bareback halter type sunsuits in public, blue jeans on "mature women," pin curlers unless neatly covered by scarf or other headdress, and shorts on teenagers or women. He said some attire seen in the community simply was not in good taste.

Since he issued the warning last week, Dilley said he "already had noted some improvement."

Man Who Won Fame As Circus Owner Dies

OWENSBORO, Ky., Aug. 5 (AP)—Zack Terrell, onetime peanuts and popcorn boy who won fame as one of America's great circus showmen, died today.

Death came to the 75-year-old retired showman at Mayo Brothers Clinic, Rochester, Minn., after an illness of several years. He had gone to the clinic for examination.

The last show he owned was Cole Brothers Circus. He sold out in 1948, reportedly for $350,000, gave up his Louisville home and retired to his birthplace here.

Sleeping Woman Killed When Truck Plows Into House

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Aug. 5 (AP)—A 66-year-old woman sleeping in the front bedroom was killed today when a trailer truck crashed into her home. Police said the five-room home was virtually demolished. The victim was Mrs. Luesettie Hicks. A daughter, Mrs. Norma Lowe, and Mrs. Lowe's daughter, Rita Mae, 2, suffered slight injuries.

The accident occurred when the truck driver, Elmer Barker of St. Louis, lost control of his vehicle as he swerved to avoid striking a parked car. The truck bounced over the curbing, knocked down a lamp post and crashed into Mrs. Hicks' home.

Bride Seriously Wounds Husband

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Aug. 5 (AP)—A bride of four weeks, despondent in the belief she was incurably ill of cancer, shot and seriously wounded her husband here today and then attempted to turn the gun on herself.

Police said Mrs. Clarice May Woodson, 39, told them she shot her husband, Maurice L. Woodson, 36, as he lay asleep. Hospital authorities reported Woodson in serious condition.

Police Officer J. S. Quick, who was paying a social call two doors from the Woodson house, heard the shots and ran up the street in time to see Woodson collapse in the yard. Finding Mrs. Woodson in the house, Quick wrested the gun from her grasp before she could turn it on herself.

Mrs. Woodson had prepared a note explaining her act. It read, in part: "I know I am dying with cancer, so I could not stand to leave Maurice behind because I loved him too much."

Mrs. Woodson claimed to have known herself that she was suffering from cancer, police said, but admitted she had never been given a doctor's opinion on it.

Charges against the woman have been deferred pending completion of the police investigation.

SRC Begins Hunt For Any Bribe-Taking

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5 (AP) — The State Roads Commission and Baltimore's Bureau of Water Supply had investigations under way today with identical purposes—to find out if there has been any bribe-taking.

The two departments went into action on the heels of testimony yesterday before a House Anti-Racketeering Subcommittee.

The subcommittee was told by Philip Vassilaros, head of a New York contracting firm which bears his name, that he handed over a total of $80 in gifts to inspectors from the two departments.

Vassilaros said he gave a $50 present to a Bureau of Water Supply inspector after completion of a painting job on a bridge at Loch Raven in 1951.

He also said he presented a State Roads Commission inspector with a $30 present after his firm had painted a bridge near Landover, Md., in Prince Georges County. He said he could not recall the name of either man.

John S. Strohmeyer, head of the city water department, said he never heard of any money passing between a contractor and an inspector, but added he intended to track down the report.

He said the job in question involved painting the bridge at the upper end of the Loch Raven reservoir at Phoenix, in Baltimore County. The price paid the Vassilaros firm was $5,700.

Though competence of the job has not been questioned, Strohmeyer said in view of the charge he intended to inspect the bridge himself to check on that.

Strohmeyer said the city Bureau of Standards passes on the paint to be used in such jobs but acknowledged it is conceivable an inspector could save a contractor money by relaxing requirements for sand-blasting and scraping to remove old paint.

Bramwell Kelly, of the SRC, ordered an investigation of all the jobs done by the Vassilaros firm in 1951 for the state.

'The Body' And Hubby At Parting Of Ways

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5 (AP)—Actress Marie (The Body) McDonald and her wealthy husband have come to a friendly parting of the ways, her attorney said today.

Miss McDonald flew in yesterday from a vacation in Honolulu and shoe manufacturer Harry Karl followed on a later plane.

"No reconciliation between the two was worked out," said Atty. G. Bentley Ryan.

"She intends to proceed immediately to effect a property settlement agreement and anticipates it will be upon a friendly basis."

Pa. Beauty Who Quit Big Contest Reveals Marriage

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5 (AP)—The girl who walked out on the Miss Universe contest disclosed today that she got married in Ensenada, two days later, to a publicity man.

Elaine Du Feen, 21, and Jack Pall, 28, are now staying in a Los Angeles hotel while she is negotiating for a nightclub singing job. Miss Du Feen quit the contest July 30 because she, although named Miss Philadelphia, didn't get a chance at the Miss Pennsylvania title.

Later a judge said that if she had stayed she would have become at least one of the finalists in the Miss United States contest.

Bag Far From Empty

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Aug 5 (AP)—Two 17-year-old boys from Newburyport, Mass., being questioned on suspicion, told police today to stay away from the black bag in the back of their old car.

That aroused the curiosity of the officers, especially of one officer who had decided not to open it because it didn't feel as if there was much inside.

The boys cautiously opened the bag for the officers. Inside was a mighty mad rattlesnake.

Report Red Book Given Mrs. Moss

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP) — A report that Annie Lee Moss was given a Communist party membership book for 1943 resulted in her suspension for a second time from her job with the Army Signal Corps.

This was disclosed today by the office of George E. C. Hayes, attorney for Mrs. Moss. The Army announced her suspension yesterday.

Hayes himself was out of the city but his office said the only new charge against Mrs. Moss reads:

"You are reported to have been given Communist party membership book 37269 for 1943. . ."

Hayes' office quoted Mrs. Moss, a middle-aged Negro, as saying she never had seen the book, mentioned in the charges against her. The charges were contained in a letter Mrs. Moss received from John G. Connell Jr., chairman of the Army Security Screening Board.

Hayes' office said Mrs. Moss will file within the allotted 30 days a blanket denial of all the charges.

Builder Denies Capehart's "Racket" Charge At Probe

Witness Says Nothing Wrong With 5% "Fee"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP) — A Hackensack, N. J., lawyer-builder was denounced face to face by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) today as a man who victimized apartment hunters in a conscienceless "1,000 per cent racket."

"I don't like calling it a racket," protested the witness, George I. Marcus, who contended there was nothing wrong with his charging 5 per cent of a year's rent to people moving into a government-backed apartment project.

Marcus was the last witness in the Washington phase of hearings by the Senate Banking Committee, which Capehart heads, into alleged "windfall" profits and other irregularities in government housing programs.

The committee plans to make on-the-spot investigations in six cities across the country, starting Aug. 24 in New York.

On the Senate floor, Sen. Williams (R-Del) gave a new airing to a previously developed phase of the inquiry. He said seven persons in Columbus, Ohio, ran up a $1,054,000 profit on a total investment of $4,000 by means of Federal Housing Administration mortgages.

Williams said Don Loftus, whom he named as president and trustee of all four companies, put up a total of $500 and pocketed $95,331.82 "as his share of distributed windfall profits" from the Beverly manor apartments.

The Delaware senator said another member of the group, Jack F. Chrysler, invested $400 and got back $76,265.45.

There was no immediate comment from Loftus but Chrysler repeated a statement he made when the Banking Committee investigated the operation. "In addition to the cash and collateral, amounting to approximately $300,000, that I advanced to help finance the building," Chrysler said, "the funds that I had at risk in the entierprise were substantial, or more than seven times the profit realized on that investment."

Williams said Loftus, Chrysler and their associates got FHA mortgages totaling $8,826,400, then built the project for $7,772,046.

Of the $1,054,000 left over, Williams said, $762,654 actually was distributed among Loftus, Chrysler, D. E. Ryan, Cyril J. Ryan, Webster R. Robinson, Webster R. Robinson Jr., and Helen Robinson.

Marcus, today's witness before the Capehart committee, lit into the investigators in a previous appearance at the hearing, accusing them of "shooting off your mouths" and of misrepresenting the financial affairs of a client.

Truman To Give Short Pep Talk At Demo Huddle

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 5 (AP)—A shortage of money—the green stuff that is the fuel for political campaigns—is troubling Democratic party chieftains on the eve of their big effort to capture control of Congress in the November election.

That's the main reason they are gathering here from all parts of the nation for a council of war tomorrow that will include a brief pep talk from the veteran campaigner, former President Harry S. Truman, who is recovering from a recent operation for removal of his gall bladder and appendix.

Even though still weak, Truman wanted to invite Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell, and some 65 others to his home at nearby Independence for a get-together. But friends said Mrs. Truman "put her foot down on that idea" because she felt it would be too much of a strain on her husband.

Instead, Truman will make a brief appearance after dinner tomorrow night and give the group his counsel. His old political friends will be asked not to exhaust him by offering to shake hands.

Mitchell mailed out invitations to party leaders and others who have helped raise money for the Democrats in the past. The call came at a time when the Democrats are finding that money doesn't come easily to a party that is beaten in a presidential campaign.

Planes Open Fire

$10 Million Would Build Artificial Moon, Expert Says

INNSBRUCK, Austria, Aug. 5 (AP)—The creation of a tiny artificial moon would cost less than 10 million dollars, an American outer space scientist said today.

Morocco Battles Leave Five Dead

CASABLANCA, Morocco, Aug. 5 (AP)—Violence flared repeatedly today in Fez, Morocco's holiest city, and brought death to five persons.

Most of the bloody battling raged between Moorish supporters of exiled former Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef and the present pro-French Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa. The police also figured in the melee.

It started with rumors — which have persisted for days and which each day have caused new violence — that Ben Youssef was returning. He was shipped off to Madagascar by the French because they believed he leaned too much in favor of the nationalists, who are seeking independence for this North African protectorate.

Fighting broke out twice during the day in the Medina, Moroccan quarter of Fez. Three were killed and two seriously injured in this battle.

A second outbreak followed a few hours later, resulting in two more deaths.

Pa. Beauty Who Quit Big Contest Reveals Marriage

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5 (AP)—The girl who walked out on the Miss Universe contest disclosed today that she got married in Ensenada, two days later, to a publicity man.

Elaine Du Feen, 21, and Jack Pail, 28, are now staying in a Los Angeles hotel while she is negotiating for a nightclub singing job. Miss Du Feen quit the contest July 29 because she, although named Miss Philadelphia, didn't get a chance at the Miss Pennsylvania title.

Later a judge said that if she had stayed she would have become at least one of the finalists in the Miss United States contest.

Housewife Had 'Hugging' Dates With Sheppard

CLEVELAND, Aug. 5 (AP)—An attractive 27 - year - old suburban housewife admitted today she recently had dates on which she "hugged and kissed — nothing more" with Dr. Samuel Sheppard, osteopath charged with murdering his wife.

The woman told a reporter it "looks like there are a lot of others in this. I might as well join the crowd."

She is one of five women who detectives say had amorous engagements with the handsome 30-year-old doctor. One of the others is Susan Hayes, a sun-tanned hospital technician who admitted intimacies with him last March.

Remarking "perhaps gratitude" played a part in her feeling for the doctor, the housewife said he bolstered her morale in treating her for automobile accident injuries.

Dr. Sheppard said previously their relationship had been "doctor-patient."

The woman said she had been "more aggressive" than the physician. Questioned about whether she planned a divorce so she could marry the doctor, she said: "Why we never talked about such a thing. After all, I have a daughter and he has a son."

A high police official earlier said she had signed a statement admitting three or four hugging and kissing dates and that once they parked in Metropolitan Park.

Her husband signed a statement saying he slapped her because she took a walk in the woods with the doctor, said the officer, who refused to be identified by name.

Referring to the July 4, slaying of Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard, 31, the housewife said "everyone in our set finds this so hard to believe."

Dr. Sheppard spent a good part of the day on an army cot in his cell reading magazines about "hot rod" automobiles. He owns a foreign car.

Atom Boss Says U. S. Way Ahead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said today that the United States has "an overwhelming superiority" in atomic weapons and hopes "we may continue" to be ahead "until such time as all nations agree to workable international control."

Strauss made the statement in an address before more than 7,500 delegates at the 55th annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Noting that Congress is still considering a proposed new Atomic Energy Act, Strauss declined to discuss it except to say that "the objectives of our policy today remain unchanged since the act was first enunciated by Congress in 1946."

Strauss, a former admiral, pointed out that when the AEC's present construction program is finished the American government will have spent 8½ billion dollars on atomic and hydrogen plants.

Navy Plane In First Straight-Up Takeoff

BURBANK, Calif., Aug. 5 (AP)—The Navy was the real winner today in an unofficial race between two aircraft builders to make a fighter plane that will take off straight up.

Both the "pogo stick" planes were designed and built for the Navy for takeoffs requiring no runway.

Convair's XFY1, with test pilot J.F. (Skeets) Coleman at the controls, made the first straight-up takeoff, rising 20 feet into the air last Sunday at Moffett Naval Air Station, near San Francisco, the Navy announced. On a subsequent flight Coleman climbed to 150 feet, then backed straight down.

Simultaneously, the Navy announced that Lockheed's XFV1 has made eight horizontal takeoff test hops, climbed straight up and will be ready for a vertical takeoff in a few weeks.

The average railroad passenger car is 72 feet long.

The boy was driving the car, made by his father, up and down the street in front of his home.

Army HQ Backs Colonel Who Told Soldiers' Wives To Dress Better

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 5 (AP)—U.S. Army headquarters tonight backed up the brave colonel who bluntly told Frankfurt's army wives and daughters to dress better in public.

European headquarters at Heidelberg issued a staement pointing out that local commanders have a duty to see that Army dependents uphold the command's dignity.

Without mentioning Col John H. Dilley's edict the USAREUR—U.S. Army Europe—declaration said:

"It is desired and expected that dependents and civilian employes clothe themselves appropriately at all times. It is further emphasized that standards considered appropriate in the United States are not necessarily appropriate in foreign countries."

Dilley's order to the Frankfurt community specifically warned against bareback halter type sunsuits in public, blue jeans on "mature women," pin curlers unless neatly covered by scarf or other headdress, and shorts on teenagers or women. He said some attire seen in the community simply was not in good taste.

Since he issued the warning last week, Dilley said he "already had noted some improvement."

Man Who Won Fame As Circus Owner Dies

OWENSBORO, Ky., Aug. 5 (AP)—Zack Terrell, onetime peanuts and popcorn boy who won fame as one of America's great circus showmen, died today.

Death came to the 75-year-old retired showman at Mayo Brothers Clinic, Rochester, Minn., after an illness of several years. He had gone to the clinic for examination.

The last show he owned was Cole Brothers Circus. He sold out in 1948, reportedly for $350,000, gave up his Louisville home and retired to his birthplace here.

Charges of reckless driving and public drunkenness against Ferrell were dropped.

Sleeping Woman Killed When Truck Plows Into House

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Aug. 5 (AP)—A 66-year-old woman sleeping in the front bedroom was killed today when a trailer truck crashed into her home. Police said the five-room home was virtually demolished. The victim was Mrs. Luesettie Hicks. A daughter, Mrs. Norma Lowe, and Mrs. Lowe's daughter, Rita Mae, 2, suffered slight injuries.

The accident occurred when the truck driver, Elmer Barker of St. Louis, lost control of his vehicle as he swerved to avoid striking a parked car. The truck bounced over the curbing, knocked down a lamp post and crashed into Mrs. Hicks' home.

Bride Seriously Wounds Husband

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Aug. 5 (AP)—A bride of four weeks, despondent in the belief she was incurably ill of cancer, shot and seriously wounded her husband here today and then attempted to turn the gun on herself.

Police said Mrs. Clarice May Woodson, 39, told them she shot her husband, Maurice L. Woodson, 36, as he lay asleep. Hospital authorities reported Woodson in serious condition.

Police Officer J. S. Quick, who was paying a social call two doors from the Woodson house, heard the shots and ran up the street in time to see Woodson collapse in the yard. Finding Mrs. Woodson in the house, Quick wrested the gun from her grasp before she could turn it on herself.

Mrs. Woodson had prepared a note explaining her act. It read, in part: "I know I am dying with cancer, so I could not stand to leave Maurice behind because I loved him too much."

Mrs. Woodson claimed to have known herself that she was suffering from cancer, police said, but admitted she had never been given a doctor's opinion on it.

Charges against the woman have been deferred pending completion of the police investigation.

SRC Begins Hunt For Any Bribe-Taking

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5 (AP) — The State Roads Commission and Baltimore's Bureau of Water Supply had investigations under way today with identical purposes—to find out if there has been any bribe-taking.

The two departments went into action on the heels of testimony yesterday before a House Anti-Racketeering Subcommittee.

The subcommittee was told by Philip Vassilaros, head of a New York contracting firm which bears his name, that he handed over a total of $80 in gifts to inspectors from the two departments.

Vassilaros said he gave a $50 present to a Bureau of Water Supply inspector after completion of a painting job on a bridge at Loch Raven in 1951.

He also said he presented a State Roads Commission inspector with a $30 present after his firm had painted a bridge near Landover, Md., in Prince Georges County. He said he could not recall the name of either man.

John S. Strohmeyer, head of the city water department, said he never heard of any money passing between a contractor and an inspector, but added he intended to track down the report.

He said the job in question involved painting the bridge at the upper end of the Loch Raven reservoir at Phoenix, in Baltimore County. The price paid the Vassilaros firm was $5,700.

Though competence of the job has not been questioned, Strohmeyer said in view of the charge he intended to inspect the bridge himself to check on that.

Strohmeyer said the city Bureau of Standards passes on the paint to be used in such jobs but acknowledged it is conceivable an inspector could save a contractor money by relaxing requirements for sand-blasting and scraping to remove old paint.

Bramwell Kelly, of the SRC, ordered an investigation of all the jobs done by the Vassilaros firm in 1951 for the state.

Senators Warn Farm Supports Might Collapse

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP) — Warnings that the multibillion dollar farm price support program may collapse came from opposing camps in the Senate today.

Republican Leader Knowland (R-Calif) was pressing for a showdown vote on the hot issue of flexible vs. rigid supports. But campaign year oratory by farm state senators indicated that was hours and possibly days away. No less than 20 senators sent their names to the vice president's desk to reserve time for speeches.

Knowland announced in early evening that there would be no vote tonight but he hoped for one tomorrow.

In the face of administration opposition, Sen. Young (R-ND) directed a bipartisan drive to extend present rigid supports on wheat, cotton, corn, rice and peanuts. Contending that Secretary of Agriculture Benson and his chief aides have "greatly distorted and misrepresented" existing farm conditions, Young said in a prepared speech:

"I fear, that unless the Department of Agriculture soon takes a more friendly view, there is a grave danger the whole program will collapse.

"This is undoubtedly what many people are hoping for. If this farm program is destroyed, it will be a sad day for America."

Sen. Potter (R-Mich), who favors the Eisenhower administration's flexible price support plan, forecast the same thing if the rigid, 90 per cent of parity supports first used in World War II were continued.

Pointing to the more than six billion dollars of government funds now invested in farm surpluses, Potter said warehouses, elevators and even surplus ships "are bursting at the seams" and that this year's crop is expected to add to the pressure.

Citizens and taxpayers never "would stand for another program of food destruction, like that of pigs and potatoes," he said.

'The Body' And Hubby At Parting Of Ways

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5 (AP)—Actress Marie (The Body) McDonald and her wealthy husband have come to a friendly parting of the ways, her attorney said today.

Miss McDonald flew in yesterday from a vacation in Honolulu and shoe manufacturer Harry Karl followed on a later plane.

"No reconciliation between the two was worked out," said Atty. G. Bentley Ryan.

"She intends to proceed immediately to effect a property settlement agreement and anticipates it will be upon a friendly basis."

Byrd-Mahoney Attorneys, Judge To Plan Next Step

Time And Ground Rules Will Be Set At Conference Today

CENTREVILLE, Md., Aug. 5 (AP)—Attorneys for the two candidates will come here tomorrow to arrange the next round in the long, drawn out battle between Dr. H. C. Byrd and George P. Mahoney for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Judge William R. Horney said he would meet them in his office to set the time and the ground rules.

The judge said he had not yet received a formal mandate from the Court of Appeals at Annapolis, which yesterday ruled he had erred in refusing to hear arguments for and against the counting of challenged ballots in Queen Annes and Talbot counties.

The opposing lawyers continued to differ on the exact meaning of the Court of Appeals ruling.

Hanging in the balance are the three Queen Annes and the four Talbot nominating votes in the Democratic State Convention.

Byrd won both counties on the basis of official returns and recounts of the ballots cast in the June 28 primary.

They gave him an 80-72 unit vote edge over Mahoney.

Loss of both would switch the nomination to Mahoney. He must, however, wrest both counties from Byrd. Talbot County's four votes alone would throw the unit votes into a 76-76 tie but Byrd still would win the nomination because of the 4,000 margin he had in the statewide popular vote.

Philip H. Dorsey, who ran for the nomination for attorney general on Mahoney's ticket, meanwhile began his scrutiny of 1,800 authorization cards issued to those who voted June 28 in Baltimore's Fourth Legislative District.

He hoped to find enough irregularities to take the district's seven votes from C. Ferdinand Sybert, Byrd's running mate for attorney general. Sybert's margin of victory there was 110 votes. Loss of the seven unit votes would take the nomination from him.

Dorsey said he hoped to be able to say sometime Friday whether his "fishing expedition" had produced results.

Party leaders put off indefinitely any move to call the state convention back into session. It met July 26 but decided to recess without formally awarding the nominations until court tests had been settled.

Mahoney attorneys expressed a belief the further hearings before Judge Horney and possible appeal of his further rulings to Annapolis can be completed in ten days or so.

Former Judge William C. Walsh, chief attorney for Byrd, argued it might take weeks. He indicated he will demand, if necessary, a complete new recount of the ballots cast in Queen Annes County. He served notice he would be ready to challenge many more ballots than he did when the county's board of election supervisors recounted them.

It was not clear immediately whether all the 4,000 or so ballots cast in the county will have to be examined and counted again in court.

The ballots which were challenged but ruled acceptable were not segregated from the unchallenged ballots when the election supervisors made their recount. They were segregated in Talbot, so presumably only the 250 now challenged again by Mahoney would have to be reexamined there.

The basis of Mahoney's court suits is that the election supervisors failed to reject about 250 ballots in Talbot and about 550 in Queen Annes which should not have been counted because they were marked improperly or illegally defaced.

Court Tosses Out Charges Against Weiner Cousins

LEONARDTOWN, Md., Aug. 5 (AP)—Two judges today threw out of court the State's charges that Joseph D. and Abe Weiner, prominent St. Marys County cousins, conspired to violate the gambling and bawdy house laws.

The charges resulted from a series of national network broadcasts last winter in which Fulton Lewis Jr. criticized law enforcement in the county.

Chief Judge John B. Gray and Associate Judge J. Dudley Digges of the State's Seventh Judicial Circuit ruled the prosecution failed to show any overt acts of the alleged conspiracy took place in the county.

Friends swarmed around the two cousins to offer their congratulations.

Joseph Weiner is a Leoardtown attorney, counsel to the county liquor board, a commissioner of the State Accident Fund, and former Republican party chairman for the county.

Lewis was indicted on perjury and criminal libel charges by the same grand jury which indicted the Weiners. He won acquittal when the cases were moved to another county.

Several tavern operators were convicted and fined for selling liquor to minors and similar violations.

The two judges directed State's Attorney Joseph A. Mattingly to turn his files on the Weiners over to prosecutors in Washington.

On the basis of tape recordings supplied by Lewis, the State charged they and their associate, John Orville Staples, disbarred Washington attorney, conspired to set up an organized gambling and prostitution operation in the county.

Parched State Crops Benefited By Steady Rain

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5 (AP)—Today was one of those good old cloudy, rainy days—the first of its kind in two months for most of rain-thirsty Maryland.

Every section of the state reported rain, varying from a tenth of an inch at Conowingo near the Pennsylvania line, to more than half an inch at Easton on the Eastern Shore and Waldorf in Southern Maryland.

Frederick and Cumberland in Western Maryland reported .21 and .25 of an inch, respectively. And the Washington and Baltimore areas had better than a quarter inch.

The rain was expected to give crops a much-needed boost.

An observer in St. Mary's County said the rain freshened soybeans and gave corn a lift but would not be enough to offset damage already suffered unless it continues.

It was raining when most Marylanders got up this morning and showers continued in many sections throughout the day. They varied from a gentle drizzle to steady showers, the kind that get a chance to penetrate the ground before they run off.

Marylanders had not seen much of that type of rain for some time.

The Weather Bureau said the outlook was for continued cloudiness with possible thundershowers tonight.

The cloudy weather was expected to continue tomorrow but no rain was forecast, and Saturday probably will be fair, forecasters said.

Small craft warnings were up on the Chesapeake Bay and coastal waters for winds of 15 to 20 miles an hour and scattered thundersqualls.

Police Seeking 6,000 Stolen Dynamite Caps

TOWSON, Md., Aug. 5 (AP)—Baltimore County police today searched for 6,000 "extremely dangerous" dynamite caps which a construction company said were stolen from its equipment shed on the northeast edge of Baltimore last night.

The thieves sawed through one lock and knocked another apart with a hammer to get into the building.

Death Ends Manhunt For Suspected Thief

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5 (AP)—A 10-month search for Carl A. Kline, accused of leaving his job as cashier at the State Department of Motor Vehicles with $4,800 in embezzled funds, ended at a Baltimore funeral home, police reported today.

Police said a warrant for the 47-year-old cashier had been marked "abated by death."

The warrant for his arrest was sworn out by W. Dana Rudy, deputy commissioner of motor vehicles.

Police did not indicate whether they had traced his whereabouts from the time of his disappearance to his death here last Thursday. Kline's body was identified earlier this week at a funeral home.

Byrd-Mahoney Attorneys, Judge To Plan Next Step

Time And Ground Rules Will Be Set At Conference Today

CENTREVILLE, Md., Aug. 5 (AP)—Attorneys for the two candidates will come here tomorrow to arrange the next round in the long, drawn out battle between Dr. H. C. Byrd and George P. Mahoney for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Judge William R. Horney said he would meet them in his office to set the time and the ground rules.

The judge said he had not yet received a formal mandate from the Court of Appeals at Annapolis, which yesterday ruled he had erred in refusing to hear arguments for and against the counting of challenged ballots in Queen Annes and Talbot counties.

The opposing lawyers continued to differ on the exact meaning of the Court of Appeals ruling.

Hanging in the balance are the three Queen Annes and the four Talbot nominating votes in the Democratic State Convention.

Byrd won both counties on the basis of official returns and recounts of the ballots cast in the June 28 primary.

They gave him an 80-72 unit vote edge over Mahoney.

Loss of both would switch the nomination to Mahoney. He must, however, wrest both counties from Byrd. Talbot County's four votes alone would throw the unit votes into a 76-76 tie but Byrd still would win the nomination because of the 4,000 margin he had in the statewide popular vote.

Philip H. Dorsey, who ran for the nomination for attorney general on Mahoney's ticket, meanwhile began his scrutiny of 1,800 authorization cards issued to those who voted June 28 in Baltimore's Fourth Legislative District.

He hoped to find enough irregularities to take the district's seven votes from C. Ferdinand Sybert, Byrd's running mate for attorney general. Sybert's margin of victory there was 110 votes. Loss of the seven unit votes would take the nomination from him.

Dorsey said he hoped to be able to say sometime Friday whether his "fishing expedition" had produced results.

Party leaders put off indefinitely any move to call the state convention back into session. It met July 26 but decided to recess without formally awarding the nominations until court tests had been settled.

Mahoney attorneys expressed a belief the further hearings before Judge Horney and possible appeal of his further rulings to Annapolis can be completed in ten days or so.

Former Judge William C. Walsh, chief attorney for Byrd, argued it might take weeks. He indicated he will demand, if necessary, a complete new recount of the ballots cast in Queen Annes County. He served notice he would be ready to challenge many more ballots than he did when the county's board of election supervisors recounted them.

It was not clear immediately whether all the 4,000 or so ballots cast in the county will have to be examined and counted again in court.

The ballots which were challenged but ruled acceptable were not segregated from the unchallenged ballots when the election supervisors made their recount. They were segregated in Talbot, so presumably only the 250 now challenged again by Mahoney would have to be reexamined there.

The basis of Mahoney's court suits is that the election supervisors failed to reject about 250 ballots in Talbot and about 550 in Queen Annes which should not have been counted because they were marked improperly or illegally defaced.

Court Tosses Out Charges Against Weiner Cousins

LEONARDTOWN, Md., Aug. 5 (AP)—Two judges today threw out of court the State's charges that Joseph D. and Abe Weiner, prominent St. Marys County cousins, conspired to violate the gambling and bawdy house laws.

The charges resulted from a series of national network broadcasts last winter in which Fulton Lewis Jr. criticized law enforcement in the county.

Chief Judge John B. Gray and Associate Judge J. Dudley Digges of the State's Seventh Judicial Circuit ruled the prosecution failed to show any overt acts of the alleged conspiracy took place in the county.

Friends swarmed around the two cousins to offer their congratulations.

Joseph Weiner is a Leoardtown attorney, counsel to the county liquor board, a commissioner of the State Accident Fund, and former Republican party chairman for the county.

Lewis was indicted on perjury and criminal libel charges by the same grand jury which indicted the Weiners. He won acquittal when the cases were moved to another county.

Several tavern operators were convicted and fined for selling liquor to minors and similar violations.

The two judges directed State's Attorney Joseph A. Mattingly to turn his files on the Weiners over to prosecutors in Washington.

On the basis of tape recordings supplied by Lewis, the State charged they and their associate, John Orville Staples, disbarred Washington attorney, conspired to set up an organized gambling and prostitution operation in the county.

Parched State Crops Benefited By Steady Rain

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5 (AP)—Today was one of those good old cloudy, rainy days—the first of its kind in two months for most of rain-thirsty Maryland.

Every section of the state reported rain, varying from a tenth of an inch at Conowingo near the Pennsylvania line, to more than half an inch at Easton on the Eastern Shore and Waldorf in Southern Maryland.

Frederick and Cumberland in Western Maryland reported .21 and .25 of an inch, respectively. And the Washington and Baltimore areas had better than a quarter inch.

The rain was expected to give crops a much-needed boost.

An observer in St. Mary's County said the rain freshened soybeans and gave corn a lift but would not be enough to offset damage already suffered unless it continues.

It was raining when most Marylanders got up this morning and showers continued in many sections throughout the day. They varied from a gentle drizzle to steady showers, the kind that get a chance to penetrate the ground before they run off.

Marylanders had not seen much of that type of rain for some time.

The Weather Bureau said the outlook was for continued cloudiness with possible thundershowers tonight.

The cloudy weather was expected to continue tomorrow but no rain was forecast, and Saturday probably will be fair, forecasters said.

Small craft warnings were up on the Chesapeake Bay and coastal waters for winds of 15 to 20 miles an hour and scattered thundersqualls.

Police Seeking 6,000 Stolen Dynamite Caps

TOWSON, Md., Aug. 5 (AP)—Baltimore County police today searched for 6,000 "extremely dangerous" dynamite caps which a construction company said were stolen from its equipment shed on the northeast edge of Baltimore last night.

The thieves sawed through one lock and knocked another apart with a hammer to get into the building.

Death Ends Manhunt For Suspected Thief

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5 (AP)—A 10-month search for Carl A. Kline, accused of leaving his job as cashier at the State Department of Motor Vehicles with $4,800 in embezzled funds, ended at a Baltimore funeral home, police reported today.

Police said a warrant for the 47-year-old cashier had been marked "abated by death."

The warrant for his arrest was sworn out by W. Dana Rudy, deputy commissioner of motor vehicles.

Police did not indicate whether they had traced his whereabouts from the time of his disappearance to his death here last Thursday. Kline's body was identified earlier this week at a funeral home.

STRAIGHT UP — Its six-blade propellor in full lift, the Navy Convair XFY-1 makes a vertical takeoff in first test flights from the Moffett Naval Air Station, San Francisco. The 500-mile-an-hour experimental craft backs down and lands in the same position on the four wheels on the tail. The Navy said additional test flights will be made at Brown Naval Auxiliary Station near San Diego.

Atom Bomb Casualty Commission Rounds Up Hiroshima Survivors Nine Years After Blast

By ROBERT PROSSER

HIROSHIMA, Japan, Friday, Aug. 6 (AP)—A solemn-faced Japanese mother, with her baby, walked into the hilltop headquarters of the American-run Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission.

They were ushered into a cheery waiting room containing lots of magazines and toys. While the mother looked on, a Japanese technician brought cookies and milk for the child. As the tot approached the examination room, a tape recorder played Japanese children's songs.

Each year the commission's stations wagons round up between 10,000 and 15,000 of the survivors of that first terrible strategic atomic blast here nine years ago today.

Commission technicians are interested in examining survivors like the Japanese mother, particularly if they show any atomic aftereffects. The scientists are equally interested in checking the children for any congenital effect in the second generation.

What have they learned? Many of their findings are inconclusive. But Dr. Robert W. Miller, an M. D. from Rochester, N. Y., who has spent seven years studying the effects and after-effects of atomic radiation, has found that post-blast children are largely unaffected by their parents' grim experience.

There are some exceptions, however. Dr. Miller and his staff seek out all abnormalities in the children of "atomized" parents. By comparing the children of nonexposed parents with those who underwent the bombing, they try to establish norms.

Seven children whose mothers were exposed to atomic radiation during early pregnancy were microcephalic (had smaller than average head). This is apparently connected with the commission's finding that both humans and animals caught in the explosion showed retarded bone growth.

About 1,000 children who were exposed to the blast themselves have been seen by the commission since 1945. Many have cataracts. This eye ailment was described as a harmless type which rarely impaired the vision.

There were indications the exposed youth of Hiroshima lagged behind children from elsewhere in their rate of growth. This also apparently is connected with the radioactive effects on bone development.

The teeth of some who were exposed were found to be affected.

Among the 91,550 survivors of the blast, 50 were found to be suffering from leukemia, the ABCC said. This blood disease seems to attack the older survivors. There have been no new cases this year.

ABCC is interested in the Aug. 6, 1945 residents of Hiroshima even after they die. If their families are willing, their bodies are taken to the commission laboratory for autopsies in a final attempt to unlock remaining secrets left in the wake of the bombing.

While there is some disagreement as to the exact number killed by the bomb, both ABCC and Hiroshima officials agree there are approximately 4,000 victims still living in the city. All of them who make themselves available for study receive regular physical examinations which for thoroughness cannot be equaled except in the world's great medical centers.

Commission statisticians have established the rate of fatalities for bombs of the Hiroshima type—now greatly outdistanced for destructiveness by more potent A-bombs and the dread H-bomb. Even the 1945 model would destroy 96.5 per cent of all life with 1,000 feet of the center of the blast. At a distance of 4,200 feet from the center you would stand a 50 per cent chance of being either killed or injured.

After nine years, the Hiroshima A-bomb survivor feels he is the patriarch of atom bomb victims and he tends to consider fishermen who undergo atom dusting and the finders of radioactive carrots to be mere upstarts. The ABCC itself dismisses atomic fish and vegetables as "bosh."

While the survivors of the atom bomb are not likely to forget Aug. 6, 1945, most of Hiroshima is willing to make an attempt.

A number of ambitious, if lurid, "atom bomb memorials" have progressed only slightly during the past two years. "Lack of funds," their promoters say.

For most in Hiroshima, ABCC itself is the chief reminder of the day when death poured down from the skies. Feared by some and derided by others, the commission says its mission is to try to learn from history and to prepare the world to withstand atomic attack better. It has been criticized for its scientific detachment because it offers no treatment to those whose ills it diagnoses.

In their own defense, ABCC doctors and technicians point out they are prohibited by both Japanese law and the policy upon which the institution was founded from giving individual treatment to the victims.

Among the first to object were Hiroshima's physicians who envisioned a giant welfare state which would end their individual medical practices.

But the commission's supporters say it has had the opposite effect. Persons examined by ABCC have their illnesses discovered while there is still time to effect a cure, and doctors and patients rather than the undertakers benefit from the commission's findings.

'Wrong Man' Free On Bond

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—Paul A. Pfeffer, 22, walked out of jail into bonded freedom yesterday, a foretaste of the future if he clears himself of a murder later confessed by another man.

Queens County Judge John F. Scellipi approved a $10,000 bond, posted by an anonymous benefactor, and Pfeffer was free for the first time in six months.

Pfeffer was serving a 20-year-to-life sentence for second degree murder in the slaying last August of a young Navy man, Edward S. Bates. John Francis Roche later admitted the crime.

Roche, arrested for the brutal rape slaying of an East Side schoolgirl, has been indicted on four separate murder charges.

Pfeffer had insisted his confession in the Bates case was beaten out of him by police.

After Roche's confession attorneys began a move to free Pfeffer. The conviction finally was set aside, a new trial was ordered for the fall and today he was released on bail.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—The Army will come into your home next week with a telecast of battle maneuvers at Ft. Meade, Md.

The military use of television, to give field commanders a close-up view of what their troops are doing, has been an experimental project of the Army for some time but the operation next Wednesday morning will be the first which will be viewed by commanders and the public.

A 30-minute portion of the program will be televised over the National Broadcasting Co. network beginning at 10 a.m.

An Aug. 16, 1940 newspaper headline advising that the Philadelphia Athletics were in trouble even then—"Washington 9, Athletics 4."

'Wrong Man' Free On Bond

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—Paul A. Pfeffer, 22, walked out of jail into bonded freedom yesterday, a foretaste of the future if he clears himself of a murder later confessed by another man.

Queens County Judge John F. Scellipi approved a $10,000 bond, posted by an anonymous benefactor, and Pfeffer was free for the first time in six months.

Pfeffer was serving a 20-year-to-life sentence for second degree murder in the slaying last August of a young Navy man, Edward S. Bates. John Francis Roche later admitted the crime.

Roche, arrested for the brutal rape slaying of an East Side schoolgirl, has been indicted on four separate murder charges.

Pfeffer had insisted his confession in the Bates case was beaten out of him by police.

After Roche's confession attorneys began a move to free Pfeffer. The conviction finally was set aside, a new trial was ordered for the fall and today he was released on bail.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—Many churchgoers who used to support their religion with just a coin in the collection plate today are also doing some work for the cause.

"This true ministry of the layman is being rediscovered," said the Rev. Howard V. Harper, head of the Protestant Episcopal Committee on Layman's Work.

"He is now coming back to the function he exercised in the early church."

All over the country, hundreds of new lay movements have been started in the last few years.

Men and women, whose worship once consisted mostly of going to church on Sunday, now perform duties through the week.

They conduct canvasses, visit nonmembers, bring lapsed ones back, organize youth centers, advertise religion in print and broadcasts, sit on interdenominational church-planning councils, set up missions, provide services for the sick and lonely, promote church life in the workaday world.

"There is today in the church a great resurgence of Christian interest on the part of the laity," said Dr. John A. McKay, of Princeton, N. J., newly elected president of the World Presbyterian Alliance.

"This is one of the most thrilling things in contemporary Christian history."

In ancient times, in the days of Christ, there was not the marked distinction between the laity and clergy. "Laity," as used in the New Testament, simply meant the people of God.

But through the centuries, more and more of the work of the church fell on the shoulders of those who made it a full-time job—the clergy. Recently, they've been getting increasing help from their flocks.

Theodore O. Wedel, canon at Washington's National Cathedral, says:

"Many thoughtful church leaders are predicting that the churches of the world are moving into the century of the laity. The liturgical movement in both catholicism and protestantism is winning back for the laity their ancient rights in the church's worship life.

"The layman, in his secular work, is increasingly seeing his vocation as that of the church's chief evangelist. He is the church in the world.

"In the long history of the church, it has repeatedly faced the danger of shism between clergy and people. This schism is healing."

The development has been marked by many new or growing lay religious organizations — such as the Laymen's Movement for a Christian World, Moral Rearmament, the Christophers, the Yokefellows, the Laymen's National Committee, all involving special dedication.

One of the most dramatic of modern lay movements, devoted to a particular problem and stressing faith in God's help to solve it, is Alcoholics Anonymous.

But beyond the special or national organizations, the rise of lay churchmanship has been reflected most widely in the mushrooming of parish and local religious activities by lay groups.

British Military Leaders Outline Atom Army Plan

LONDON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Britain's army chiefs outlined plans today for a new-style streamlined fighting force, equipped with atomic weapons and lightweight equipment and supplied from the air by helicopters.

"The day when infantry and all the Army could go to war with a large variety of weapons, a lot of ammunition and a standard of living behind it are drawing to a close," said War Minister Antony Head.

"We want to speed up the tempo of action and provide real battle mobility and flexibility."

"We believe the fighting troops will have to be trained to be more inquisitive, more aggressive and self-reliant than before."

Head, together with Field Marshal Sir John Harding, chief of the imperial general staff, gave his impressions of the Army of the future at a War Office news conference.

"The use of nuclear (atomic) weapons in front-line operations is a practical proposition," Head said.

"But in nuclear war the main problem for us would be how to maneuver the enemy into presenting good targets for attack and how to avoid presenting good targets for him.

"They would need to be able to disperse and concentrate without confusion at top speed and have a new system of supply."

"By next spring we hope to be in a position to decide on a new experimental divisional organization for practical trials next summer, and by autumn 1955 we should be getting formal decisions on what we are prepared to do for the future," he said.

Parents Who Use TV Sets As 'Baby Sitters' Criticized

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Parents who use their TV set as "a sort of electronic baby-sitter" came in for criticism yesterday as Senate investigators of juvenile delinquency published some responses to their inquiries about the effect of TV programs.

The senators asked 152 radio-TV editors from coast to coast last month for their observations.

Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ), chairman of the group, said in a statement the initial response indicates the TV industry and parents must share responsibility for "shielding impressionable youngsters from crime and horror programs."

"While most of the writers defended the TV industry and opposed any regulatory reforms, the system of 'block programming' came in for severe criticism," Hendrickson said.

The judiciary subcommittee quoted excerpts from the editors' responses. It listed the papers for which they work rather than the names of the editors. Here are some samples:

San Francisco Examiner: "I don't think we can consider TV exclusively for the urchins and I'm not too disturbed about excess crime and violence on TV. If parents ban objectionable shows, TV must ban them too, if it wants to stay in business."

Louisville Courier-Journal: "TV is a mass medium and many programs intended for adults are unsuitable for children. And what is suitable for one child is harmful for another. Parents must accept the responsibility (of screening the TV menu). The solution is not to insist that TV become a sort of electronic baby-sitter."

Providence Journal: "I have no evidence of a casual relationship between extreme TV vulgarity and deterioration of youthful standards, only suspicions of the medium."

Waterbury, Conn., American-Republican: "TV violence obtains today in drastic fashion. Crime programs sell easily and it seems to be business first and moral safety of children second. We're selling our heritage for the proverbial 30 pieces of silver."

Akron Beacon-Journal: "It is my opinion that TV has reduced rather than enlarged juvenile delinquency. Children today stay in their living rooms — used to hang around pool halls."

Mobile, Ala., Press-Register: "TV is here to stay and it's up to parents to regulate their children's viewing habits. (Mobile) is not overloaded with TV shows which might be considered unsuitable."

Cleveland Press: "The patronage of millions of mothers has assured success of morbid, low-level soap operas. It's no wonder (with such an example) that small fry prefer the Lone Ranger to Mr. Wizard."

Chicago American: "TV is electric. It can't influence people toward activities for which they have no prior inclination."

General Doubts Next War Will Be Big One

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—A top air commander said last night he doubts the next war will be World War III.

Instead, said Maj. Gen. Roger J. Browne, there probably will be several Korea-type wars before any world-wide conflagration occurs.

The nation, he added, cannot afford to fight "brush fires," and still maintain enough air power for protection. He said a strong reserve will help "keep our economic balance."

Browne, who heads the 1st Air Force, spoke at ceremonies dedicating the New York Air Reserve Center.

Are Housewives Still Boiling About Coffee?

With coffee production up slightly and consumption dropping, housewives seem to find it harder now to come to a boil over the high price of coffee. There was a crop shortage, of sorts. Brazil does fix the price on coffee exported, and this price — for the green bean in Brazil—is more than two-thirds the current retail price of roasted coffee in the United States. There is a 20 per cent weight loss in roasting, in addition.

Of course that Congresswoman was right who said that Americans "have been taking a merciless beating on coffee prices." But there is no proof that many family budgets have felt a great strain from coffee expenditures alone.

If there is substantiation of the recent loose charges that "powerful interests" are rigging the price of coffee, the Federal Trade Commission ought to jump on them like a bug on a rug. But such punitive action could not be expected to do much more than hasten to some degree the inevitable collapse of present high coffee prices.

But facts and figures do not bear up the charge or inference that American speculators have profited from the coffee shortage. Brazil will not permit green coffee beans to leave that country for less than 86 cents a pound. That makes the price, after roasting shrinkage, at least $1 a pound in Brazil. When freight, processing and distribution costs are added, not much is left for speculators at the current retail price.

Meanwhile Brazil has just finished paying off the last of her World War II debt to the United States. If American coffee drinkers provided the funds, don't they always pay through the nose—frequently without benefit of a whiff of coffee?

Bankers Lobby For German Property Return; 'Impartial' Probe Big Help

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The inside story of the maneuver to turn the big German chemical companies back to their former Nazi owners is one of the most amazing in the nation's capital.

It involves lobbying and public relations operations costing about $200,000 a year; a Swiss executive, Walter Germann, literally commutes across the Atlantic, sometimes leaving the Mayflower Hotel in Washington on Friday and getting back on Tuesday; finally it involves most unusual cooperation between supposedly impartial Senate functionaries and attorneys for the Germans.

For instance, the attorney for the Swiss company now fronting for the former Nazi owners of General Analine and Film is Ray Jenkins. Mr. Jenkins is not the Tennessee attorney who figured in the McCarthy hearings, but represents Interhandel and has offices in Room 541 of the Washington Building.

In the same Room 541 with his name listed on the office door beside Jenkins' is John W. Nairn. Mr. Nairn is counsel for the supposedly impartial Senate committee investigating alien property.

In other words, though the Senate committee was supposed to make an unbiased study of whether German property should be returned, actually the Senate committee's counsel had his office in the same office of the attorney who is trying to get the chief German company returned.

Half-Billion Dollars

But this isn't all. The chummy relationship is even chummier. The two attorneys even swap their secretary, Miss Annette H. Day. Efficient Miss Day has been working for Ray Jenkins, attorney for the Swiss-German combine. Now she works for the Senate committee investigating the possible return of German property. She even spends part time in the Swiss-German attorney's firm and part time in the Senate Committee.

Yet this was supposed to be a detached and unbiased survey.

There are other interesting links between the Senate committee and the former Nazi owners, all pointing to the probability that Senator Dirksen's investigation of alien property was about as one-sided as Hitler's invasion of Poland.

But first it should be recalled that the American branches of the big German cartels, after being seized by the Justice Department, have been built up and increased in value until they are reputed to be worth about half a billion dollars.

This is what the German industrialists now want back, and this is what American taxpayers will be out if they are given it back.

Actually the Swiss are now in on part of the deal, together with certain powerful groups of Americans. The Swiss bankers first stand to make a big profit by selling General Analine and Film back to American bankers. Second, American investment bankers plan to float stock to the American public, while they keep control of the insurance, the banking fees, the legal fees, and the company itself.

Thus, the German people will get no help whatsoever, though the American Legion, with the best intention in the world, backed the property-return plan, thinking it would help build a strong Germany.

Others who have been cashing in on the lobbying battle for the return of Nazi property are the Bernard Relin public relations firm, which has been paid $50,000 plus expenses by the Swiss-German combine. Also Col. Joe Rosenbaum, who figured in the RFC mink coat hearings, has represented one of the investment bankers, Blair and Co., which for some time had an option on Interhandel stock.

Ex-Legion Commander

The way the American Legion got mixed up in the alien property dispute was through Ed Hayes, former Legion commander and recent GOP candidate for the Senate from Illinois.

Hayes is a friend of the present GOP Senator from Illinois, Everett Dirksen, who long has been friendly with Ernest Halbach, former American head of General Analine and Film. In line with this friendship, Dirksen arranged for the appointment of a Senate subcommittee shortly after the Eisenhower Administration came into power, to study alien property. He made Ed Hayes chief counsel.

Hayes has been efficient and influential. It was he who helped get his fellow Legionnaires to adopt a resolution favoring the return of alien property, and it was one of Hayes' law partners, Roger Q. White, who is also a partner in the public relations firm of Shaheen and White, who was instrumental in getting editorials favorable to the return of German property published in 200 weekly newspapers.

Hayes is also friendly with Walter Germann, the Swiss executive for Interhandel who commutes across the Atlantic while lobbying for the return of General Analine and Film to the Swiss-German combine.

General Analine, incidentally, was worth about $25,000,000 when the United States took it over. It is still owned and operated by the U. S. Government, and its value is now $100,000,000. It is this increased value which makes it so attractive to the powerful group pulling wires for its return.

In view of all the backstage factors behind this impartial Senate survey, it is not surprising that Senator Dirksen introduced a bill on May 7, 1954, proposing to hand the German and Japanese property back to the original owners.

What is surprising is that despite a crowded Congressional calendar, the forces behind this bill are such that it may slip through at this session. More of this strange history will follow soon.

McCarthy Squabble A Problem In Constitutionality

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—An unprecedented challenge to Constitutionalism—and one that can curtail the right of a member of Congress hereafter to express freely and without fear of intimidation his views on public questions—has been projected by the vote of the Senate to create a special committee of six to consider certain charges made by other Senators against Senator McCarthy.

The issue is not whether what the Wisconsin Senator has said in his speeches about General Marshall or anyone else was or was not meritorious, but whether the Senate is about to try a United States Senator for conduct which it has never heretofore prescribed as a violation of its rules.

The Supreme Court of the United States has set aside as unconstitutional many a law passed by Congress because it did not specify "standards" for the application of the law in question.

What are the "standards" by which the new Senate committee is to judge the conduct of the Wisconsin Senator, and can a rule be applied now which refers to acts allegedly committed before the rule was ever adopted?

Which "Ethics" Apply?

If it be "ethics" that now are to be defined, there is the charge that Senator McCarthy received a fee for the preparation of a book on housing of veterans, published by a housing company. Senator Fulbright says the fee was not paid for "comparable services." Then what shall be said of those Senators who — as Senator Knowland pointed out in the debate—have received fees for public speaking in excess of those normally paid? Also, what of the fact that labor unions, trade associations and corporations having business with the Congress paid out such huge fees to members of Congress?

If it be "unethical" for a senator to accept a fee for writing a book derived from information received from his own committee or from executive agencies of the government, what shall be said of the "ethics" of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt who, while he was in the White House, had published for private profit and put a personal copyright on information that belonged to the Government of the United States? Thus, the transcripts of press conferences from 1933 to 1940—which the newspapermen of America were forbidden to quote in the first person—were published for gain, and the copyright which Mr. Roosevelt held has prevented the press from reprinting all those transcripts as a matter of right and it can be done today only with the permission of the book publisher.

Mr. Roosevelt, in the foreword, extended thanks "to the members of the Cabinet and heads of other agencies and others who have assisted in the gathering of this material in the various departments of the Government and in the executive offices in the White House."

Is that a "standard" for a Senator, too? And should any member of Congress receive outside income — from private law practice, for example—while he is in office? There is no rule on this either.

Shall members of Congress accept compensation for articles they write for publication in newspapers or periodicals while, as always, there is under consideration legislation to increase second-class postal rates?

Shall members of Congress vote on any measure affecting any constituent who has contributed substantial sums to his campaign fund? Should he disclose his own investments and disqualify himself from voting on any issue directly or indirectly affecting his personal property?

As for making "classified information" public, what is the rule or standard? Is it a matter for "censure" when one Senator makes it public and no violation when another does? Not long ago a Western Senator on television told facts about the hydrogen bomb which were supposed to be top secret. Should he have been "censured" for that? If so, where is the rule which says that a member of the coordinate branch of the Governmen. is not authorized to use any information which he deems in the public interest?

Again, it has been charged that the Wisconsin Senator urged federal employes "to violate their oaths and the law" by encouraging them to give him information which, it has been argued, they should not transmit. Conceding that a federal employe should be fired for doing it—and maybe if he suspects corruption or treason, he may feel justified in risking his job for the public welfare—is there any rule of conduct by either House of Congress which says the members cannot use in hearings information of any kind which they receive? If so, it hasn't been written yet anywhere in the rules.

FDR Did It, Too

The case is parallel to the action of the late President Roosevelt when he wrote a letter to a committee chairman in the House and urged that the Guffey Coal Act be passed irrespective of any doubts which members might have as to the Constitutionality of that bill. Was this asking members of Congress to violate the oaths in which they promised "to support the Constitution," and, if not, is it any different conduct from that which is charged against the Wisconsin Senator?

One of the charges now has blown up in the faces of the accusers — the Army has just suspended for the second time Annie Lee Moss, whom Senator McCarthy charged was a Communist, and this time it is stated some new information has been uncovered by the FBI. Supposing the resolution of "censure" for his having made the charge in the Moss case had passed the Senate when the anti-McCarthy Senators were pressing for a vote last week—would they today be revoking their action? Could they undo the damage done the Wisconsin Senator by such a resolution of "censure" impugning his integrity and his fidelity to his duty, as he sees it, in trying to rid the Government of Communists?

The select committee of Senators can make a report promptly and briefly—namely, that it cannot try Senator McCarthy because there are no rules of conduct covering his speeches or alleged attitudes in his committee hearings and that, if there are to be rules, then all members should be subject to them hereafter and not retroactively.

These Days

About Karl Mundt

Perhaps it is fitting to add a footnote to the McCarthy-Stevens hearings and to say something about Senator Karl Mundt who bore the heaviest burden of presiding over his colleagues who, by the rules of the Senate, are sovereign each in his own right and none needs pay the slightest attention to the Chairman if he chooses not to and his manners are such.

Karl Mundt also faced the technical problem that Senator McCarthy, a principal in the case, acting as counsel for his side, was also a United States Senator who could not be deprived of his rights as a United States Senator by the Committee. Each Senator sat not only as a judge and jury but as a prosecuting attorney with rights of examination and cross-examination and with the additional right to make a speech of summation whenever he chose. And many of them did.

The only rule that all agreed upon and lived up to was the 10-minute rule which meant that after a 10-minute period of interrogation or speech-making, a Senator would subside until his next turn came around unless he had a point of order to make which some made pointlessly or unless he rose to a matter of personal privilege which often consumed hours.

Presiding under such circumstances, with the television grinding away constantly, under the physical heat of klieg lights and the psychological heat engendered not only by mounting ambition but by vindictive hatred, was a very tough job. Some suggest that Mundt might have banged the gavel more often to shut his colleagues up. It would have been a fruitless exercise. The task of the presiding officer was to prevent the hearings from going altogether haywire and to keep angry members of the Senate from either beating up each other verbally, which they did, or physically which they did not do. At times, it was anticipated that one or the other of them might have walked out, but that was not in the plan.

Were the Chairman not a voting member of the Committee, an outsider, an impartial person, he might have had an easier time of it, but Chairman Mundt could not shirk his responsibilities as a Committee member and also a part of what was, at first, the Republican majority and in due course became the Republican minority upon the defection of Senator Charles Potter. Curiously, I have met Senator Potter only once and that was in the apartment of G. David Schine's parents at the Waldorf-Astoria.

In all these circumstances, it seems to me that Karl Mundt did a remarkably good job and if his reputation as a Senator and his stature in his Party have been enhanced, he is deserving.

I can say something of the difficulties involved in such a task because I was one of those called into Executive Session to testify as to what I know about this affair. I was present at the luncheon at the Merchants Club in New York on November 17 as a guest, I assume, of Secretary of the Army Stevens who paid the bill; I had had a private talk with Secretary of the Army Stevens in his office on November 24; I had had some telephone conversations with Army Counsel John Adams, which were not monitored and concerning all but one, I have no recollection whatsoever. That one, I remember clearly because it occurred just before all the passions broke loose, as I warned they would.

These occurrences made little impression on me at the time; seemed not too important; much of the conversation was gay banter. It would never have occurred to me to make a note of them and I did not. At the time, nobody seemed to be angry with anybody and as I listened to the testimony, I wondered if I was really present at any of it. It is not that the testimony was false; rather the tone was different on the witness stand than it was when men believed that they were friends.

After this experience, I shall often wonder whether what wives say about their husbands in divorce courts is not like what John Adams said about Roy Cohn, and vice versa, after they stopped being pals. Undoubtedly each said what the other said that he said, but in what tone? Perhaps it should have been put to music.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Up until right here our Republican Congress has appropriated $6,600,000,000 less than the last two semesters of the Democratic parliament.

Which averages $3,300,000,000 a year in hypothetical escrow. If that's hay it's all clover.

Don't expect to get your share of money that isn't spent. The Government hasn't got it, either.

That's because it hasn't been printed yet. There is no stockpile of green and gold unless it's autumn leaves. The important ingredient in financing a Government is getting an economy we can afford.

There are 67,000 fewer civilian employes in Washington and nepotism has been reduced from blood relatives to transfusions. More than 3,563 people lost their jobs when it was decided to let people fold their own money.

The Truman Democrats claim the Republicans are duplicating their efforts. They farmed the indoor alfalfa for twelve pay-crops a year.

Vacations & Investments

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass. Manufacturers, merchants, and job seekers should always be looking for new industries. Habits control buying; and buying habits are constantly changing.

Vacations have been on the increase ever since my boyhood. Vacationing is not a new industry. Since World War II, however, it has become a big industry, primarily because of the vacations which almost all employers give their wageworkers. Vacations have become a must.

Automobiles have been the factor booming vacations. If your automobile helps you to relax, then an automobile trip is beneficial. If, however, it is tiring and not relaxing, then it is harmful. It does the postman no good to "take a walk" on Sundays! Do something different when on your vacation—something you don't have the time to do ordinarily.

Vacations At Home

The best vacation is to be able to do as you want to do for two weeks. Give your wife a rest from cooking and washing dishes. Buy things which do not need cooking. Cooking is a bad habit in summer,— and dishwashing is worse! Use paper plates in summer!

A real rest includes resting our stomachs. Doctors agree we should give our digestive organs a good vacation each year, spending money for fruits rather than for meats; and drinking lots of milk and water. In winter we must eat for two reasons: (1) to gain physical strength, and (2) to keep warm. In summer we do not need to eat to keep warm. I forecast that in years ahead people will give much more attention to eating less in the summer. In fact, experts tell me that each season of the year requires a different diet, both as to quantity and quality.

Recreation On Increase

Whatever your business or job, do not forget that "working hours" will be shorter rather than longer. This means that everyone will have more leisure time. This is the reason for the boom in "Do-It-Yourself" industries, which are hurting some trades, but helping others. See your local public library for one of the home-craft magazines which describe such work, or visit one of the many shows which the Orkin people of 19 West 44th St., New York City, are putting on to help merchants.

All the above means that your real pay in future years will be in money plus hours of leisure. Hence it is of great importance for us to "cash in" on these extra leisure hours by using them in worthwhile ways,—not for "hammock swinging." If you are not now a carpenter, mason, or electrician, you should attend night school or subscribe to a correspondence course which will teach you how to profitably use these extra leisure hours.

When Selecting Investments

The older conservative investors do not approve of shorter hours, higher wages, etc., but this change is coming. It is foolish to buck it. Most people don't like physical work. This explains why coal stocks have been going down in price, while oil stocks have been going up in price. We prefer a thermostat to a coal shovel or ash sifter!

Stocks of electric refrigerator manufactures have doubled in value, while the manufacturers of ice boxes have gone into bankruptcy. The tremendous growth of the frozen-food industry—including fruit juices — illustrates my warning: When making an investment — however small—be sure that it is in a company which saves labor. Make money by catering to the lazy streak in us all. That is why we telephone instead of write. I forecast higher prices for "lazy stocks."

Watch Your Change!

Many merchants are complaining about the "dishonesty" of sales clerks in retail stores when giving back change from a cash register. A study of over 400 stores indicates all these mistakes in change are not due to dishonesty. They are due to the mental laziness of clerks and customers in not counting their change!

Thinking requires energy, the same as does manual labor. Most "white-collar" help hate to think and concentrate. Hence, they make careless mistakes. My father,, who had a successful store in Gloucester, Mass., taught me always to count my change, and always tear a little paper off the wrapping of my purchase to be sure I have the right package.

Combined Wonder Drugs, Enzymes Used On Leg Ulcer

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There has been a growing tendency, during the last decade, to combine various drugs. A mixture of two or three sulfonamides is used to combat numerous infections. Among the multitude of peptic ulcer remedies are several tablets and capsules consisting of two or three antacids. The latest is a combination for chronic leg ulcers. The formula consists of wonder drugs and enzymes mixed with solutions to encourage better absorption.

Leg ulcers usually result from poor circulation. In some instances, the veins are at fault; they are unable to convey blood back to the heart, when the victim is sitting or standing, because of congestion in the lower third of the leg. The vein disturbance generally is enlargement or dilatation (varicosities) but others are obstructed through inflammation (thrombophlebitis or milk leg). In older individuals, ulcers stem from impaired circulation associated with hardening of the arteries; the tissues of the lower third of the leg suffer from lack of blood. The number of victims from this cause is on the increase because more and more individuals are living to the age when arteioscleroosis causes trouble.

Leg ulcers are painful and disabling, require tedious care, and take a long time to heal. The ideal treatment is to eliminate the cause but this is easier said than done. Healing often occurs when the patient cooperates by remaining in bed with the involved leg elevated on a pillow, which discourages swelling. The stagnant blood flows out with the help of gravity, and in time, congestion and swelling subside. In nine cases out of 10, the lesions are infected and this condition must be combatted with antibiotics and through the use of enzymes, which digest away dead and loose tissues. As soon as the ulcer closes, the enlarged veins are removed surgically to assure permanent results.

If the individual cannot afford the time to remain in bed, the lesions are treated locally with antiseptics, cod liver oil ointments, or other favorite products. A bandage is applied and the legs are covered with elastic bandages or stockings or an Unna paste boot. Despite the best care, however, results are not always satisfactory.

Doctors I. Robert Spier and Eugene E. Cliffton of New York had considerable success with a combined remedy. Enzymes were used to digest dead and infected tissues; antibiotics were incorporated for their antiseptic qualities; and the drug hyauronidase, was added to increase absorption of these products which allowed for deeper penetration and helped relieve swelling. "Gratifying relief" was obtained by 16 patients. The most remarkable effects were with infected and painful ulcers. Many victims had been unable to sleep even though saturated with aspirin or other analgesics. Plan subsided and improvement was noted within a few days in some.

TOMORROW: Childhood hazards.

In Rome, an earnest young student in the Vatican Library was engaged in reading the works of a now obscure philosopher who died 170 years ago. Ploughing doggedly through the folio, he came suddenly upon a piece of paper on which was written. "The finder of this is advised to go to the probate court and File 162, R.i./Rome, February 5, 1784." The paper bore the deceased philosopher's signature. The student followed through on the file to discover that the author had left his entire fortune—now totalling some 300,000 pounds—to the first person sufficiently interested in his work to get so far through the volumes. The result of the student's windfall was two-fold: the student himself flew to the French Riviera, and the next day the rush on eighteenth century philosophy tomes in the Vatican Library resembled the first day's ticket sale for a new Rodgers and Hammerstein musical.

White, who is also a partner in the public relations firm of Shaheen and White, who was instrumental in getting editorials favorable to the return of German property published in 200 weekly newspapers.

Hayes is also friendly with Walter Germann, the Swiss executive for Interhandel who commutes across the Atlantic while lobbying for the return of General Analine and Film to the Swiss-German combine.

General Analine, incidentally, was worth about $25,000,000 when the United States took it over. It is still owned and operated by the U. S. Government, and its value is now $100,000,000. It is this increased value which makes it so attractive to the powerful group pulling wires for its return.

In view of all the backstage factors behind this impartial Senate survey, it is not surprising that Senator Dirksen introduced a bill on May 7, 1954, proposing to hand the German and Japanese property back to the original owners.

What is surprising is that despite a crowded Congressional calendar, the forces behind this bill are such that it may slip through at this session. More of this strange history will follow soon.

McCarthy Squabble A Problem In Constitutionality

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—An unprecedented challenge to Constitutionalism—and one that can curtail the right of a member of Congress hereafter to express freely and without fear of intimidation his views on public questions—has been projected by the vote of the Senate to create a special committee of six to consider certain charges made by other Senators against Senator McCarthy.

The issue is not whether what the Wisconsin Senator has said in his speeches about General Marshall or anyone else was or was not meritorious, but whether the Senate is about to try a United States Senator for conduct which it has never heretofore prescribed as a violation of its rules.

The Supreme Court of the United States has set aside as unconstitutional many a law passed by Congress because it did not specify "standards" for the application of the law in question.

What are the "standards" by which the new Senate committee is to judge the conduct of the Wisconsin Senator, and can a rule be applied now which refers to acts allegedly committed before the rule was ever adopted?

Which "Ethics" Apply?

If it be "ethics" that now are to be defined, there is the charge that Senator McCarthy received a fee for the preparation of a book on housing of veterans, published by a housing company. Senator Fulbright says the fee was not paid for "comparable services." Then what shall be said of those Senators who — as Senator Knowland pointed out in the debate—have received fees for public speaking in excess of those normally paid? Also, what of the fact that labor unions, trade associations and corporations having business with the Congress paid out such huge fees to members of Congress?

If it be "unethical" for a senator to accept a fee for writing a book derived from information received from his own committee or from executive agencies of the government, what shall be said of the "ethics" of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt who, while he was in the White House, had published for private profit and put a personal copyright on information that belonged to the Government of the United States? Thus, the transcripts of press conferences from 1933 to 1940—which the newspapermen of America were forbidden to quote in the first person—were published for gain, and the copyright which Mr. Roosevelt held has prevented the press from reprinting all those transcripts as a matter of right and it can be done today only with the permission of the book publisher.

Mr. Roosevelt, in the foreword, extended thanks "to the members of the Cabinet and heads of other agencies and others who have assisted in the gathering of this material in the various departments of the Government and in the executive offices in the White House."

Is that a "standard" for a Senator, too? And should any member of Congress receive outside income — from private law practice, for example—while he is in office? There is no rule on this either.

Shall members of Congress accept compensation for articles they write for publication in newspapers or periodicals while, as always, there is under consideration legislation to increase second-class postal rates?

Shall members of Congress vote on any measure affecting any constituent who has contributed substantial sums to his campaign fund? Should he disclose his own investments and disqualify himself from voting on any issue directly or indirectly affecting his personal property?

As for making "classified information" public, what is the rule or standard? Is it a matter for "censure" when one Senator makes it public and no violation when another does? Not long ago a Western Senator on television told facts about the hydrogen bomb which were supposed to be top secret. Should he have been "censured" for that? If so, where is the rule which says that a member of the coordinate branch of the Governmen. is not authorized to use any information which he deems in the public interest?

Again, it has been charged that the Wisconsin Senator urged federal employes "to violate their oaths and the law" by encouraging them to give him information which, it has been argued, they should not transmit. Conceding that a federal employe should be fired for doing it—and maybe if he suspects corruption or treason, he may feel justified in risking his job for the public welfare—is there any rule of conduct by either House of Congress which says the members cannot use in hearings information of any kind which they receive? If so, it hasn't been written yet anywhere in the rules.

FDR Did It, Too

The case is parallel to the action of the late President Roosevelt when he wrote a letter to a committee chairman in the House and urged that the Guffey Coal Act be passed irrespective of any doubts which members might have as to the Constitutionality of that bill. Was this asking members of Congress to violate the oaths in which they promised "to support the Constitution," and, if not, is it any different conduct from that which is charged against the Wisconsin Senator?

One of the charges now has blown up in the faces of the accusers — the Army has just suspended for the second time Annie Lee Moss, whom Senator McCarthy charged was a Communist, and this time it is stated some new information has been uncovered by the FBI. Supposing the resolution of "censure" for his having made the charge in the Moss case had passed the Senate when the anti-McCarthy Senators were pressing for a vote last week—would they today be revoking their action? Could they undo the damage done the Wisconsin Senator by such a resolution of "censure" impugning his integrity and his fidelity to his duty, as he sees it, in trying to rid the Government of Communists?

The select committee of Senators can make a report promptly and briefly—namely, that it cannot try Senator McCarthy because there are no rules of conduct covering his speeches or alleged attitudes in his committee hearings and that, if there are to be rules, then all members should be subject to them hereafter and not retroactively.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

About Karl Mundt

Perhaps it is fitting to add a footnote to the McCarthy-Stevens hearings and to say something about Senator Karl Mundt who bore the heaviest burden of presiding over his colleagues who, by the rules of the Senate, are sovereign each in his own right and none needs pay the slightest attention to the Chairman if he chooses not to and his manners are such.

Karl Mundt also faced the technical problem that Senator McCarthy, a principal in the case, acting as counsel for his side, was also a United States Senator who could not be deprived of his rights as a United States Senator by the Committee. Each Senator sat not only as a judge and jury but as a prosecuting attorney with rights of examination and cross-examination and with the additional right to make a speech of summation whenever he chose. And many of them did.

The only rule that all agreed upon and lived up to was the 10-minute rule which meant that after a 10-minute period of interrogation or speech-making, a Senator would subside until his next turn came around unless he had a point of order to make which some made pointlessly or unless he rose to a matter of personal privilege which often consumed hours.

Presiding under such circumstances, with the television grinding away constantly, under the physical heat of klieg lights and the psychological heat engendered not only by mounting ambition but by vindictive hatred, was a very tough job. Some suggest that Mundt might have banged the gavel more often to shut his colleagues up. It would have been a fruitless exercise. The task of the presiding officer was to prevent the hearings from going altogether haywire and to keep angry members of the Senate from either beating up each other verbally, which they did, or physically which they did not do. At times, it was anticipated that one or the other of them might have walked out, but that was not in the plan.

Were the Chairman not a voting member of the Committee, an outsider, an impartial person, he might have had an easier time of it, but Chairman Mundt could not shirk his responsibilities as a Committee member and also a part of what was, at first, the Republican majority and in due course became the Republican minority upon the defection of Senator Charles Potter. Curiously, I have met Senator Potter only once and that was in the apartment of G. David Schine's parents at the Waldorf-Astoria.

In all these circumstances, it seems to me that Karl Mundt did a remarkably good job and if his reputation as a Senator and his stature in his Party have been enhanced, he is deserving.

I can say something of the difficulties involved in such a task because I was one of those called into Executive Session to testify as to what I know about this affair. I was present at the luncheon at the Merchants Club in New York on November 17 as a guest, I assume, of Secretary of the Army Stevens who paid the bill; I had had a private talk with Secretary of the Army Stevens in his office on November 24; I had had some telephone conversations with Army Counsel John Adams, which were not monitored and concerning all but one, I have no recollection whatsoever. That one, I remember clearly because it occurred just before all the passions broke loose, as I warned they would.

These occurrences made little impression on me at the time; seemed not too important; much of the conversation was gay banter. It would never have occurred to me to make a note of them and I did not. At the time, nobody seemed to be angry with anybody and as I listened to the testimony, I wondered if I was really present at any of it. It is not that the testimony was false; rather the tone was different on the witness stand than it was when men believed that they were friends.

After this experience, I shall often wonder whether what wives say about their husbands in divorce courts is not like what John Adams said about Roy Cohn, and vice versa, after they stopped being pals. Undoubtedly each said what the other said that he said, but in what tone? Perhaps it should have been put to music.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Up until right here our Republican Congress has appropriated $6,600,000,000 less than the last two semesters of the Democratic parliament.

Which averages $3,300,000,000 a year in hypothetical escrow. If that's hay it's all clover.

Don't expect to get your share of money that isn't spent. The Government hasn't got if, either.

That's because it hasn't been printed yet. There is no stockpile of green and gold unless it's autumn leaves. The important ingredient in financing a Government is getting an economy we can afford.

There are 67,000 fewer civilian employes in Washington and nepotism has been reduced from blood relatives to transfusions. More than 3,563 people lost their jobs when it was decided to let people fold their own money.

The Truman Democrats claim the Republicans are duplicating their efforts. They farmed the indoor alfalfa for twelve pay-crops a year.

Vacations & Investments

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass. Manufacturers, merchants, and job seekers should always be looking for new industries. Habits control buying; and buying habits are constantly changing.

Vacations have been on the increase ever since my boyhood. Vacationing is not a new industry. Since World War II, however, it has become a big industry, primarily because of the vacations which almost all employers give their wageworkers. Vacations have become a must.

Automobiles have been the factor booming vacations. If your automobile helps you to relax, then an automobile trip is beneficial. If, however, it is tiring and not relaxing, then it is harmful. It does the postman no good to "take a walk" on Sundays! Do something different when on your vacation—something you don't have the time to do ordinarily.

Vacations At Home

The best vacation is to be able to do as you want to do for two weeks. Give your wife a rest from cooking and washing dishes. Buy things which do not need cooking. Cooking is a bad habit in summer,— and dishwashing is worse! Use paper plates in summer!

A real rest includes resting our stomachs. Doctors agree we should give our digestive organs a good vacation each year, spending money for fruits rather than for meats; and drinking lots of milk and water. In winter we must eat for two reasons: (1) to gain physical strength, and (2) to keep warm. In summer we do not need to eat to keep warm. I forecast that in years ahead people will give much more attention to eating less in the summer. In fact, experts tell me that each season of the year requires a different diet, both as to quantity and quality.

Recreation On Increase

Whatever your business or job, do not forget that "working hours" will be shorter rather than longer. This means that everyone will have more leisure time. This is the reason for the boom in "Do-It-Yourself" industries, which are hurting some trades, but helping others. See your local public library for one of the home-craft magazines which describe such work, or visit one of the many shows which the Orkin people of 19 West 44th St., New York City, are putting on to help merchants.

All the above means that your real pay in future years will be in money plus hours of leisure. Hence it is of great importance for us to "cash in" on these extra leisure hours by using them in worthwhile ways,—not for "hammock swinging." If you are not now a carpenter, mason, or electrician, you should attend night school or subscribe to a correspondence course which will teach you how to profitably use these extra leisure hours.

When Selecting Investments

The older conservative investors do not approve of shorter hours, higher wages, etc., but this change is coming. It is foolish to buck it. Most people don't like physical work. This explains why coal stocks have been going down in price, while oil stocks have been going up in price. We prefer a thermostat to a coal shovel or ash sifter!

Stocks of electric refrigerator manufactures have doubled in value, while the manufacturers of ice boxes have gone into bankruptcy. The tremendous growth of the frozen-food industry—including fruit juices — illustrates my warning: When making an investment — however small—be sure that it is in a company which saves labor. Make money by catering to the lazy streak in us all. That is why we telephone instead of write. I forecast higher prices for "lazy stocks."

Watch Your Change!

Many merchants are complaining about the "dishonesty" of sales clerks in retail stores when giving back change from a cash register. A study of over 400 stores indicates all these mistakes in change are not due to dishonesty. They are due to the mental laziness of clerks and customers in not counting their change!

Thinking requires energy, the same as does manual labor. Most "white-collar" help hate to think and concentrate. Hence, they make careless mistakes. My father,, who had a successful store in Gloucester, Mass., taught me always to count my change, and always tear a little paper off the wrapping of my purchase to be sure I have the right package.

Combined Wonder Drugs, Enzymes Used On Leg Ulcer

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There has been a growing tendency, during the last decade, to combine various drugs. A mixture of two or three sulfonamides is used to combat numerous infections. Among the multitude of peptic ulcer remedies are several tablets and capsules consisting of two or three antacids. The latest is a combination for chronic leg ulcers. The formula consists of wonder drugs and enzymes mixed with solutions to encourage better absorption.

Leg ulcers usually result from poor circulation. In some instances, the veins are at fault; they are unable to convey blood back to the heart, when the victim is sitting or standing, because of congestion in the lower third of the leg. The vein disturbance generally is enlargement or dilatation (varicosities) but others are obstructed through inflammation (thrombophlebitis or milk leg). In older individuals, ulcers stem from impaired circulation associated with hardening of the arteries; the tissues of the lower third of the leg suffer from lack of blood. The number of victims from this cause is on the increase because more and more individuals are living to the age when arteiosclerosis causes trouble.

Leg ulcers are painful and disabling, require tedious care, and take a long time to heal. The ideal treatment is to eliminate the cause but this is easier said than done. Healing often occurs when the patient cooperates by remaining in bed with the involved leg elevated on a pillow, which discourages swelling. The stagnant blood flows out with the help of gravity, and in time, congestion and swelling subside. In nine cases out of 10, the lesions are infected and this condition must be combatted with antibiotics and through the use of enzymes, which digest away dead and loose tissues. As soon as the ulcer closes, the enlarged veins are removed surgically to assure permanent results.

If the individual cannot afford the time to remain in bed, the lesions are treated locally with antiseptics, cod liver oil ointments, or other favorite products. A bandage is applied and the legs are covered with elastic bandages or stockings or an Unna paste boot. Despite the best care, however, results are not always satisfactory.

Doctors I. Robert Spier and Eugene E. Cliffton of New York had considerable success with a combined remedy. Enzymes were used to digest dead and infected tissues; antibiotics were incorporated for their antiseptic qualities; and the drug hyauronidase, was added to increase absorption of these products which allowed for deeper penetration and helped relieve swelling. "Gratifying relief" was obtained by 16 patients. The most remarkable effects were with infected and painful ulcers. Many victims had been unable to sleep even though saturated with aspirin or other analgesics. Plan subsided and improvement was noted within a few days in some.

TOMORROW: Childhood hazards.

In Rome, an earnest young student in the Vatican Library was engaged in reading the works of a now obscure philosopher who died 170 years ago. Ploughing doggedly through the folio, he came suddenly upon a piece of paper on which was written. The student followed through on the file to discover that the author had left his entire fortune—now totalling some 300,000 pounds—to the first person sufficiently interested in his work to get so far through the volumes. The result of the student's windfall was two-fold: the student himself flew to the French Riviera, and the next day the rush on eighteenth century philosophy tomes in the Vatican Library resembled the first day's ticket sale for a new Rodgers and Hammerstein musical.

29th Division Units Prepare To Head Home

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., Aug. 5 (AP)—The 29th Infantry Division wound up two weeks of summer maneuvers today and members packed for a motor trip to their home stations in Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

The last official ceremony will be an inspection of Maryland units tomorrow by Gov. Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin of Maryland.

By the time the Maryland governor makes his review, many other units of the division will be heading for home.

Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland, arranged a dinner tonight at nearby Hershey for McKeldin, attended by senior officers of Maryland units.

The 29th's citizen soldiers will travel home in 1,500 motor vehicles Friday and Saturday.

The first unit pulling out Friday morning will be the 111th Field Artillery of Norfolk, Va. The battalion will encamp overnight at Fort Belvoir, Va.

The 227th Field Artillery Battalion of Covington and Clifton Forge, Va., encamping overnight at Opequon, Va.

The First and Second Battalion of the 116th Infantry Regiment of Central and Southwestern Virginia, encamping overnight at Winchester, Va., and Frederick, Md.

The 197th Tank Battalion of West Virginia will leave later in the day, also reaching home stations on Saturday.

The remainder of the division from Northern Virginia and Maryland will check out Saturday and reach home stations the same day.

To Seek B&O Fund

Agreement was also reached that the city will confer with the B&O Railroad in an attempt to allocate toward the bridge a $50,000 commitment made when the city agreed to close the Williams Street crossing.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long said the B&O should donate that sum and that the Western Maryland Railway should give a share since it will lessen the traffic on its crossing.

The $50,000 was to be spent for a foot bridge across the closed tracks, but the city chose rather to have this fund earmarked for future work. The memorandum called for the funds to be earmarked for future crossing elimination.

Finan agreed with Long and Buchholtz that an effort should be made to get these funds for the crosstown expressway project.

Parking Fees Slated

Finan reported the SRC is agreeable to allow parking on any available land under or near the viaduct, and to let the city retain the parking revenues, with the sole stipulation that the city must maintain any areas used for parking.

No attempt was made to estimate the amount of money the city might expect from such parking revenues.

The city officials spent some time considering what might happen of the General Assembly refused to authorize the sale of bonds for the city's share. In that case, the city would have to make the state gas revenues available, and lose such revenue for city operations.

Sherbow funds are expected to increase in future years — next year's share of gas and auto taxes is expected to be about $90,000—but this higher amount is not be available during the present fiscal year.

Other winners were Donna Boyer, Washington County, for her Swedish embroidery and George Summers, Westminster, for his wood carving of a Swiss chalet. The contest was in connection with the 32d State 4-H Club Week at the University of Maryland this week. Admiring some of the work are, left to right, Mary Thomas, Frederick County; Mrs. E. W. 4-H Youths Will Wind Up Week-Long Outing Today

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 5 (AP) — The 1,400 Maryland farm youngsters attending their annual 4-H Club Week went sightseeing in Washington today, had a big party tonight, and got ready for the big day which closes their outing on Friday.

Before taking off on their tours of Washington, they heard a talk on party manners, exchanged greetings with visitors from North Carolina and West Virginia, and heard about the trip their national champion dairy cattle judgers made to Europe.

The main items on the Friday program are the tapping of new members for the All Star Council, an honor group for outstanding club members; a special session on highway safety; the annual 4-H Dress Review, and the big annual 4-H talent show.

The winner of the dress review, 70 girls modeling dresses they made for themselves, will go to Chicago to represent Maryland in the national contest in November.

Mrs. Hester Beall Provensen, lecturer and assistant professor of speech at the University of Maryland, gave today's lesson on party manners. She used 12 club members to demonstrate her points, and added:

"Girl's shouldn't ask boys too many questions. When you get a boy, don't try to hold onto him all the time. Turn him loose, but make him want to come back. Make him feel important."

June Painter of Petersburg, W. Va., and Allen McClung of Inwood, W. Va., brought greetings from their state. L. R. Harrill, state 4-H club leader in North Carolina, and two club members from that state described their annual 4-H Club Week.

Dr. Gordon Cairns, dean of the College of Agriculture, introduced the members of the champion dairy cattle judging team which visited Denmark, France, Germany, Scotland, the Netherlands and Switzerland after competing in the Royal Agricultural Show in England on July 7.

The team placed fourth in the international judging contest. The members are Lynn Patterson of McDonogh, John Nicolai Jr. of Ellicott City, Richard Hough of Mt. Airy and Roscoe Harbough of New Midway.

Swimming Class To Start Monday

A class for adults who are able to swim but want to become more proficient will be sponsored by the City Recreation Department.

Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, said five persons have already signed for the evening course, but it is desired that the class number ten or more.

Pence explained that this instruction would be for those adults who have just learned to swim and want to be better swimmers.

James Hines, who taught the popular adult learn-to-swim program for the recreation department, will be the instructor of this course.

Persons interested should contact Pence at his office in the City Hall or Thomas Hopwood, manager of the Constitution Park Pool.

Farm Bureau Payments Hit New High

Payments to claimants, beneficiaries, and policyholders of the three Farm Bureau Insurance companies during the first half of 1954 hit an all-time high of $35,000,000.

Reporting on the financial status at mid-year, Murray D. Lincoln, president, said the three companies — Farm Bureau Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, Farm Bureau Mutual Fire Insurance Company, and Farm Bureau Life Insurance Company — set new records in both claims paid and net premiums written.

Total net premiums written for the three companies topped $75,200,000, he said, a 10 per cent increase over the similar period last year. The $35,000,000 going to claimants, beneficiaries, and policyholders was a 14 per cent increase.

Assets of the three companies were expected to top the $200,000,000 mark for the first time sometime during the third quarter. As of June 30, the total was $198,000,000. Policies in force now number 2,880,000, an increase of about 109,000 since the first of the year.

Deputy Sheriff Gets Tipsy In Interest Of Science

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5 (AP) — Law officers witnessed a demonstration of a drunkometer today and saw it sniff out the fact that a deputy sheriff (strictly for the test) had taken aboard five ounces of whisky.

The demonstration of the machine was arranged by Chief Magistrate Stanley Scherr of the Baltimore Traffic Court, who wants Maryland authorities to adopt some such device to spot drunken drivers.

On hand for the test besides the be-whiskied deputy and the machine were officials of the city, state and Baltimore County police departments and representatives from the Baltimore Safety Council and the Department of Education.

Deputy Sheriff James R. Rosenberg of Cecil County had agreed to be the guinea pig so police could see the drunkometer in operation.

Rosenberg was given a bottle of whisky and told to drink some of it in private so the amount would be known only to himself. He acknowledged polishing off "about half a half-pint."

The machine spotted it faster than a wife welcoming home a stag-partying husband.

The machine took its whiff and then figuratively held its nose as it reported the deputy well on the way to intoxication.

To give the machine the required whiff, Rosenberg blew into a balloon a half hour after taking his snort. Then the balloon was attached to the drunkometer. Back came the reading: 5 ounces.

Rosenberg said he felt he could drive. The drunkometer operators said that's exactly the feeling of confidence a person in his condition normally gets. And that, they said, is what causes many accidents.

29th Division Units Prepare To Head Home

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., Aug. 5 (AP)—The 29th Infantry Division wound up two weeks of summer maneuvers today and members packed for a motor trip to their home stations in Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

The last official ceremony will be an inspection of Maryland units tomorrow by Gov. Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin of Maryland.

By the time the Maryland governor makes his review, many other units of the division will be heading for home.

Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland, arranged a dinner tonight at nearby Hershey for McKeldin, attended by senior officers of Maryland units.

The 29th's citizen soldiers will travel home in 1,500 motor vehicles Friday and Saturday.

The first unit pulling out Friday morning will be the 111th Field Artillery of Norfolk, Va. The battalion will encamp overnight at Fort Belvoir, Va.

In order these other units will leave for home stations Friday:

The 227th Field Artillery Battalion of Covington and Clifton Forge, Va., encamping overnight at Opequon, Va.

The First and Second Battalion of the 116th Infantry Regiment of Central and Southwestern Virginia, encamping overnight at Winchester, Va., and Frederick, Md.

The 197th Tank Battalion of West Virginia will leave later in the day, also reaching home stations on Saturday.

The remainder of the division from Northern Virginia and Maryland will check out Saturday and reach home stations the same day.

To Seek B&O Fund

Agreement was also reached that the city will confer with the B&O Railroad in an attempt to allocate toward the bridge a $50,000 commitment made when the city agreed to close the Williams Street crossing.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long said the B&O should donate that sum and that the Western Maryland Railway should give a share since it will lessen the traffic on its crossing.

The $50,000 was to be spent for a foot bridge across the closed tracks, but the city chose rather to have this fund earmarked for future work. The memorandum called for the funds to be earmarked for future crossing elimination.

Finan agreed with Long and Buchholtz that an effort should be made to get these funds for the crosstown expressway project.

Parking Fees Slated

Finan reported the SRC is agreeable to allow parking on any available land under or near the viaduct, and to let the city retain the parking revenues, with the sole stipulation that the city must maintain any areas used for parking.

No attempt was made to estimate the amount of money the city might expect from such parking revenues.

The city officials spent some time considering what might happen of the General Assembly refused to authorize the sale of bonds for the city's share. In that case, the city would have to make the state gas revenues available, and lose such revenue for city operations.

Sherbow funds are expected to increase in future years — next year's share of gas and auto taxes is expected to be about $90,000—but this higher amount is not be available during the present fiscal year.

ADMIRING 4-H RURAL ARTS EXHIBITS—An Allegany County 4-H'er, Boyd Dawson, Rawlings, was one of three judged a grand champion for his scenic pen and ink sketch. Other winners were Donna Boyer, Washington County, for her Swedish embroidery and George Summers, Westminster, for his wood carving of a Swiss chalet. The contest was in connection with the 32d State 4-H Club Week at the University of Maryland this week. Admiring some of the work are, left to right, Mary Thomas, Frederick County; Mrs. E. W. Aiton, College Park, and Mrs. Esther Gillette, Carroll County home demonstration agent.

4-H Youths Will Wind Up Week-Long Outing Today

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 5 (AP) — The 1,400 Maryland farm youngsters attending their annual 4-H Club Week went sightseeing in Washington today, had a big party tonight, and got ready for the big day which closes their outing on Friday.

Before taking off on their tours of Washington, they heard a talk on party manners, exchanged greetings with visitors from North Carolina and West Virginia, and heard about the trip their national champion dairy cattle judgers made to Europe.

The main items on the Friday program are the tapping of new members for the All Star Council, an honor group for outstanding club members; a special session on highway safety; the annual 4-H Dress Review, and the big annual 4-H talent show.

The winner of the dress review, 70 girls modeling dresses they made for themselves, will go to Chicago to represent Maryland in the national contest in November.

Mrs. Hester Beall Provensen, lecturer and assistant professor of speech at the University of Maryland, gave today's lesson on party manners. She used 12 club members to demonstrate her points, and added:

"Girl's shouldn't ask boys too many questions. When you get a boy, don't try to hold onto him all the time. Turn him loose, but make him want to come back. Make him feel important."

June Painter of Petersburg, W. Va., and Allen McClung of Inwood, W. Va., brought greetings from their state. L. R. Harrill, state 4-H club leader in North Carolina, and two club members from that state described their annual 4-H Club Week.

Dr. Gordon Cairns, dean of the College of Agriculture, introduced the members of the champion dairy cattle judging team which visited Denmark, France, Germany, Scotland, the Netherlands and Switzerland after competing in the Royal Agricultural Show in England on July 7.

The team placed fourth in the international judging contest. The members are Lynn Patterson of McDonogh, John Nicolai Jr. of Ellicott City, Richard Hough of Mt. Airy and Roscoe Harbough of New Midway.

Swimming Class To Start Monday

A class for adults who are able to swim but want to become more proficient will be sponsored by the City Recreation Department.

Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, said five persons have already signed for the evening course, but it is desired that the class number ten or more.

Pence explained that this instruction would be for those adults who have just learned to swim and want to be better swimmers.

James Hines, who taught the popular adult learn-to-swim program for the recreation department, will be the instructor of this course.

Persons interested should contact Pence at his office in the City Hall or Thomas Hopwood, manager of the Constitution Park Pool.

Farm Bureau Payments Hit New High

Payments to claimants, beneficiaries, and policyholders of the three Farm Bureau Insurance companies during the first half of 1954 hit an all-time high of $35,000,000.

Reporting on the financial status at mid-year, Murray D. Lincoln, president, said the three companies — Farm Bureau Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, Farm Bureau Mutual Fire Insurance Company, and Farm Bureau Life Insurance Company — set new records in both claims paid and net premiums written.

Total net premiums written for the three companies topped $75,200,000, he said, a 10 per cent increase over the similar period last year. The $35,000,000 going to claimants, beneficiaries, and policyholders was a 14 per cent increase.

Assets of the three companies were expected to top the $200,000,000 mark for the first time sometime during the third quarter. As of June 30, the total was $198,000,000. Policies in force now number 2,880,000, an increase of about 109,000 since the first of the year.

Deputy Sheriff Gets Tipsy In Interest Of Science

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5 (AP) — Law officers witnessed a demonstration of a drunkometer today and saw it sniff out the fact that a deputy sheriff (strictly for the test) had taken aboard five ounces of whisky.

The demonstration of the machine was arranged by Chief Magistrate Stanley Scherr of the Baltimore Traffic Court, who wants Maryland authorities to adopt some such device to spot drunken drivers.

On hand for the test besides the be-whiskied deputy and the machine were officials of the city, state and Baltimore County police departments and representatives from the Baltimore Safety Council and the Department of Education.

Deputy Sheriff James R. Rosenberg of Cecil County had agreed to be the guinea pig so police could see the drunkometer in operation.

Rosenberg was given a bottle of whisky and told to drink some of it in private so the amount would be known only to himself. He acknowledged polishing off "about half a half-pint."

The machine spotted it faster than a wife welcoming home a stag-partying husband.

The machine took its whiff and then figuratively held its nose as it reported the deputy well on the way to intoxication.

To give the machine the required whiff, Rosenberg blew into a balloon a half hour after taking his snort. Then the balloon was attached to the drunkometer. Back came the reading: 5 ounces.

Rosenberg said he felt he could drive. The drunkometer operators said that's exactly the feeling of confidence a person in his condition normally gets. And that, they said, is what causes many accidents.

The drunkometer was devised by a college professor, Dr. Rolla N. Harger, professor of biochemistry and toxicology at the Indiana University Medical School.

Of the 5 Members of the Council a majority, prior to election, stated their opposition to the overhead bridge, but enormous pressure has been put on them since. UNLESS you show them that you, the people, want a REFERENDUM, they may bow to that pressure.

At least 5 grave consequences will follow an overhead bridge.

1. Your tax rate will go up 16.52c a hundred (34.24c including other commitments).

2. Hundreds of homes and businesses of your friends and neighbors will be ruined.

3. Two far better plans—cheaper, with more jobs, will be discarded—leaving us with our internal traffic problem unsolved.

4. An eyesore will be foisted on Cumberland, creating a slum problem.

5. Your city government will have lost the community's confidence by repudiating their pledges.

Murray Expedition Covers 60 Miles On Canal Hike

The Murray hiking party is continuing its march from Cumberland to Washington along the old C&O Canal, covering 60 miles the first three days. By Wednesday the party had reached a point across the Potomac River from Falling Waters, W. Va.

Rev. W. F. Murray, of Bigpool, and his six sons launched their expedition here Saturday to gather material for a textbook, take pictures and study topography.

After walking 35 miles on the first day to Paw Paw, lack of proper equipment resulted in a 24-hour intermission. They returned home temporarily for extra canteens, sickles and hatchets.

Water found along the canal was unsafe to drink. The sickles and hatchets were for badly grown over sections in the western area.

One of the most interesting encounters was with a 70-year-old hermit, "Old Buck" Casey, who lives about seven miles above Little Orleans. He was wearing nothing but a pair of shorts and, when asked about his marital status, pointed to the big American flag hanging in front of his house.

"There's the boss," Casey declared. The long-haired fellow told legends of the country-side and sang his own songs to guitar accompaniment.

The Murray hike has been without accidents. One son stepped on a snake and the group saw countless other reptiles but they killed none on the theory snakes do more good than harm.

Turkeys, groundhogs, deer and other forms of wildlife appeared to be abundant, they said.

Widespread publicity that the hike has received was evident by the reception the hikers encountered in many places along the way. Virtually every family told the group they read about the march.

The Murrays are determined to reach Washington in eight days.

Three Men Enlist In Marines Here

Three young men have been enlisted in the Marine Corps at the local recruiting station and have been assigned to Parris Island, S. C., for basic training, according to Staff Sgt. Donald J. Coleman, recruiter.

They are Richard Eugene Guthridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Guthridge, 447 Columbia Street; James Edward Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Ray, 101 Mozelle Street, Keyser; Franklin Delano Roosevelt Fortner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayden Fortner, 42 North Mineral Street, Keyser.

Murray Expedition Covers 60 Miles On Canal Hike

The Murray hiking party is continuing its march from Cumberland to Washington along the old C&O Canal, covering 60 miles the first three days. By Wednesday the party had reached a point across the Potomac River from Falling Waters, W. Va.

Rev. W. F. Murray, of Bigpool, and his six sons launched their expedition here Saturday to gather material for a textbook, take pictures and study topography.

After walking 35 miles on the first day to Paw Paw, lack of proper equipment resulted in a 24-hour intermission. They returned home temporarily for extra canteens, sickles and hatchets.

Water found along the canal was unsafe to drink. The sickles and hatchets were for badly grown over sections in the western area.

One of the most interesting encounters was with a 70-year-old hermit, "Old Buck" Casey, who lives about seven miles above Little Orleans. He was wearing nothing but a pair of shorts and, when asked about his marital status, pointed to the big American flag hanging in front of his house.

"There's the boss," Casey declared. The long-haired fellow told legends of the country-side and sang his own songs to guitar accompaniment.

The Murray hike has been without accidents. One son stepped on a snake and the group saw countless other reptiles but they killed none on the theory snakes do more good than harm.

Turkeys, groundhogs, deer and other forms of wildlife appeared to be abundant, they said.

Widespread publicity that the hike has received was evident by the reception the hikers encountered in many places along the way. Virtually every family told the group they read about the march.

The Murrays are determined to reach Washington in eight days.

Try Cheese Croquettes flavored with celery seed, or make a cheese sauce and add a teaspoonful of celery seed.

In case you have not tried split pea soup, hot or cold, with celery flavor, you have denied your family a real taste treat. For soup made from 1½ cups of split peas, use one teaspoonful of celery seed.

Dorsey Questions 45 Names In Check Of Voting Records

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5 (AP)—Philip H. Dorsey Jr., apparent loser of the Democratic nomination for attorney general, and his attorneys challenged 45 names today as they launched an examination of voting records in one precinct of Baltimore's 4th District.

Dorsey, given permission by the Board of Election Supervisors to examine voter authorization cards and compare signatures on them with registration books, hopes to uncover "gross irregularities" to switch the district's vote to his column.

He lost the district to C. Ferdinand Sybert, the apparent statewide winner, by 112 votes in the June 28 primary.

The precinct selected for the start of the check is the 35th of the 15th ward, the home precinct of James H. (Jack) Pollack, Democratic leader and supporter of H.C. Byrd, apparent winner over George P. Mahoney of the gubernatorial nomination.

The 45 names were culled from about 250 cards studied today. In all, 923 persons voted in the precinct.

Although the check was started ostensibly to compare signatures on voter authorization cards with signatures in registration books, some names were challenged—and set aside—for other reasons. Among these were the names of persons suspected of living in other areas of the city than in the precinct where they voted.

In studying each name, Dorsey and his lawyer, Gately Flynn of Westminster, were assisted by a handwriting analyst designated as a "clerk" to the Dorsey group.

The expert, Arthur P. Myers, was made a clerk after the board of election supervisors ruled yesterday against subjecting the signatures to the eyes of a professional analyst.

One voter's card, apparently signed by a Manuel Abramowitz, was challenged because no such name could be found on the registration book.

Six cards signed by persons named Himmelstein, all of the same address, were challenged until Dorsey aides could determine if all six actually lived at the same place.

When the name Samuel N. Friedel was spotted, it obviously was taken to be that of Democratic Congressman Samuel N. Friedel, of the 5th District, and it was challenged without further checking.

"What's Sammy doing here? He lives in the 5th District," one of the Dorsey men said and challenged the name.

There are two Samuel N. Friedels in the telephone book, one the congressman who lives at 2207 South Road, in the 5th District, and another whose address is 2315 Wichita Avenue, the same street number listed in the election book.

Flynn spent a good part of the day copying down the names of all persons who voted in the precinct. He said he plans to check them against a list of about 300 persons ruled as ineligible to vote in the precinct in 1951.

If Dorsey and his lawyers could have all votes in the precinct thrown out, he would win the district and the nomination by several hundred votes over Sybert. Mahoney in like maneuvers would win the district by 53 votes, and in turn the district's 7 unit votes would give him the nomination over H. C. Byrd.

Court Canvass Will Determine School Board

Mineral County Outcome Unsettled

KEYSER — The Mineral County Court this morning will canvass the vote in the non-partisan election for County Board of Education Tuesday to determine which of the three candidates will get the short term.

All three will be elected but the one getting the fewest votes will serve only a short term until January 1.

Election officials say there have been so many discrepancies in the returns marked by poll judges that is has been impossible to make a definite report.

Some officials believe it may be necessary to recount the votes before the outcome finally is determined.

The three candidates are W. B. Helmick of Fort Ashby, who seeks reelection; W. Huber Norman of Elk Garden, and Dr. James H. Wolverton Jr., of Piedmont.

The vacancies occur because John C. Boor of Piedmont resigned from the Board of Education to become a Republican candidate for County Court. The candidate receiving the lowest total vote will serve until January 1. The second place candidate will serve the rest of Boor's term from January 1 on and the high man will serve a full term.

Court Canvass Will Determine School Board

Mineral County Outcome Unsettled

KEYSER — The Mineral County Court this morning will canvass the vote in the non-partisan election for County Board of Education Tuesday to determine which of the three candidates will get the short term.

All three will be elected but the one getting the fewest votes will serve only a short term until January 1.

Election officials say there have been so many discrepancies in the returns marked by poll judges that is has been impossible to make a definite report.

Some officials believe it may be necessary to recount the votes before the outcome finally is determined.

The three candidates are W. B. Helmick of Fort Ashby, who seeks reelection; W. Huber Norman of Elk Garden, and Dr. James H. Wolverton Jr., of Piedmont.

The vacancies occur because John C. Boor of Piedmont resigned from the Board of Education to become a Republican candidate for County Court. The candidate receiving the lowest total vote will serve until January 1. The second place candidate will serve the rest of Boor's term from January 1 on and the high man will serve a full term.

Westernport To Buy New Police Car

Bicycle Measure Gets First Reading

WESTERNPORT—The Town of Westernport will purchase a new police car. The bid of Frostburg Auto Company for a 1954 Plymouth plaza Club sedan for $1908.20 was accepted. The Town was allowed $1108.20 on their present car and to pay $800 difference for the new car.

Residents of Wood Street Extended and Hill Street conferred with Mayor Okey E. Michael, City Commissioners and Philip Hartig Jr., a surveyor, Wednesday evening. Hartig is making a survey of that area.

The first reading of a bicycle ordinance presented by Ray L. Wilt, police and fire commissioner was given.

It includes that every resident of the Town will submit his bicycle to the police department for inspection as brakes, lights, signalling devices, tires and other inspections necessary.

When it meets with requirements a permit card will be given for the operation of the vehicle which shall be carried on his or her person whenever operating the machine.

A license tag bearing the same number as the permit card will be attached to each bicycle and a fee of fifty cents will be charged for each license issued.

Any one operating a bicycle within the corporate limits of the town will be required to observe the following rules.

Any operator of a bicycle will not be permitted to carry any person upon the handle bars, frame or other part of the bicycle nor shall any person so ride upon any such vehicle.

Each bicycle shall be equipped with a lamp on the front and rear, except that a red reflector may be used in lieu of a rear light. No bicycle shall proceed in any street, lane or alley in the town in inertia or momentum with the feet of the operator removed from the pedals, nor while riding it hang onto another vehicle while the same is in motion; also not permitted to ride a bicycle without having his or her hands on the handle bars, nor practice any form of trick or fancy riding whatsoever. It shall not be operated abreast of more than one other bicycle preceding in the same direction.

It cannot be operated without being equipped with a suitable warning signal. It will not be permitted to ride a bicycle on the sidewalk, but may be permitted to stand upon the sidewalk provided it is equipped with a suitable stand device and cause no obstruction to traffic. The bicycle shall be in a state of constant repair, so it can pass an examination whenever required.

Operators of bicycles will be governed by the same traffic regulations, such as stop signs, speed restrictions, traffic lights and all others that may be in effect for the operation of motor vehicles.

The failure of the operator of any bicycle to conform to the requirements of this ordinance shall be sufficient cause for the confiscation of the bicycle and the imposition of a fine not to exceed five dollars.

Westernport To Buy New Police Car

Bicycle Measure Gets First Reading

WESTERNPORT—The Town of Westernport will purchase a new police car. The bid of Frostburg Auto Company for a 1954 Plymouth plaza Club sedan for $1908.20 was accepted. The Town was allowed $1108.20 on their present car and to pay $800 difference for the new car.

Residents of Wood Street Extended and Hill Street conferred with Mayor Okey E. Michael, City Commissioners and Philip Hartig Jr., a surveyor, Wednesday evening. Hartig is making a survey of that area.

The first reading of a bicycle ordinance presented by Ray L. Wilt, police and fire commissioner was given.

It includes that every resident of the Town will submit his bicycle to the police department for inspection as brakes, lights, signalling devices, tires and other inspections necessary.

When it meets with requirements a permit card will be given for the operation of the vehicle which shall be carried on his or her person whenever operating the machine.

A license tag bearing the same number as the permit card will be attached to each bicycle and a fee of fifty cents will be charged for each license issued.

Any one operating a bicycle within the corporate limits of the town will be required to observe the following rules.

Any operator of a bicycle will not be permitted to carry any person upon the handle bars, frame or other part of the bicycle nor shall any person so ride upon any such vehicle.

Each bicycle shall be equipped with a lamp on the front and rear, except that a red reflector may be used in lieu of a rear light. No bicycle shall proceed in any street, lane or alley in the town in inertia or momentum with the feet of the operator removed from the pedals, nor while riding it hang onto another vehicle while the same is in motion; also not permitted to ride a bicycle without having his or her hands on the handle bars, nor practice any form of trick or fancy riding whatsoever. It shall not be operated abreast of more than one other bicycle preceding in the same direction.

It cannot be operated without being equipped with a suitable warning signal. It will not be permitted to ride a bicycle on the sidewalk, but may be permitted to stand upon the sidewalk provided it is equipped with a suitable stand device and cause no obstruction to traffic. The bicycle shall be in a state of constant repair, so it can pass an examination whenever required.

Operators of bicycles will be governed by the same traffic regulations, such as stop signs, speed restrictions, traffic lights and all others that may be in effect for the operation of motor vehicles.

The failure of the operator of any bicycle to conform to the requirements of this ordinance shall be sufficient cause for the confiscation of the bicycle and the imposition of a fine not to exceed five dollars.

On The Line
by Bob Considine

OMAHA (INS)—Omaha is doing a very daring thing this year. It is celebrating its centennial without the services of Sally Rand and papier-mache honky-tonks supposedly depicting frontier days. Few cities observing their birth in a wilder and woolier age would dare go in for such an innovation.

Under the watchful eye of the Omaha World Herald, General Chairman Morris E. Jacobs, and such business and civic leaders as V. J. Skutt, Arthur Stoddard and Ed Pettis, Omaha is celebrating its rugged birth of a century ago with such events are these:

An inter-faith rally at the ballpark, featuring a speech by Dr. Ralph Bunche (at one point the lights were extinguished and all 12,000 in the audience lighted candles;) a jubilee of American music over the past 100 years, due Saturday; vast forums with such topics as "Tomorrow and Education," "Tomorrow and Science" and "Tomorrow and Religion;" UN day, with Trygve Lie coming over from Norway and Nebraskans of foreign extraction appearing in their old country dress; historical spectacles and parades, and a cavalcade of human welfare. This latter will trace and pay tribute to enormous strides made by public and private humane, charitable and research organizations since a man named William P. Snowden and his good wife rowed across the Missouri from a place named Kanesville and became the first permanent white settlers of the fur-trading post named for the Omaha Indians.

Of course, the centennial celebration isn't all heavy thinking and sackcloth. Jacobs, who left a perfectly good $40 a week newspaper job to become one of the country's top advertising agency men, is in New York discussing a championship boxing match for Omaha and other non-academic matters.

But the centennial will not be marred by a single bubble, fan, burp or bump. The revolution is here, not the convolution.

Nebraska has another curious claim to fame. On August 10 its voters may nominate three—count them—U. S. senators.

Two is par, of course. But the astonishing mortality rate among Nebraskans in the Senate is behind these unusual primaries. Briefly, the voters must nominate a man to serve the final two months of the 6-year term to which the late Republican Kenneth Wherry was elected in 1948; must nominate a 4-year term senator to serve out the unexpired term of the late Republican Hugh Butler, who was elected in 1952; and must nominate a senator to serve a standard 6-year term.

Wherry, Dwight Griswold and Butler died within a period of 31 months. Including interim appointments, Nebraska will have been represented by nine senators in a bit more than three years when the polling booth dust settles.

The race is hottest for the two-month term, which will begin with the November elections and end in January when the winner of the six-year term takes office. There are 16 Republicans and three Democrats in the gallop, many of them interested in winning the sprint-like term only so that hereafter in life they can be called by one of the noblest names in political history—senator.

Monsignor Wegner, the man who succeeded Father Flanagan at Boys Town, Neb., and is carrying on that great work, has just returned from a five-month tour of the world, studying youth problems. He told us one especially chilling story of a 'teen-age Chinese. The lad was indoctrinated night and day with Communist teaching, but his masters would not "graduate" him. Finally, in the hope of stopping the teaching, the boy swore he was a confirmed believer in the Red ideology.

"Prove it," he was instructed. "Kill your mother and father."

First Shipment Of Quebec-Labrador Iron Ore Arrives

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5 (AP)—The first shipment of Canadian iron ore from the Quebec-Labrador fields arrived today en route to blast furnaces in eastern United States.

The shipment, first of an estimated 10-million tons from the Canadian fields by 1957, was carried aboard the S. S. Hawaiian, greeted in port by whistle-screeching tugs and steamers.

Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania, ushering in the new chapter of industrial development, called the ore "a new weapon in the armament of freedom" and said it establishes a "powerful restraint" for the "suicidal ambitions" of anyone contemplating the "bloody froth of war."

The ship was guided up the Delaware River by a flotilla of whistle-blowing tugs and water-spouting fire-boats.

It was nudged into its berth at the new 10-million-dollar ore pier of the Pennsylvania Railraod by four tugs. Workmen immediately started transferring the ore to railroad cars for movement to steel mills in western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio.

Dockmen estimated it would take 10 hours for two giant derricks to scoop the 20,000-ton cargo from the ship.

As the 4th Naval District band played the Canadian and U.S national anthems, a squadron of supersonic Sabre Jets from the overhead in two salutes to the largest ore shipment ever received in the Port of Philadelphia.

Fine said the shipment "has a significance as broad as the free world and as deep as your own freedom. Any man, who in public address or private conversation, represents that war is the sole and inevitable tribunal before which the tensions of our time are to be adjudicated, is guilty of a kind of treason to our faith."

Elections Postponed

Red Writer Enraged As Baggage Searched

SANTIGAO, Chile, Aug. 5 (AP)—Soviet writer Ilya Ehrenberg arrived with his wife today to attend the 50th birthday celebration of Chilean Communist poet Neruda and immediately got into a hassle with customs officials.

Ehreberg, often called the Kremlin's chief poison-pen spokesman, went into a rage when customs officers opened his bags and searched them for Communist propaganda. All they found was a diploma in Russian to be presented to Neruda, winner of a 1953 Stalin Peace Prize.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

OMAHA (INS)—Omaha is doing a very daring thing this year. It is celebrating its centennial without the services of Sally Rand and papier-mache honky-tonks supposedly depicting frontier days. Few cities observing their birth in a wilder and woolier age would dare go in for such an innovation.

Under the watchful eye of the Omaha World Herald, General Chairman Morris E. Jacobs, and such business and civic leaders as V. J. Skutt, Arthur Stoddard and Ed Pettis, Omaha is celebrating its rugged birth of a century ago with such events are these:

An inter-faith rally at the ballpark, featuring a speech by Dr. Ralph Bunche (at one point the lights were extinguished and all 12,000 in the audience lighted candles;) a jubilee of American music over the past 100 years, due Saturday; vast forums with such topics as "Tomorrow and Education," "Tomorrow and Science" and "Tomorrow and Religion;" UN day, with Trygve Lie coming over from Norway and Nebraskans of foreign extraction appearing in their old country dress; historical spectacles and parades, and a cavalcade of human welfare. This latter will trace and pay tribute to enormous strides made by public and private humane, charitable and research organizations since a man named William P. Snowden and his good wife rowed across the Missouri from a place named Kanesville and became the first permanent white settlers of the fur-trading post named for the Omaha Indians.

Of course, the centennial celebration isn't all heavy thinking and sackcloth. Jacobs, who left a perfectly good $40 a week newspaper job to become one of the country's top advertising agency men, is in New York discussing a championship boxing match for Omaha and other non-academic matters.

But the centennial will not be marred by a single bubble, fan, burp or bump. The revolution is here, not the convolution.

Nebraska has another curious claim to fame. On August 10 its voters may nominate three—count them—U. S. senators.

Two is par, of course. But the astonishing mortality rate among Nebraskans in the Senate is behind these unusual primaries. Briefly, the voters must nominate a man to serve the final two months of the 6-year term to which the late Republican Kenneth Wherry was elected in 1948; must nominate a 4-year term senator to serve out the unexpired term of the late Republican Hugh Butler, who was elected in 1952; and must nominate a senator to serve a standard 6-year term.

Wherry, Dwight Griswold and Butler died within a period of 31 months. Including interim appointments, Nebraska will have been represented by nine senators in a bit more than three years when the polling booth dust settles.

The race is hottest for the two-month term, which will begin with the November elections and end in January when the winner of the six-year term takes office. There are 16 Republicans and three Democrats in the gallop, many of them interested in winning the sprint-like term only so that hereafter in life they can be called by one of the noblest names in political history—senator.

Monsignor Wegner, the man who succeeded Father Flanagan at Boys Town, Neb., and is carrying on that great work, has just returned from a five-month tour of the world, studying youth problems. He told us one especially chilling story of a 'teen-age Chinese. The lad was indoctrinated night and day with Communist teaching, but his masters would not "graduate" him. Finally, in the hope of stopping the teaching, the boy swore he was a confirmed believer in the Red ideology.

"Prove it," he was instructed. "Kill your mother and father."

Red Writer Enraged As Baggage Searched

SANTIGAO, Chile, Aug. 5 (AP) — Soviet writer Ilya Ehrenberg arrived with his wife today to attend the 50th birthday celebration of Chilean Communist poet Neruda and immediately got into a hassle with customs officials.

Ehreberg, often called the Kremlin's chief poison-pen spokesman, went into a rage when customs officers opened his bags and searched them for Communist propaganda. All they found was a diploma in Russian to be presented to Neruda, winner of a 1953 Stalin Peace Prize.

First Shipment Of Quebec-Labrador Iron Ore Arrives

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5 (AP)—The first shipment of Canadian iron ore from the Quebec-Labrador fields arrived today en route to blast furnaces in eastern United States.

The shipment, first of an estimated 10-million tons from the Canadian fields by 1957, was carried aboard the S. S. Hawaiian, greeted in port by whistle-screeching tugs and steamers.

Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania, ushering in the new chapter of industrial development, called the ore "a new weapon in the armament of freedom" and said it establishes a "powerful restraint" for the "suicidal ambitions" of anyone contemplating the "bloody froth of war."

The ship was guided up the Delaware River by a flotilla of whistle-blowing tugs and water-spouting fire-boats.

It was nudged into its berth at the new 10-million-dollar ore pier of the Pennsylvania Railraod by four tugs. Workmen immediately started transferring the ore to railroad cars for movement to steel mills in western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio.

Dockmen estimated it would take 10 hours for two giant derricks to scoop the 20,000-ton cargo from the ship.

As the 4th Naval District band played the Canadian and U.S national anthems, a squadron of supersonic Sabre Jets from the overhead in two salutes to the largest ore shipment ever received in the Port of Philadelphia.

Fine said the shipment "has a significance as broad as the free world and as deep as your own freedom. Any man, who in public address or private conversation, represents that war is the sole and inevitable tribunal before which the tensions of our time are to be adjudicated, is guilty of a kind of treason to our faith."

Elections Postponed

Vegetable Favorite---Spanish Green Beans

Green beans are something special when they're cooked with tomatoes and flavored with cloves and a bay leaf. Since green beans are so well liked and you probably serve them often, it is nice to vary they way in which they are served. Cooked Spanish-style, green beans couldn't be better. They are easy to fix this way, too, and that makes this recipe especially welcome.

Ingredients: 3 tablespoons butter or margarine; 2 medium sized onions, sliced into rings; 1-No. 2 can (2½ cups) tomatoes and juice; 3 cups green beans (fresh, frozen or canned) sliced (Frenched) and cut into 1½" lengths; 1 bay leaf; 2 whole cloves; 2 teaspoons salt; 1 tablespoon beet or can sugar; 3 cups hot, cooked white rice.

Quick method for cooking fluffy, white rice: To make 3 heaping cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

1. Put 1 cup uncooked white rice, 2 cups cold water and 1 teaspoon salt into a 2 quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.

2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid or stir rice while it is cooking.

3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn heat off. The rice is now ready to use. However, leave the cover on the saucepan to keep the rice warm if you are not ready to use it immediately.

For extra fluffy, tender, separate grains—allow the rice to steam for an additional 10 minutes—with heat off, but without removing lid.

Method: In a saucepan, melt the butter or margarine. Add the onion rings and cook until soft. Add the tomatoes, green beans, bay leaf, cloves, salt and sugar. Cover and cook 30 to 40 minutes or until the beans are tender. If canned beans are used, drain the tomatoes and add the tomato juice only if a thinner mixture is desired and if the beans become too dry. Cook 15 minutes if canned beans are used.

Self-Service Snack

Children and teenagers seem to have built in "energy meters." After school or play, most of them make a beeline for the refrigerator and cookie jar. The mother of the family is doing her job well when she has available to this hungry hoard, foods that not only supply energy but important nutrients as well.

Milk and chocolate milk in the refrigerator, ice cream in the freezer and nourishing butter cookies on hand are all ideal quick snack foods. Best of all, these are foods that are liked by all. Ice cream, added to chocolate milk, makes a "dressed-up" refreshing beverage, rich in extra calcium because ice cream, too, is made with milk. Cookies, especially those made with cereal, are crunchy and the perfect accompaniment for the ice cream shake. Keep milk, plain or flavored, on hand plus ice cream for these quick healthful snacks. The cookie jar if kept filled too makes possible the self-service operation.

AFTER SCHOOL SNACK
Chocolate Milk
Vanilla Ice Cream

SNACKTIME FAVORITE COOKIES

1 cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped peanuts
1½ cups crushed wheat flake cereal
1¾ cups quick cooking oats
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt

Cream butter and sugars together well. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Chop peanuts fine. Crush wheat cereal. Sift flour with baking powder, soda, and salt. Then mix in peanuts, wheat cereal and oats. Add to creamed mixture, blending well. Drop from teaspoon onto lightly buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven, 350° F., for 12 to 15 minutes, until lightly browned. Makes 7 dozen cookies.

Try Picnic Peelers

Want to take it easy when you go on a picnic? Want to make the serving of the lunch as simple as eating a banana? "Then try picnic peelers."

No plates, nor forks, are needed. The sandwiches are prepared at home before the picnic starts. A tasty ground beef filling is inserted in the bun and wrapped in foil.

"You eat them in your fingers, like a banana, peeling the wrappings down." Ingredients and preparation:

18 wiener buns; 1 cup chopped onion; ¼ cup fat; 1 pound ground beef; 1 cup catsup; 1 teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon pepper; 1 teaspoon chili powder.

Brown meat and onion in fat. Add rest of ingredients. Bring to a boil. Cool. Cut lengthwise slits along one side of buns and remove some of the soft center to leave room for filling. Spoon two tablespoons of filling into each bun and wrap separately in waxed paper or foil, twisting the ends slightly.

You can have an extra party air

Stack in Dutch oven or heavy kettle with a cover. At the picnic, set pan and all over fire until the buns are warmed.

—just add fancy ice cubes to your lemonade. To make these special cubes fill ice tray ⅓ full of water, put twist of lemon peel or maraschino cherry in each section and freeze. When firm, fill the rest of tray with water and continue freezing. There's no diluting of that satisfying lemon flavor when you use lemonade ice cubes—just pour plain lemonade into ice trays and freeze.

CLOROX makes linens more than white... it makes them sanitary, too!

Here are laundering facts every housewife should know: Clorox not only makes your white cottons and linens snowy-white, by removing dinginess, stains, even scorch and mildew... it also gives you added health protection, because no other home laundering product equals Clorox in germ-killing efficiency!

And...especially important with summer cottons and linens...Clorox deodorizes, eliminates musty odor, leaves laundry fresh smelling even when you dry indoors. Here's another Clorox advantage: It is free from caustic, made by a patented, linen-saving formula exclusive with Clorox!

A Clorox-clean bathroom is another important safeguard to health!

Wash basins, showers, tubs and toilet bowls often harbor infectious germs. Disinfect these surfaces regularly with Clorox. It provides a type of disinfection recommended by hundreds of public health departments. It also removes stains and deodorizes. See the Clorox label for the many ways Clorox protects health in routine cleaning.

1. Snowy-white linens... Clorox removes gray and yellow dinginess.
2. Bright fast colors... Clorox removes dulling film.
3. Lovely-looking linens... Clorox removes ugly stains, even scorch and mildew.
4. Fresh, clean-smelling linens... Clorox deodorizes.
5. Sanitary linens... Clorox is the most efficient germ-killer of its kind.

When it's CLOROX-clean...it's SAFER for family health!

Protein Foods Are Summer Necessities

Protein, the nutrient which builds and renews body tissues, is needed all of a lifetime and in summer as well as winter. The senior citizen requires protein daily just as do younger family members, for it has been said we grow old when we cease to build new body cells.

Best sources of complete protein come from foods of animal origin: meat, fish, poultry, milk, eggs, and cheese. Next best sources are dried peas and beans and nuts and peanut butter. Another share of protein can come from unflavored gelatine. This plain gelatine is all-protein and contains seven of the eight essential amino acids or building blocks of a complete protein food. The rest of the protein required each day can come from cereals, breads, and some of the legume vegetables like peas and beans.

At least one serving of meat, poultry or fish is recommended each day. At least four eggs a week are suggested. Two and a half to three cups of milk or its equivalent should be included in the daily diet. Milk is also important for calcium and loss of calcium in the body creates fragile bones. Part of the milk requirement can come from ice cream or cottage cheese. This cheese has all the nutrients of whole milk except the fat, and less riboflavin content.

A small portion of left-over cooked meat, cheese or hard cooked eggs can be extended with unflavored gelatine to a main dish of high protein value. And it's a cool way of getting summer protein as no cooking is involved.

Molded Ham And Egg Salad

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- ½ cup cold water
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon Tabasco
- ¾ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 1½ teaspoons grated onion
- ½ cup finely diced celery
- ¼ cup finely diced green pepper
- ¼ cup chopped pimiento
- 2 hard cooked eggs, chopped
- 1 cup ground finely diced ham

Sprinkle gelatine on cold water to soften. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add salt, lemon juice and Tobasco. Cool. Add mayonnaise or salad dressing; mix in remaining ingredients. Turn into individual molds and chill until firm. Yield: 6 servings.

Cottage Cheese Protein Food For Summer Meals

Cottage cheese is a hot-weather favorite. It combines well with fresh fruits and vegetables in a salad, and a dry type of cottage cheese can be combined with dried fruit or jelly and used as a sandwich filling.

"Another advantage of cottage cheese is that it carries well for picnics, but be sure to keep it cold," says University of Maryland Extension nutrition specialist Janet M. Coblentz.

Miss Coblentz explains that cottage cheese is a perishable food that should always be stored in a refrigerator and used within a few days after purchase.

Cottage cheese is protein-rich so it can be a part of a cool, refreshing main dish for summer meals. One-half cup of cottage cheese contains as much protein as 2¼ glasses of milk or 3 ounces of cheddar cheese, lean meat, fish or poultry. Cottage cheese is the curd (coagulated protein) of milk.

Large curd cottage cheese is the most widely used today, according to Miss Coblentz. "It is less acid in flavor than small curd cheese and the larger curd is more soft and tender."

Creamed cottage cheese is made by adding cream or cream-milk mixtures to the cottage cheese thus adding butterfat, vitamin A, and flavor. Cottage cheese plain or creamed is low in calories—only about 20 calories per rounded tablespoon.

The Extension nutrition specialist suggests this cottage cheese dip for dunking fresh vegetables from a relish tray: Cottage Cheese Dip:

- 1 cup strained cottage cheese
- 2 tbsp. lemon juice or vinegar
- ¼ cup mayonnaise
- 1 tbsp. chopped chives or onion
- 1 tbsp. chopped parsley or celery leaves

Cool Refreshment For The Youngsters

Let the children make their own supply of frozen suckers this summer. It's easy when you have flavored sherbet mix on hand. No sugar to add — just dissolve sherbet mix in water and it's ready to freeze.

At your grocer's look for the sherbet mix and frozen sucker mold combination. The unique flexible plastic mold makes 4 frozen suckers at a time. Choose the children's favorite fruit flavor of sherbet mix — lemon, orange, raspberry or lime. Each package makes 12 frozen suckers — enough for your children and their pals.

Here's the easy way to make frozen suckers with the handy new mold and flavored sherbet mix.

1. Pour 2 cups cold water and contents of package of sherbet mix into a quart jar. Close cap tightly. Shake until [illegible]
2. Insert sticks halfway into mold and pour in mixture. Keep remainder in jar in refrigerator.
3. Place filled mold in freezing compartment until firmly frozen.
4. When frozen, let warm water run on bottom of mold to loosen suckers.
5. Remove one sucker at a time by pressing down on wooden stick and then pushing forward.

If frozen suckers are not eaten right away, wrap in aluminum foil and store in freezing compartment. Refill mold with remaining mixture. Makes 12 frozen suckers.

FOR THAT SALAD

A fruit salad often benefits from the addition of cheese. For something pretty, chill a cheese spread and roll teaspoonfuls of it in small balls. Now roll the balls in toasted chopped nutmeats.

Be Economy Wise Use Broilers

Looking for an easy and economical way to serve chicken? Smart economy-wise cooks know that broilers are now more plentiful and lower in price than they've been in a long time. If you have never tried broiling chicken, here is your opportunity to discover how easy it is to serve your family luxury meals on an everyday budget.

The best chicken for broiling is a plump, young bird 8 to 12 weeks old which weighs not more than 2½ pounds dressed. The smaller broilers may be split down the back only and cooked whole; while larger birds are easier to handle when cut into halves. The chicken will be easier to manage on the plate if you break the joints and remove the wing tips.

Before cooking, the chicken should be wiped dry, coated with melted fat and sprinkled lightly with salt and pepper. A light sprinkling of flour is optional, depending upon the preference of the individual cook.

Turn the skin side of the bird away from the heat and start to broil with a very moderate heat, keeping the meat several inches away from the flame or heating element. As the chicken browns, turn it over several times and baste frequently with drippings of melted fat. It takes 35 to 45 minutes to broil a 2-pound chicken (dressed weight) with a moderate heat.

Some cooks may find it more convenient to start the chicken in the broiler and finish it in a moderate oven (300° to 350°); others prefer to start the bird in the oven and finish it in the broiler.

When the chicken is done, remove it from the broiler and serve immediately with pan drippings or melted fat poured over it. A garnish of parsley or toast points will enhance the eye appeal of the bird.

A squeeze of lemon adds a tasty and vivid flavor note to any canned fruit juice—or tomato juice.

Lamb's at its best when it's hot. So by all means serve it hot. And of course, always season it before cooking with a liberal shake of Ac'cent for natural flavor. Fun To Cook In The Open--- Bring Dessert From Home!

It's great fun to go trotting off on a picnic with the "makings," and cook right in the open. Meat gets a wonderful flavor, grilled over the fire. Coffee brewed outdoors seems a real woodsman's treat. And nothing's finer than corn, roasted in its own green jackets. But what about dessert? You need something sweet, to top off with, and you'd better take it from home. It's not very feasible to concoct a dessert, right on the picnic grounds. Especially when everybody's contented and lazy.

That's the time to lift the lid of the picnic basket and produce something that gives the perfect finish to a picnic. A big box of cookies, perhaps. Or, a really beautiful chocolate cake.

Chocolate Cake
(Makes two 9"x1½" layers)

Measure into mixing bowl: (All Measurements Level)
- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 1⅔ cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup shortening
- 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
- ⅔ cup milk

Beat vigorously for 2 minutes by hand or with a mixer at medium speed. Stir in:
- 1½ teaspoons soda
- ½ teaspoon double-acting baking powder

Add:
- 3 eggs (⅔ cup)
- ⅔ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix thoroughly another 2 minutes. Pour into two 9" layer pans (1½" deep) which have been greased or lined with paper. Bake 40-45 minutes at 350° F.

Frost with your own favorite frosting.

Lemonade For Pleasant Summer Living

Cool, sparkling, fresh lemonade travels hand in hand with summer fun—a delightful refreshment that gives you pep and energy for those hot weather activities! How pleasant to relax, during a warm humid day with a tall, frosty glass of fresh lemonade at your elbow. Made and served in a wink, only fresh lemonade has the zestful flavor and fragrant aroma that children and guests alike will love.

Colorful fresh lemons teem with Vitamin C—that nutrient the whole family needs to keep healthy and active those steaming summer days. As Vitamin C cannot be stored in the body and must be replenished each day, fresh lemonade is a "natural" daily answer to hot-weather fatigue.

Plain old-fashioned lemonade — truly everyone's favorite refreshing drink! For each tall, ice-clinking glass of lemonade allow 2 tablespoons of fresh lemon juice, 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 cup water. Mix lemon juice with sugar; stir to dissolve sugar, then add water. Serve with lots of ice cubes and garnish with a plump lemon wedge.

Mid-afternoon thirst quenchers your problem? Just whip up a tempting healthful drink for those tired and thirsty children with Jiffy Lemonade.

Make the mix ahead of time, cover tightly in a glass jar and keep in the refrigerator. Combine 2 cups fresh lemon juice with 4 teaspoons grated lemon peel and 1-½ cups sugar. When ready to serve, pour ¼ cup of this syrup into each chilled glass and fill with ice cubes and water.

For special treats and parties, dress up fresh lemonade with a dash of charm.

...One tablespoon crushed berries in a glass of icy cold lemonade turns it into a luscious pink cooler.

For a new sweetening trick, try using honey for sugar in your standard lemonade. Wonderful flavor note!

A light, frothy soda—yours in a minute when you substitute carbonated water for tap water in lemonade and add your favorite ice cream.

A California Julep will buoy up your guests with its delightful flavor of fresh mint and the zing of pungent lemons.

Crush a sprig of fresh mint with two tablespoons sugar in a tall glass. Add two tablespoons fresh lemon juice and stir until the sugar dissolves. Pour in one cup cold water and fill glass with ice cubes.

Try an orange slice for variety —and fresh mint springs or green and red maraschino cherries are a colorful addition to lemonade.

Stuffed Tomato Salad--New Way With An Old Favorite

You will take great pride in serving this stuffed tomato as a salad with a main dish, or as a main dish with a sandwich and beverage.

The filling is perfect for the cool, ripe tomato, because it has just the right amount of crisp green pepper and cucumber, and a dash of cheese. Egg slices top the filling in each tomato and a pretty and cool salad is ready to serve.

Ingredients:

2½ cups hot, cooked rice
3 tablespoons oily French dressing
⅛ cup chopped green pepper
⅔ cup peeled cucumber, cut into ¼" cubes
½ cup American cheese cut into ¼" cubes
8 medium sized firm, ripe tomatoes
8 slices hard cooked egg
Paprika
Salad greens

Quick method for cooking fluffy, white rice: To make 3 heaping cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

1. Put one cup uncooked white rice, 2 cups cold water and 1 teaspoon salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.
2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid or stir rice while it is cooking.
3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn heat off. The rice is now ready to use. However, leave the cover on the saucepan to keep the rice warm if you are not ready to use it immediately.

For extra fluffy, tender, separate grains — allow the rice to steam for an additional 10 minutes —with heat off, but without removing lid. The above will make slightly more cooked rice than is needed for this recipe. Keep the balance of the ready-cooked rice in the refrigerator in a covered container.

You'll find it mighty handy for adding to many quick, delicious and inexpensive soups, salads, casserole dishes, hot breads and desserts.

Method: Mix together the rice, French dressing, green pepper, cucumber and the American cheese. Cool. Peel the tomatoes easily by putting them in boiling water for several minutes, then plunging them into cold water. The skins will then slip off. Cut out the core of the tomatoes. Cut tomatoes into sections, petal fasnion, not severing section at the base of the tomato. Stuff each tomato with some of the filling. Place an egg slice on top of the filling in each tomato. Sprinkle paprika over each egg slice. Serve tomatoes on salad greens.

This recipe makes 8 servings.

Get Cool, Try Chilled Soup

Eat soup to cool yourself! Yes, the trick is to chill soup and serve it icy cold when you want a refreshing meal. Asparagus soup is especially delightful this way. Mix 1 can condensed cream of asparagus soup with 1 can milk. Put this in the refrigerator to chill well before mealtime—about 4 hours will insure thorough chilling. Serve the creamy asparagus combination into cold bowls. Sprinkle top with chopped parsley or watercress. Tasty with egg salad sandwiches or pimiento cheese.

Try Cranberry Ring-O-Chicken Salad

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine; ½ cup cold water; 2 pound cans jellied cranberry sauce; ½ cup lemon juice; 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind; 1 head lettuce; 2 to 4 cups chicken salad.

Place gelatine in custard cup. Add cold water and let stand 2 minutes. Place cup in pan of boiling water until gelatine dissolves. Stir dissolved gelatine into cranberry sauce that has been crushed with a fork. Add lemon juice and rind. Spoon into ring mold and chill until firm. Unmold onto lettuce lined salad platter. Fill center with well seasoned chicken salad.

Team Cans Of Spaghetti And Meat Sauce

Two cans plus one add up to terrific eating when you make this spaghetti dish. Pour 2 cans of spaghetti in tomato sauce into a pan; stir in 1 can of spaghetti sauce with meat. Heat well and serve. You may want to sprinkle in a trace of thyme for extra seasoning. Or pass grated cheese. This is enough spaghetti for 6 servings. So good with lettuce-radish salad and hot buttered rolls.

A Pretty Skillet Of Fish

Eaten between a frankfurter bun, freshly caught fish is not only the best of eating but also the easiest.

It's about as pretty a skillet of fish as a sportsman could put his hand to for frying—these three big perch sizzling over the camp fire. Proof that some of the best ones were landed is in the eating—and eating the easy way—as a fishburger. Place the serving of fish between a frankfurter bun which is ideally shaped for this purpose. Appetizing buns and crisp, flaky, hot fish are good companions.

A camp fire fish fry sets the stage for masculine skills. A bed of glowing wood coals is the most even heat for frying. Our member of the stag group heats the skillet slowly. He heats the fat to the exact point where the first smoke fumes appear—no more—then adds the cleaned fish which he has rolled either in bread crumbs or in corn meal. These, he occasionally turns until they are cooked to perfect browness.

Corn on the cob roasted in the husks, sliced tomatoes, and pickles are foods to a man's liking. He also finds that bakers' cookies and cupcakes are easy to carry and satisfy the desire for a sweet dessert.

Shore Fish Fry

Clean perch, roll in either bread crumbs or corn meal. Pan fry in small amount of hot fat in skillet, turning fish so that both sides brown evenly. When done, remove bones and place fish filet between split, buttered frankfurter buns. Warm the buns—buttered at home—in a pan near the hot coals. Serve with tomatoes, dill pickles, tartar sauce and Roast Corn.

Roast Corn On Cob

(6 unhusked ears of corn)

Remove silk from corn by laying husks back, then returning them to their original position. Fasten husks in place with fine wire at center and near tip of cob. Roast on outdoor grill rack for about ten minutes, turning them often so that all surfaces are exposed to the heat. Snip the wires with wire cutter, husk the ears, with gloves, and serve.

Combination Of Corn And Ground Beef

On your next busy day, treat your family — and yourself — with this easy supper dish of frozen corn and ground beef. The flavor is really grand—with sour cream, tomato sauce, and chili powder adding plenty of zip! And, it's a cinch to prepare—a hearty main dish you're sure to enjoy.

½ pound ground beef
1 package frozen cut corn
½ cup prepared sour cream
½ cup tomato sauce
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt

Brown ground beef. Break corn apart by striking unopened package several sharp blows on hard surface; add to ground beef. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Cover and cook over high heat until corn defrosts; turn heat to low and cook covered 2 minutes longer. Amount: 3 to 4 servings.

A plump, juicy lemon wedge or a notched lemon slice on the rim of a tall, frosty glass is the most popular, of course.

Champs Annex Rubber Game Before 32,144

Grim, Aided By Sain, Wins 14th; Doby And Collins Hit Homers

CLEVELAND, Aug. 5 (AP)—Mickey Mantle rapped two home runs today as the New York Yankees beat Cleveland, 5-2, and trimmed the Indians' league lead to 1½ games.

Mantle's 23rd round trip in the eighth tied the Yankee fielder momentarily with Cleveland's Larry Doby as the top slugger in the league. Doby regained his lead by belting his 24th round trip with one man on in the eighth.

Mantle's 22nd home run opened the game's scoring in the fourth.

Joe Collins, Yankee first baseman, hit his 19th homer in the eighth.

The pitching victory went to Bob Grim, although he got help from Johnny Sain in the seventh when the Indians filled the bases with two out. Sain got Al Smith to foul out, ending that threat.

Both the other Yankee runs were scored by Irv Noren. The right fielder doubled in the seventh and scored on Phil Rizzuto's single. In the eighth, he singled, moved to second on a walk to Gene Woodling and went across the plate as Andy Carey singled.

For Grim it was the 14th victory against four losses.

Early Wynn was charged with the loss, his eighth against 15 victories.

The victory gave the Yankees a 2-1 edge in the three-game series which drew a total attendance of 150,878. The 32,144 who turned out today braved a light drizzle just before game time.

Home Runs Help Chicago Defeat New York Giants

Banks, Miksis Connect As Cubs Bag 6-4 Win

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP) — Home runs by Ernie Banks, Eddie Miksis and Frankie Baumholtz powered the Chicago Cubs to a 6-4 victory over the New York Giants today, ending the Polo Grounders' six-game winning streak.

Banks and Miksis got their homers—their 14th and third of the season, respectively—in the eighth inning, breaking a 4-4 tie.

Banks accounted for three runs, singling home Dee Fondy and Ralph Kiner in a three-run Chicago uprising in the fourth.

Baumholtz hit a homer—his third—in the fifth.

Pinch-hitter Bill Taylor and Al Dark homered for the Giants in the fifth, in which the Giants packaged all their runs.

Jim Hearn was the losing pitcher, replaced by Marv Grissom after the blasts by Banks and Miksis in the eighth. The winner was Hal Jeffcoat, who went in for Warren Hacker in the sixth and who in turn was relieved in the eighth by Davis.

The Giants maintained their five game lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers who lost to the St. Louis Cardinals 13-4.

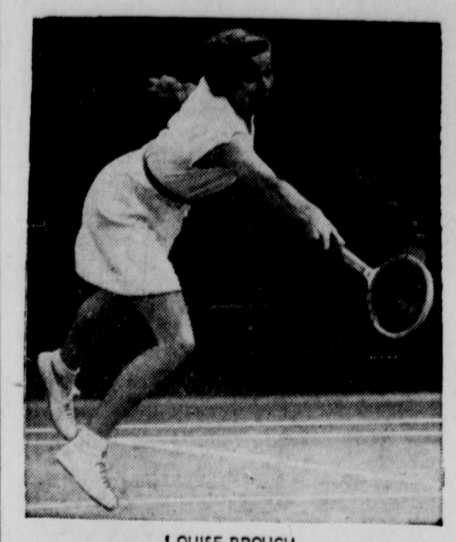
Seek Little Mo's Crown



LOUISE BROUGH

SHIRLEY FRY

DORIS HART

MRS. BEVERLY BAKER FLEITZ

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—Despite Australia's bold efforts to wrest the National Singles tennis title from Cincinnati's Tony Trabert, much more interest than usual is being shown this year in the women's title chase.

Heretofore the crown hardly was in dispute. Maureen Connolly, now 19, has won it the last three years. When she broke her leg while riding a horse in San Diego it made it possible for her to defend the crown Aug.—28—Sept. 6.

Mrs. Beverly Baker Fleitz, 24-year-old mother from Belmont Shore, Calif., stands a good chance to take Little Mo's title. When she won the Eastern States crown it was her fifth straight. She also is the only player to beat Miss Connolly this year. Doris Hart, five-time runnerup at the Nationals; Louise Brough and Shirley Fry also are seeking the crown.

Twenty Red Sox Gloves Stolen

CHICAGO, Aug. 6—(INS)—If the Boston baseball club of the American League saw "red" today, there was a good reason for it.

When the Red Sox arrived at Comiskey Park in Chicago today to keep a date against the White Sox, it was discovered that 20 gloves had been stolen from their locker room.

To keep the game from turning into the barehanded baseball of the 1880s, a sporting goods representative arrived at the park with a new supply.

Roe Throws Glove Into Stands And Almost Loses It

BROOKLYN, Aug. 5 (AP)—Preacher Roe, Brooklyn lefthander, threw his glove into the stands after being removed from the mound in the third inning today, and almost didn't get it back.

Roe was taken out after Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals hit a three-run homer.

Walking to the dugout in a huff, the Preacher threw his glove into the stands. Then he flipped his jacket among the fans.

He got his jacket back immediately but the fan who caught the glove refused at first to relinquish it. He was ejected from the ball park.

Later the fan, Don Reed of Babylon, N.Y., attending the game with his eight-year-old son, gave up the glove. He said he had hoped to return it to Roe personally.

He was readmitted to the game and his son was given a brand new glove, autographed by Roe.

"The glove just had no more luck in it," said Roe dourly. "That's why I threw it away."

West Virginians Given Extra Day To Bag Squirrels

36 Counties To Get 3-Day Deer Season

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 5 (AP)—West Virginians will have an extra day of squirrel hunting this fall and the Conservation Department has made some changes in territory for deer hunting.

Hunting regulations for 1954-55 establish the split season on squirrel Oct. 1 through Oct. 16 and Nov. 11 through 27. The bag limit of four per day and 20 a year remain unchanged.

A portion of last year's squirrel season was cancelled by the forest fire danger and hunters in reality only were permitted to hunt from Nov. 24 to Jan. 2.

The three-day deer season this year runs from Nov. 29 through Dec. 1 in all or part of 36 north and central West Virginia Counties.

The three-day territory includes everything north of the Kanawha River and U. S. 60 except Brooke, Ohio and Jefferson counties, which will be closed along with eight counties of Southern West Virginia.

A one-day season on Nov. 29 was established in Mercer, McDowell and Wyoming counties and portions of Raleigh and Fayette.

Hancock County, closed this year, had a three-day season last year. The other change was closing a smaller portion of Fayette County—the territory southwest of New River.

Bag Deer Either Sex

As before, deer of any age or sex are fair game, with a limit of one for the year. All other hunting is prohibited during deer season.

Special bow and arrow hunting of deer was set Sept. 15 to Oct. 16 and Nov. 11-27 in all territory open to deer hunting during the regular season.

Other hunting seasons of interest, with bag limits, included:

Ruffed grouse — Oct. 1-16 and Nov. 11-Jan. 1; four a day, 20 a year.

Quail — Nov. 11 to Jan. 1; seven quail a day, 35 a year.

Bear Must Weigh 100

Rabbit and hare — Nov. 11 to Jan. 1; limit of four per day and 24 per season.

Black bear — Adults over 100 pounds only Nov. 1-25; limit one per year.

WELL, what club do you like—the Indians or the Yankees?

Whichever one it is, it appears that the hot American league flag chase between these two will go down to the wire with both Casey Stengel of the Yanks and Al Lopez of the Indians agreeing on one thing—the remainder of the schedule favors the Indians. Or, at least, they state so in comments to the press.

But does it?

As the Bombers went into their second game with the Tribe in the big early August Cleveland series, just about one-third of the season remained to be played.

The Indians had 27 games left to play at home and 25 on the road. The Indians have a better home record, 37-13, than do they on the road, which is 34-18-2.

The Yanks had 24 remaining at home and 25 on the road. They had a 35-18 mark at home and 36-16 on the road, which indicates there may be a slight edge here to the Indians.

• • •

BUT CONSIDER the opposition faced by the two clubs as they head through August and September.

The Indians had 26 games left to play against the first division clubs, including seven with the Yanks and six with the tough White Sox. The Yankees, meanwhile, had only 18 left to play against the first division teams, with seven against the Indians and only three against the not-so-pale Hose.

This, it appears, is a definite advantage for the Yanks because the record to date shows that the Yanks have a record of 31-17 against the first division teams while the Indians have a 19-21 mark.

• • •

THE YANKEES, as always, continue to win the big games. But their failure this year has been their inability to beat the brains out of the bums which the Indians have been doing. And yet the Yankees are playing even better ball than they did last year when they wound up with the flag, Casey's fifth straight.

The difference, of course, is that the Indians are way ahead of their 1953 pace, gaining that stature by whaling the tar out of the second-raters.

• • •

YANKEE SUPERIORITY over the Indians has continued through Casey Stengel's reign as bench boss of the champions. He has never lost a season series to the Tribe, although the clubs split even last year with 11-11 marks.

Over Stengel's career the Yanks have won 72 games while losing 53 to the Indians. This includes the first game of the early August series in the Cleveland stadium.

• • •

FOR THREE straight seasons the Indians have finished second to the champions. This appears to be the year, since they have been on top through most of the campaign, that they won't fold.

But the schedule may have something to do with it from here on in. The schedule and the Tribe's remaining games with the Yanks and White Sox.

Champs Annex Rubber Game Before 32,144

Grim, Aided By Sain, Wins 14th; Doby And Collins Hit Homers

CLEVELAND, Aug. 5 (AP)—Mickey Mantle rapped two home runs today as the New York Yankees beat Cleveland, 5-2, and trimmed the Indians' league lead to 1½ games.

Mantle's 23rd round trip in the eighth tied the Yankee fielder momentarily with Cleveland's Larry Doby as the top slugger in the league. Doby regained his lead by belting his 24th round trip with one man on in the eighth.

Mantle's 22nd home run opened the game's scoring in the fourth.

Joe Collins, Yankee first baseman, hit his 19th homer in the eighth.

The pitching victory went to Bob Grim, although he got help from Johnny Sain in the seventh when the Indians filled the bases with two out. Sain got Al Smith to foul out, ending that threat.

Both the other Yankee runs were scored by Irv Noren. The right fielder doubled in the seventh and scored on Phil Rizzuto's single. In the eighth, he singled, moved to second on a walk to Gene Woodling and went across the plate as Andy Carey singled.

For Grim it was the 14th victory against four losses.

Early Wynn was charged with the loss, his eighth against 15 victories.

The victory gave the Yankees a 2-1 edge in the three-game series which drew a total attendance of 150,878. The 32,144 who turned out today braved a light drizzle just before game time.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—Despite Australia's bold efforts to wrest the National Singles tennis title from Cincinnati's Tony Trabert, much more interest than usual is being shown this year in the women's title chase.

Heretofore the crown hardly was in dispute. Maureen Connolly, now 19, has won it the last three years. When she broke her leg while riding a horse in San Diego it made it possible for her to defend the crown Aug.—28—Sept. 6.

Mrs. Beverly Baker Fleitz, 24-year-old mother from Belmont Shore, Calif., stands a good chance to take Little Mo's title. When she won the Eastern States crown it was her fifth straight. She also is the only player to beat Miss Connolly this year. Doris Hart, five-time runnerup at the Nationals; Louise Brough and Shirley Fry also are seeking the crown.

Twenty Red Sox Gloves Stolen

CHICAGO, Aug. 6—(INS)—If the Boston baseball club of the American League saw "red" today, there was a good reason for it.

When the Red Sox arrived at Comiskey Park in Chicago today to keep a date against the White Sox, it was discovered that 20 gloves had been stolen from their locker room.

To keep the game from turning into the barehanded baseball of the 1880s, a sporting goods representative arrived at the park with a new supply.

Roe Throws Glove Into Stands And Almost Loses It

BROOKLYN, Aug. 5 (AP)—Preacher Roe, Brooklyn lefthander, threw his glove into the stands after being removed from the mound in the third inning today, and almost didn't get it back.

Roe was taken out after Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals hit a three-run homer.

Walking to the dugout in a huff, the Preacher threw his glove into the stands. Then he flipped his jacket among the fans.

He got his jacket back immediately but the fan who caught the glove refused at first to relinquish it. He was ejected from the ball park.

Later the fan, Don Reed of Babylon, N.Y., attending the game with his eight-year-old son, gave up the glove. He said he had hoped to return it to Roe personally.

He was readmitted to the game and his son was given a brand new glove, autographed by Roe.

"The glove just had no more luck in it," said Roe dourly. "That's why I threw it away."

West Virginians Given Extra Day To Bag Squirrels

36 Counties To Get 3-Day Deer Season

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 5 (AP)—West Virginians will have an extra day of squirrel hunting this fall and the Conservation Department has made some changes in territory for deer hunting.

Hunting regulations for 1954-55 establish the split season on squirrel Oct. 1 through Oct. 16 and Nov. 11 through 27. The bag limit of four per day and 20 a year remain unchanged.

A portion of last year's squirrel season was cancelled by the forest fire danger and hunters in reality only were permitted to hunt from Nov. 24 to Jan. 2.

The three-day deer season this year runs from Nov. 29 through Dec. 1 in all or part of 36 north and central West Virginia Counties.

The three-day territory includes everything north of the Kanawha River and U. S. 60 except Brooke, Ohio and Jefferson counties, which will be closed along with eight counties of Southern West Virginia.

A one-day season on Nov. 29 was established in Mercer, McDowell and Wyoming counties and portions of Raleigh and Fayette.

Hancock County, closed this year, had a three-day season last year. The other change was closing a smaller portion of Fayette County—the territory southwest of New River.

Bag Deer Either Sex

As before, deer of any age or sex are fair game, with a limit of one for the year. All other hunting is prohibited during deer season.

Special bow and arrow hunting of deer was set Sept. 15 to Oct. 16 and Nov. 11-27 in all territory open to deer hunting during the regular season.

Other hunting seasons of interest, with bag limits, included:

Ruffed grouse — Oct. 1-16 and Nov. 11-Jan. 1; four a day, 20 a year.

Quail — Nov. 11 to Jan. 1; seven quail a day, 35 a year.

Bear Must Weigh 100

Rabbit and hare — Nov. 11 to Jan. 1; limit of four per day and 24 per season.

Black bear — Adults over 100 pounds only Nov. 1-25; limit one per year.

WELL, what club do you like—the Indians or the Yankees?

Whichever one it is, it appears that the hot American league flag chase between these two will go down to the wire with both Casey Stengel of the Yanks and Al Lopez of the Indians agreeing on one thing—the remainder of the schedule favors the Indians. Or, at least, they state so in comments to the press.

But does it?

As the Bombers went into their second game with the Tribe in the big early August Cleveland series, just about one-third of the season remained to be played.

The Indians had 27 games left to play at home and 25 on the road. The Indians have a better home record, 37-13, than do they on the road, which is 34-18-2.

The Yanks had 24 remaining at home and 25 on the road. They had a 35-18 mark at home and 36-16 on the road, which indicates there may be a slight edge here to the Indians.

• • •

BUT CONSIDER the opposition faced by the two clubs as they head through August and September.

The Indians had 26 games left to play against the first division clubs, including seven with the Yanks and six with the tough White Sox. The Yankees, meanwhile, had only 18 left to play against the first division teams, with seven against the Indians and only three against the not-so-pale Hose.

This, it appears, is a definite advantage for the Yanks because the record to date shows that the Yanks have a record of 31-17 against the first division teams while the Indians have a 19-21 mark.

• • •

THE YANKEES, as always, continue to win the big games. But their failure this year has been their inability to beat the brains out of the bums which the Indians have been doing. And yet the Yankees are playing even better ball than they did last year when they wound up with the flag, Casey's fifth straight.

The difference, of course, is that the Indians are way ahead of their 1953 pace, gaining that stature by whaling the tar out of the second-raters.

• • •

YANKEE SUPERIORITY over the Indians has continued through Casey Stengel's reign as bench boss of the champions. He has never lost a season series to the Tribe, although the clubs split even last year with 11-11 marks.

Over Stengel's career the Yanks have won 72 games while losing 53 to the Indians. This includes the first game of the early August series in the Cleveland stadium.

• • •

FOR THREE straight seasons the Indians have finished second to the champions. This appears to be the year, since they have been on top through most of the campaign, that they won't fold.

But the schedule may have something to do with it from here on in. The schedule and the Tribe's remaining games with the Yanks and White Sox.

Harold Williams, Unheralded Pro, Leads In A-A Golf Meet

Alabaman Tops 130 In Opening Round With 67

Five Tied For 2nd, One Stroke Behind; 36 Better Par 72

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (AP)—An unheralded pro who took Tam O'Shanter's sunny wind swept course shortly after dawn and posted a five-under-par 67 today captured the first-round lead in the $25,000 All-American golf tourney.

Harold Williams, 34, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., was the surprise leader by a stroke after 130 pro shooters tested Tam's par 36-36—72, 6,900-yard layout.

The 72-hole All-American with a $3,420 first prize is something of a tuneup for promoter George S. May's "World" meet next week with a whopping $150,000 men's prize list.

Williams finished one notch ahead of a quintet of 68 shooters.

Bracketed in the runner-up spot were two Australians, Peter Thomson of Melbourne and Norman Von Nida of Sydney; Belgian Flory Van Donk of Brussels; Canadian Rudy Horvath of Windsor; and Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif.

The big names faltered badly over a course on which a stiff wind played havoc. U. S. Open champion Ed Furgol needed 73. Defending champion Lloyd Mangrum was three strokes back with 70. Lew Worsham came in with 72. Newly-crowned PGA champion Chick Harbert straggled in with 75.

In all, 36 players bettered par 72 with four deadlocked at 69, two strokes behind Williams. This quartet included Cary Middlecoff, Chandler Harper, Bill Markham and Mike Souchak.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C., runnerup in the 1952 and 1951 All-American, led the 28 gal pros with a one-over-par 75.

In the women's amateur, the lead went to Mickey Wright, 19, San Diego, the 1952 USGA junior champion, with 76.

The victory was the sixth in a row for Stevenson.

George Cousins had a perfect day at bat for the Red Sox with two doubles and two singles while Ronnie Long and Allan Tyler garnered two blows each.

Ben Broome, Thompson and Jimmy Leith shared the losers' three safeties. Score:

Hagerstown Is Winner In Pony Tourney

MARTINSVILLE, Va., Aug. 5 (AP)—Greensboro, N.C., had three big innings here today and defeated Fairmont, W. Va., 12-0, in the Region 5 Pony League baseball tournament.

The loss eliminated Fairmont. Three Greensboro pitchers divided the mound duty and held Fairmont to two hits.

Earlier today, Hagerstown, Md., routed Raleigh, N.C., 11-1, by scoring nine times in the last two innings. The defeat knocked Raleigh out of the tourney.

Betsy Rawls Paces Women In Tam Test

Scores Five Birdies For First Round 75

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (INS) — Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., stroked a one under women's par 75 today to take the first round lead in the women's division of the $25,000 All-American Golf Tournament at Tam O'Shanter.

The blonde, 26-year-old Miss Rawls, who is the fifth leading women's money winner of 1954, scored five birdies in her tour of the course.

A double bogie on the ninth hole cost the Spartanburg stylist even a lower score. She traveled the front nine in 39 and carded three birdies on the back trip as she holed out in 36.

Bracketed with 76s were three pros and amateur Mickey Wright of La Jolla, Calif. The pros were Louise Suggs, Atlanta, Jackie Pung, Honolulu, and Betty Dodd, Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Babe Zaharias and Amateur Vonnie Colby, Hollywood, Calif., stroked 77s.

Swimmers Set New Records

Carolyn Green, Ford Konno In Spotlight

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 5 (INS) — Carolyn Green, 20-year-old University of Miami junior, bettered her own American record for the 1,500-meter free style event as the National AAU Outdoor Swimming Championships began today in Indianapolis.

Miss Green, representing the Fort Lauderdale Swim Club, clipped a full 12 seconds from her previous American and AAU mark with a 21:08.5 performance. She was trailed by 15-year-old Carol Tait, Palo Alto, Calif., High School girl, who was some 50 meters behind.

En route to the 1,500 meter record, Carolyn also bettered the 11:08.6 American record for 800 meters held by Ann Curtis of San Francisco since 1944. Carolyn's time was 11:07.2 at the 800 turn.

Ford Konno, Hawaiian star from Ohio State University, also erased his 19:20.0 AAU record he posted for the same 50 meter course at last year's meet.

Konno's 19:07.1 fell considerably short of his 18:13.0 Olympic record, however.

Cards Gang Up On Roe, Wallop Brooklyn, 13-4

Musial Smacks Two Homers For St. Louis

BROOKLYN, Aug. 5 (AP) — Stan Musial hammered two home runs' his 29th and 30th of the season, and batted in seven runs today as the St. Louis Cardinals stalled Brooklyn's bid to overtake the league leading New York Giants with a lopsided 13-4 victory.

Beaten 18 times in their last 19 games at Ebbets Field, the Redbirds ganged up on starter Preacher Roe and other hapless hurlers for 21 hits that totaled 33 bases to salvage the final of the three-game series from the Dodgers.

Benefited by the Cards' biggest batting display of the year, rookie Brooks Lawrence doled out only six hits, walked four and struck out five in posting his fifth straight triumph. Duke Snider's 27th homer following a walk to Pee Wee Reese accounted for the first two Dodger runs. Snider's single, a walk to Gil Hodges, Sandy Amoros' double and Jackie Robinson's sacrifice fly closed out the scoring for the Brooks in the sixth.

Preacher Roe took the defeat, his fourth against three wins this season. He managed to keep the Cards from scoring during the first two innings but the roof fell in the third when three singles followed by Musial's three-run homer produced four runs and sent Roe to the dugout.

Musial's second homer came in the fourth off Erv Palica. This also came with two mates aboard.

SETS WORLD'S RECORD FOR 220 — Mrs. Marjorie Jackson-Nelson of Australia (right foreground) hits tape to set a new world's record in the women's 220-yard finals yesterday in the British Empire Games at Vancouver, B. Second was Winsome Cripps of Australia (far right) and third was Shirley Hampton of England (center background).

Milers Qualify For Race

British Hold Lead In Empire Games

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 5 (INS) — The two fastest milers in the world ran before the Duke of Edinburgh at the British Empire and Commonwealth Games today and both qualified easily for Saturday's mile of the century.

England's Dr. Roger Bannister and Australia's John Landy each turned in a minimum effort. The first hour in each heat qualify for the miracle mile Saturday.

Landy, holder of the world's record with a time of 3:58.0, was timed at 4:11.4.

Bannister, who first shattered the 4-minute barrier with a time of 3:59.4, was clocked at 4:08.4 in today's effort.

In the overall games unofficial standings, England maintained its long lead yesterday.

The unofficial points tally gives England 292-½, Australia 208-¾, Canada 182, South Africa 148-¾ and New Zealand 96-¾.

New Zealand's Murray Halberg turned in the best time of the day, winning Bannister's heat in 4:07.4, followed closely by Canada's Dick Ferguson in 4:07.8. England's David Law was fourth in 4:08.6.

All four qualifiers in Bannister's heat beat the winning time in Landy's heat — 4:11 flat, clocked by New Zealand's Bill Baillie. Baillie is considered a possible dark-horse winner in Saturday's Miracle Mile.

Northern Ireland's Vic Mulligan was second, inches in front of Landy, and both were timed at 4:11.4. Ian Boyd of England finished fourth in 4:11.6.

Roger Bannister

John Landy

Some 20,000 fans in Empire Stadium got the impression that Landy was making a bigger effort than Bannister, who had been in bed two days with a cold.

Bannister showed no ill effects of the cold as he coasted home in the last lap of his heat.

In the final 100 yards, he looked around repeatedly and slackened speed just making certain he was among the first four.

Detroit Tigers Are Beaten 4-1 By Porterfield

Vernon Poles Homer As Nats Even Series

DETROIT, Aug. 5 (AP)—Bob Porterfield lost his shutout with two out in the ninth inning today but pitched six-hit ball to give the Washington Senators a 4-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers and a split of their four-game series.

The 29-year-old righthander had a four-hit shutout with two out in the ninth. But a double by Wayne Belardi and a single by Al Kaline deprived him of his third whitewash.

It was Porterfield's 11th victory against nine losses.

Whitney Martin's Sports Trail

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—As one of those confident souls who thought the Brooklyn Dodgers would be all alone in the National League race this year we still could be right, although they might be all alone in second or third place.

This past spring the club looked to be the class of both major leagues. They had won the pennant last year by 13 games, and had the same players returning, plus Don Newcombe. If they were a year older, so were the players on the other clubs.

So it seemed like shooting fish in a barrel to pick them to repeat. We just failed to anticipate one eventuality.

We picked the same old lineup, and what happens? The last time we looked a fellow named Sandy Amoros was playing left field instead of Jackie Robinson or George Shuba; another stranger named Walter Moryn was in right field in place of Carl Furillo, and a youngster named Don Hoak was on third base in place of Billy Cox, and behind the plate was Al Walker, with Roy Campanella brooding on the bench.

Possibly there are good reasons for all these changes, although we can't see why Cox, the best glove man at third base in baseball and a .291 hitter last year, isn't in there regularly.

Robinson has become ol' aches-and-pains, and plays when he feels like it. Furillo isn't the hitter he was last year when he won the batting championship while sitting on the bench nursing a broken hand, and Campanella is in the category of baffling cases.

The burly catcher had an operation on his injured right hand, and now complains of lack of feeling in two fingers.

If we were cornered and had to give our idea of why the Dodgers aren't leading by six games we'd give these reasons:

1. Campanella, whose hitting and all-around play was a major factor in the club's 1953 success.

2. Robinson, a dangerous hitter and fierce—sometimes too fierce—competitor, who doesn't play regularly and often is removed after a few innings.

3. Furillo, who isn't the Furillo who hit .344 and 21 home runs last year.

4. Newcombe, whose spotty performance isn't what was expected of him on his return from military service.

5. A general debility of the pitching staff.

6. The New York Giants.

Harold Williams, Unheralded Pro, Leads In A-A Golf Meet

Alabaman Tops 130 In Opening Round With 67

Five Tied For 2nd, One Stroke Behind; 36 Better Par 72

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (AP)—An unheralded pro who took Tam O'Shanter's sunny wind swept course shortly after dawn and posted a five-under-par 67 today captured the first-round lead in the $25,000 All-American golf tourney.

Harold Williams, 34, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., was the surprise leader by a stroke after 130 pro shooters tested Tam's par 36-36—72, 6,900-yard layout.

The 72-hole All-American with a $3,420 first prize is something of a tuneup for promoter George S. May's "World" meet next week with a whopping $150,000 men's prize list.

Williams finished one notch ahead of a quintet of 68 shooters.

Bracketed in the runner-up spot were two Australians, Peter Thomson of Melbourne and Norman Von Nida of Sydney; Belgian Flory Van Donk of Brussels; Canadian Rudy Horvath of Windsor; and Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif.

The big names faltered badly over a course on which a stiff wind played havoc. U. S. Open champion Ed Furgol needed 73. Defending champion Lloyd Mangrum was three strokes back with 70. Lew Worsham came in with 72. Newly-crowned PGA champion Chick Harbert straggled in with 75.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C., runnerup in the 1952 and 1951 All-American, led the 28 gal pros with a one-over-par 75.

Hagerstown Is Winner In Pony Tourney

MARTINSVILLE, Va., Aug. 5 (AP)—Greensboro, N.C., had three big innings here today and defeated Fairmont, W. Va., 12-0, in the Region 5 Pony League baseball tournament.

The loss eliminated Fairmont. Three Greensboro pitchers divided the mound duty and held Fairmont to two hits.

Earlier today, Hagerstown, Md., routed Raleigh, N.C., 11-1, by scoring nine times in the last two innings. The defeat knocked Raleigh out of the tourney.

Betsy Rawls Paces Women In Tam Test

Scores Five Birdies For First Round 75

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (INS) — Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., stroked a one under women's par 75 today to take the first round lead in the women's division of the $25,000 All-American Golf Tournament at Tam O'Shanter.

The blonde, 26-year-old Miss Rawls, who is the fifth leading women's money winner of 1954, scored five birdies in her tour of the course.

A double bogie on the ninth hole cost the Spartanburg stylist even a lower score. She traveled the front nine in 39 and carded three birdies on the back trip as she holed out in 36.

Bracketed with 76s were three pros and amateur Mickey Wright of La Jolla, Calif. The pros were Louise Suggs, Atlanta, Jackie Pung, Honolulu, and Betty Dodd, Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Babe Zaharias and Amateur Vonnie Colby, Hollywood, Calif., stroked 77s.

Swimmers Set New Records

Carolyn Green, Ford Konno In Spotlight

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 5 (INS) — Carolyn Green, 20-year-old University of Miami junior, bettered her own American record for the 1,500-meter free style event as the National AAU Outdoor Swimming Championships began today in Indianapolis.

Miss Green, representing the Fort Lauderdale Swim Club, clipped a full 12 seconds from her previous American and AAU mark with a 21:08.5 performance. She was trailed by 15-year-old Carol Tait, Palo Alto, Calif., High School girl, who was some 50 meters behind.

En route to the 1,500 meter record, Carolyn also bettered the 11:08.6 American record for 800 meters held by Ann Curtis of San Francisco since 1944. Carolyn's time was 11:07.2 at the 800 turn.

Ford Konno, Hawaiian star from Ohio State University, also erased his 19:20.0 AAU record he posted for the same 50 meter course at last year's meet.

Konno's 19:07.1 fell considerably short of his 18:13.0 Olympic record, however.

Cards Gang Up On Roe, Wallop Brooklyn, 13-4

Musial Smacks Two Homers For St. Louis

BROOKLYN, Aug. 5 (AP) — Stan Musial hammered two home runs' his 29th and 30th of the season, and batted in seven runs today as the St. Louis Cardinals stalled Brooklyn's bid to overtake the league leading New York Giants with a lopsided 13-4 victory.

Beaten 18 times in their last 19 games at Ebbets Field, the Redbirds ganged up on starter Preacher Roe and other hapless hurlers for 21 hits that totaled 33 bases to salvage the final of the three-game series from the Dodgers.

Benefited by the Cards' biggest batting display of the year, rookie Brooks Lawrence doled out only six hits, walked four and struck out five in posting his fifth straight triumph. Duke Snider's 27th homer following a walk to Pee Wee Reese accounted for the first two Dodger runs. Snider's single, a walk to Gil Hodges, Sandy Amoros' double and Jackie Robinson's sacrifice fly closed out the scoring for the Brooks in the sixth.

Preacher Roe took the defeat, his fourth against three wins this season. He managed to keep the Cards from scoring during the first two innings but the roof fell in the third when three singles followed by Musial's three-run homer produced four runs and sent Roe to the dugout.

Musial's second homer came in the fourth off Erv Palica. This also came with two mates aboard.

SETS WORLD'S RECORD FOR 220 — Mrs. Marjorie Jackson-Nelson of Australia (right foreground) hits tape to set a new world's record in the women's 220-yard finals yesterday in the British Empire Games at Vancouver, B. Second was Winsome Cripps of Australia (far right) and third was Shirley Hampton of England (center background).

Milers Qualify For Race

British Hold Lead In Empire Games

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 5 (INS) — The two fastest milers in the world ran before the Duke of Edinburgh at the British Empire and Commonwealth Games today and both qualified easily for Saturday's mile of the century.

England's Dr. Roger Bannister and Australia's John Landy each turned in a minimum effort. The first hour in each heat qualify for the miracle mile Saturday.

Landy, holder of the world's record with a time of 3:58.0, was timed at 4:11.4.

Bannister, who first shattered the 4-minute barrier with a time of 3:59.4, was clocked at 4:08.4 in today's effort.

In the overall games unofficial standings, England maintained its long lead yesterday.

The unofficial points tally gives England 292-½, Australia 208-¾, Canada 182, South Africa 148-¾ and New Zealand 96-¾.

New Zealand's Murray Halberg turned in the best time of the day, winning Bannister's heat in 4:07.4, followed closely by Canada's Dick Ferguson in 4:07.8. England's David Law was fourth in 4:08.6.

All four qualifiers in Bannister's heat beat the winning time in Landy's heat — 4:11 flat, clocked by New Zealand's Bill Baillie. Baillie is considered a possible dark-horse winner in Saturday's Miracle Mile.

Northern Ireland's Vic Mulligan was second, inches in front of Landy, and both were timed at 4:11.4. Ian Boyd of England finished fourth in 4:11.6.

Roger Bannister

John Landy

Some 20,000 fans in Empire Stadium got the impression that Landy was making a bigger effort than Bannister, who had been in bed two days with a cold.

Bannister showed no ill effects of the cold as he coasted home in the last lap of his heat.

In the final 100 yards, he looked around repeatedly and slackened speed just making certain he was among the first four.

He did not even try to produce his famed last-lap kick, which shattered the 4-minute mile for the first time in history.

Vernon Poles Homer As Nats Even Series

DETROIT, Aug. 5 (AP)—Bob Porterfield lost his shutout with two out in the ninth inning today but pitched six-hit ball to give the Washington Senators a 4-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers and a split of their four-game series.

The 29-year-old righthander had a four-hit shutout with two out in the ninth. But a double by Wayne Belardi and a single by Al Kaline deprived him of his third whitewash.

It was Porterfield's 11th victory against nine losses.

Dempsey, Louis, Armstrong Are Voted Into Hall Of Fame

Stan Ketchell Heads Fighters Of Pioneer Era

Total Of 24 Fistic Greats Are Honored; Three Are "Moderns"

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, Joe Louis, and former triple champion Henry Armstrong represented the "modern era" in a list of 24 pugilistic greats named today to Boxing's Hall of Fame.

A board of directors composed of boxing writers for major news services selected 15 boxers of the "pioneer era" dating back to the 18th Century to start the Hall off. An "oldtimers" committee of 20 named six more luminaries of the past who were active up to 1919.

91 Writers Vote

Ninety-one boxing writers around the world then voted for ten outstanding gladiators who campaigned after 1919 and who have been out of action for at least two years. To make the grade, the "moderns" had to be picked on at least 75 per cent of the ballots. In this case it required a minimum of 69 votes. Only Dempsey, Louis and Armstrong could make it.

Dempsey, chosen as the fighter of the half century in an Associated Press poll, received the most votes, 85. Louis was named 78 times, while Armstrong, only fighter in history to hold three titles simultaneously, collected 74. Hammerin' Hank held the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight crowns at one time in 1938.

Oldtimers Are Named

The "oldtimers" committee, made up of veteran writers and two former heavyweight kings, Dempsey and Gene Tunney, picked six former champions, heavyweights James J. Corbett, James J. Jeffries, Bob Fitzsimmons, and Jack Johnson, lightweight Joe Gans and middleweight Stanley Ketchell. Fitzsimmons ruled three divisions — middleweight heavyweight and light heavyweight-but not all at once.

Ketchell received the most votes from that group, being named on 17 of 20 ballots. Eleven votes were needed for selection in this category. Fitzsimmons had 16, Johnson and Gans, 14 each, Jeffries 13, and Corbett 12.

The "pioneer era" group included America's John L. Sullivan, Jack McAuliffe, John C. Heenan, John Morrissey, Tom Hyer and Nonpareil Jack Dempsey, a middleweight not to be confused with the Manassa Mauler; England's James Figg, Jack Broughton, Daniel Mendoza, Tom Cribb, Gentleman John Jackson, Tom Sayers, Arthur Chambers, and Jem Mace; and Australia's Young Griffo.

Sugar Fails To Make It

In the voting for the moderns, Sugar Ray Robinson, the former middleweight king, barely failed to qualify with 66 votes. Behind him came such luminaries as Benny Leonard (63), Gene Tunney (58), Mickey Walker (57), Harry Greb (55), Tony Canzoneri (34), Barney Ross (29), Jimmy McLarnin (26) and Tommy Loughran (18).

No Home Telecast For Title Fight

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—There will be no home television of the return heavyweight title bout between champion Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 15.

President Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club said today the 15-rounder will be beamed over a closed circuit to theaters coast to coast as was done for the first Marciano-Charles fight last June 17.

The rematch, however, will be radio broadcast nationally by the CBS network.

White Sox Win Seventh In Row Over Boston, 5-1

Bob Keegan Posts 14th Win Of Year

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox won their seventh straight game today, defeating the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 1, and moved within five games of league-leading Cleveland.

The White Sox made only five hits off five Boston pitchers but concentrated their fire into two productive innings. First Baseman Phil Cavarretta again was the key figure in the offense with a two-run first inning double off loser Tom Brewer. Bob Keegan was credited with his 14th victory and fifth over the Red Sox, although he needed help from Morrie Martin in the seventh.

Dodgers To Wear Plastic Helmets

BROOKLYN, Aug. 5 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers have decided to wear plastic helmets to protect them while at bat.

They made the decision at a meeting last night. The action probably was prompted by last week's beaning of Joe Adcock of the Milwaukee Braves, who was saved from serious injury by such a headgear.

Most major league clubs demand that players wear either plastic helmets or plastic inserts in their caps.

Dempsey, Louis, Armstrong Are Voted Into Hall Of Fame

Stan Ketchell Heads Fighters Of Pioneer Era

Total Of 24 Fistic Greats Are Honored; Three Are "Moderns"

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, Joe Louis, and former triple champion Henry Armstrong represented the "modern era" in a list of 24 pugilistic greats named today to Boxing's Hall of Fame.

A board of directors composed of boxing writers for major news services selected 15 boxers of the "pioneer era" dating back to the 18th Century to start the Hall off. An "oldtimers" committee of 20 named six more luminaries of the past who were active up to 1919.

91 Writers Vote

Ninety-one boxing writers around the world then voted for ten outstanding gladiators who campaigned after 1919 and who have been out of action for at least two years. To make the grade, the "moderns" had to be picked on at least 75 per cent of the ballots. In this case it required a minimum of 69 votes. Only Dempsey, Louis and Armstrong could make it.

Dempsey, chosen as the fighter of the half century in an Associated Press poll, received the most votes, 85. Louis was named 78 times, while Armstrong, only fighter in history to hold three titles simultaneously, collected 74. Hammerin' Hank held the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight crowns at one time in 1938.

Oldtimers Are Named

The "oldtimers" committee, made up of veteran writers and two former heavyweight kings, Dempsey and Gene Tunney, picked six former champions, heavyweights James J. Corbett, James J. Jeffries, Bob Fitzsimmons, and Jack Johnson, lightweight Joe Gans and middleweight Stanley Ketchell. Fitzsimmons ruled three divisions — middleweight heavyweight and light heavyweight-but not all at once.

Ketchell received the most votes from that group, being named on 17 of 20 ballots. Eleven votes were needed for selection in this category. Fitzsimmons had 16, Johnson and Gans, 14 each, Jeffries 13, and Corbett 12.

The "pioneer era" group included America's John L. Sullivan, Jack McAuliffe, John C. Heenan, John Morrissey, Tom Hyer and Nonpareil Jack Dempsey, a middleweight not to be confused with the Manassa Mauler; England's James Figg, Jack Broughton, Daniel Mendoza, Tom Cribb, Gentleman John Jackson, Tom Sayers, Arthur Chambers, and Jem Mace; and Australia's Young Griffo.

Sugar Fails To Make It

In the voting for the moderns, Sugar Ray Robinson, the former middleweight king, barely failed to qualify with 66 votes. Behind him came such luminaries as Benny Leonard (63), Gene Tunney (58), Mickey Walker (57), Harry Greb (55), Tony Canzoneri (34), Barney Ross (29), Jimmy McLarnin (26) and Tommy Loughran (18).

No Home Telecast For Title Fight

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—There will be no home television of the return heavyweight title bout between champion Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 15.

President Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club said today the 15-rounder will be beamed over a closed circuit to theaters coast to coast as was done for the first Marciano-Charles fight last June 17.

The rematch, however, will be radio broadcast nationally by the CBS network.

White Sox Win Seventh In Row Over Boston, 5-1

Bob Keegan Posts 14th Win Of Year

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox won their seventh straight game today, defeating the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 1, and moved within five games of league-leading Cleveland.

The White Sox made only five hits off five Boston pitchers but concentrated their fire into two productive innings. First Baseman Phil Cavarretta again was the key figure in the offense with a two-run first inning double off loser Tom Brewer. Bob Keegan was credited with his 14th victory and fifth over the Red Sox, although he needed help from Morrie Martin in the seventh.

Dodgers To Wear Plastic Helmets

BROOKLYN, Aug. 5 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers have decided to wear plastic helmets to protect them while at bat.

They made the decision at a meeting last night. The action probably was prompted by last week's beaning of Joe Adcock of the Milwaukee Braves, who was saved from serious injury by such a headgear.

Snead Gets 14th Ace

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Sam Snead, 1954 Masters champion who 17 times has failed to win the U. S. Open crown, now has 14 holes-in-one. His last came on the par three 17th hole on the Greenbrier course. It's a 200-yard shot.

There will be 78 boats, representing 23 clubs, in the 12th U. S. Atlantic Tuna Tournament off Pt. Judith, R. I., between August 31-September 2.

Tourney Postponed

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK, Md., Aug. 5 (AP) — All matches in the Western Maryland tennis championships were postponed today by rain.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

Republic has handed him a multiple picture contract, and by way of proving he'll be a big man on the lot, his first assignment is "Timberjack" opposite Boss Herb Yates' wife, Vera Ralston.

The picture will be filmed in color on the Vancouver Isles of British Columbia with Joseph Kane producing and directing.

Bob Stack kicks off his new long-term contract with 20th in "The Racers" playing one of the speed demons in the thriller about the men who drive the European circuits.

Young Stack plays the driver pressuring Kirk Douglas for his championship honors and also for the affections of Bella Darvi.

The backgrounds are the highways between France and Italy but Director Henry Hathaway and Boss Darryl Zanuck decided to shoot it right on the home lot.

Louella writes from London: "Adele—Lady Beatty—telephoned and invited me to her country place for the weekend, and, while that wasn't possible, I promised to see her before I leave England.

"She seems to feel I was rough on her in the stories about Bill O'Connor taking their child back to Hollywood without her consent. I certainly had no intention of being unfair. I'm fond of Bill and frankly I don't want to get in the middle of what is sure to be a bitter custody fight.

"The thing which upsets her most is that she was accused of leaving the boy in a dingy flat.

More from LOP:

Joanne Dru gave the London reporters some good copy when she said 'Married actors kiss better than single actors in love scenes.' She kidded herself by telling the reporters that her eldest daughter said, 'Mother, I love you even if you have lines in your face.'

"The British press fell for Joanne—even to the point of printing glamorous and flattering pictures of her—almost unheard of here. The British newspapers makes a point of catching celebrities in unflattering angles with all lines and wrinkles showing. So you can imagine how nice it was for Joanne to turn up in the papers looking like a dream."

The boss continued: "Harriet's picture, 'Susan Slept Here,' opened at the Gaumont-Haymarket, one of the big West End theatres, the same day it opened in New York. London doesn't usually get our Hollywood movies so soon. The reviews are excellent.

"The London News said Debbie (Reynolds) is a darling. She has always played second fiddle to someone else in previous pictures. Producer Harriet Parsons gives her the chance to prove that she is a star in her own right.'

If she had won an Oscar, Dinah Shore couldn't have been happier that she and Bill Canning beat Ginger Rogers and Gil Barcelo for the Balboa Bay Club mixed doubles tennis championship. "Man, that was a victory," enthuses Dinah.

Billy Daniels introduced his 14-year-old daughter, Diane, to the crowd at his Mocambo opening and later to Mary and Charlie Morrison's guests including Zsa Zsa and Rubi, Eleanor Holm and the Bill Millers. Billy's first night was tres plush.

What a guy! Bob Hope is blowing his mother-in-law, Mrs. Teresa De Fina, to three months in Europe. She'll visit his relatives in England before doing France, Italy and Spain.

Man Is Injured In Auto Mishap

Two area West Virginia men were involved in traffic mishaps in the Winchester section, one a victim of a hit-run driver and the other a participant in a truck and tractor-trailer accident.

He was admitted Friday night after a dark 1949 car with no tail lights hit him as he wandered into Route 50 at Gore, Va.

In the other accident, Monday William Thomas Milleson, 47, of Springfield, was driving a truck on Route 50 one mile west of Gore when his vehicle was struck head on by a tractor trailer which jackknifed on the wet highway.

The tractor-trailer was operated by Merlin J. A. Miller, 30, of Gettysburg. Damage to the truck was estimated at $1,500 and to the tractor and trailer, $700.

Study your inner self and broaden your outward interests for a more appealing personality.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

What makes a woman interesting? The answer is as simple as the question! A woman's own interests make her interesting — her charm magnetic.

The wider your interests, the more you learn and know and do, thus the more interesting you are to others. A beautiful woman attracts attention, but unless beauty is paired with personality, its effect is lost.

Undeveloped talents go to waste; likewise, an undeveloped personality contributes nothing to your life, or to the pleasure of those about you. Don't expect someone else to direct you and tell you how to nurture one quality while submerging another. Develop your own personality potentials — do away with your own personality problems!

What Reaction?

Test your approach to people by noticing how they react to what you say and do. If you habitually meet with indifference, disinterest, or rebuff, don't calmly blame the other fellow. Find out where the blame really lies.

Ask yourself what's wrong with you today. Are you uncooperative? Uncommunicative ? Insincere ? Lacking in tact or humor or self-confidence? Once you recognize personal inadequacies, you are equipped to overcome them.

As you soft-pedal the traits you consider unworthy of the woman you would like to be, foster those certain to make a favorable impression. Among these are dependability, self control, generosity, determination, initiative, originality, tact, imagination.

Once you have studied and redefined your inner self, you are ready to put your brain to work learning about all the resources outside yourself that will enable you to get the most out of life.

Keep your mind alert, so you can enjoy what others are saying and doing. Learn to appreciate all sorts of things — a symphony, a book, a game of cards, a challenging conversation.

Wide Interests

Life offers many, many interests to occupy your thoughts and time. Your capacity to appreciate and respond to them is your capacity to be an interesting woman. If you are able to concentrate only on personal problems, others are bound to find you dull.

YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

A worthwhile investment in charm for every girl starting a business career — every girl or woman now in business who is eager to reach top-flight success. It tells you how to make that important "good impression" to get your job . . . reveals secrets on how to hold your job. See how easy it is to choose a suitable wardrobe. Save time — uncertainty — needless worry through these short cut steps in charm that lead to YOUR SUCCESS. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10 in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed return envelope, for a copy of the booklet, YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER.

West Virginian Given Sentence

Accused of tampering with a motor vehicle, James Duckworth, 48, of Paw Paw, was sentenced to 90 days in Allegany County Jail yesterday by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

The defendant was arrested Wednesday morning on Williams Street by Officers James W. Brown and Roscoe M. Nuse. He pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Police said Duckworth was tampering with the automobile owned by Lucille A. Martin, Williams Road.

In the past year, records showed, Duckworth was apprehended by local authorities on six misdemeanor counts.

County Farmers May Get Help From Government

A survey is being made of the effects of the dry weather on agriculture in Allegany County at the request of the state farm committee, according to Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

Steger said the state committee was acting on recommendations of Secretary of Agriculture Benson to determine whether this county should be placed in the emergency listing for possible federal assistance for farmers.

A conference was held yesterday at Steger's office with Albert O'Neal chairman of the county Production and Marketing Committee, and Martin Gordon, of the Coil Conservation Service, to discuss the matter. Gordon said that the recent rains helped crops in the eastern section of the county which was hardest hit.

Steger in a recent survey found hay and pasture conditions not so good. There was little, if any spring seeding of pastures due to drought conditions and farmers are not so concerned with current conditions as they are for the prospects for pastures next spring.

Other crop conditions are not so bad, Steger said. Small grains are showing good yields in harvests now being made by farmers. Corn in the central and western section of the county is in very good condition. Lack of rainfall in the section around Town Hill has caused drought conditions there, he added.

Various truck garden crops are good and the fruit situation is especially good, Steger pointed out.

Man Is Injured In Auto Mishap

Two area West Virginia men were involved in traffic mishaps in the Winchester section, one a victim of a hit-run driver and the other a participant in a truck and tractor-trailer accident.

He was admitted Friday night after a dark 1949 car with no tail lights hit him as he wandered into Route 50 at Gore, Va.

In the other accident, Monday William Thomas Milleson, 47, of Springfield, was driving a truck on Route 50 one mile west of Gore when his vehicle was struck head on by a tractor trailer which jackknifed on the wet highway.

The tractor-trailer was operated by Merlin J. A. Miller, 30, of Gettysburg. Damage to the truck was estimated at $1,500 and to the tractor and trailer, $700.

Study your inner self and broaden your outward interests for a more appealing personality.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

What makes a woman interesting? The answer is as simple as the question! A woman's own interests make her interesting — her charm magnetic.

The wider your interests, the more you learn and know and do, thus the more interesting you are to others. A beautiful woman attracts attention, but unless beauty is paired with personality, its effect is lost.

Undeveloped talents go to waste; likewise, an undeveloped personality contributes nothing to your life, or to the pleasure of those about you. Don't expect someone else to direct you and tell you how to nurture one quality while submerging another. Develop your own personality potentials — do away with your own personality problems!

What Reaction?

Test your approach to people by noticing how they react to what you say and do. If you habitually meet with indifference, disinterest, or rebuff, don't calmly blame the other fellow. Find out where the blame really lies.

Ask yourself what's wrong with you today. Are you uncooperative? Uncommunicative ? Insincere ? Lacking in tact or humor or self-confidence? Once you recognize personal inadequacies, you are equipped to overcome them.

As you soft-pedal the traits you consider unworthy of the woman you would like to be, foster those certain to make a favorable impression. Among these are dependability, self control, generosity, determination, initiative, originality, tact, imagination.

Once you have studied and redefined your inner self, you are ready to put your brain to work learning about all the resources outside yourself that will enable you to get the most out of life.

Keep your mind alert, so you can enjoy what others are saying and doing. Learn to appreciate all sorts of things — a symphony, a book, a game of cards, a challenging conversation.

Wide Interests

Life offers many, many interests to occupy your thoughts and time. Your capacity to appreciate and respond to them is your capacity to be an interesting woman. If you are able to concentrate only on personal problems, others are bound to find you dull.

YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

A worthwhile investment in charm for every girl starting a business career — every girl or woman now in business who is eager to reach top-flight success. It tells you how to make that important "good impression" to get your job . . . reveals secrets on how to hold your job. See how easy it is to choose a suitable wardrobe. Save time — uncertainity — needless worry through these short cut steps in charm that lead to YOUR SUCCESS. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10 in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed return envelope, for a copy of the booklet, YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER.

West Virginian Given Sentence

Accused of tampering with a motor vehicle, James Duckworth, 48, of Paw Paw, was sentenced to 90 days in Allegany County Jail yesterday by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

The defendant was arrested Wednesday morning on Williams Street by Officers James W. Brown and Roscoe M. Nuse. He pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Police said Duckworth was tampering with the automobile owned by Lucille A. Martin, Williams Road.

In the past year, records showed, Duckworth was apprehended by local authorities on six misdemeanor counts.

County Farmers May Get Help From Government

A survey is being made of the effects of the dry weather on agriculture in Allegany County at the request of the state farm committee, according to Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

Steger said the state committee was acting on recommendations of Secretary of Agriculture Benson to determine whether this county should be placed in the emergency listing for possible federal assistance for farmers.

A conference was held yesterday at Steger's office with Albert O'Neal chairman of the county Production and Marketing Committee, and Martin Gordon, of the Coil Conservation Service, to discuss the matter. Gordon said that the recent rains helped crops in the eastern section of the county which was hardest hit.

Steger in a recent survey found hay and pasture conditions not so good. There was little, if any spring seeding of pastures due to drought conditions and farmers are not so concerned with current conditions as they are for the prospects for pastures next spring.

Other crop conditions are not so bad, Steger said. Small grains are showing good yields in harvests now being made by farmers. Corn in the central and western section of the county is in very good condition. Lack of rainfall in the section around Town Hill has caused drought conditions there, he added.

Various truck garden crops are good and the fruit situation is especially good, Steger pointed out.

Radio And Television

Egypt In Cinemascope

CAIRO

We television critics are a badly spoiled bunch. You flip a switch in your own livingroom and the picture swims into view. You watch it and you've done a night's work. Now the movie critic crowd is different. They must kiss their wives, leave their homes, go to a theater and there, surrounded by strangers, they watch a picture that may or may not be any better than the ones we watch at home.

The big difference, of course, is that they're not home. They have to undergo all sorts of hardships to get to their place of work. It takes stamina to be a movie critic. I've always admired this quality in movie critics and the other day, just to see how the other half lives, I thought I'd try it. There was an interesting picture opening here in Cairo so I came. It does seem like a long ways to come sc a movie, though. The movie crowd will have to make things a little more accessible to the customers or they'll never lick television.

The movie in question was "The Valley of the Kings," a sumptuous Metro Goldwyn Mayer production which was shot here in Egypt. And therein lies a tale. Egypt has been lying here under a benevolent — though sometimes blistering sun— for some 7,000 years now and Hollywood, during all that time, ignored it. Then one day somebody in Hollywood — Cheops Pincus is the name I've arbitrarily decided to give him — was leafing through some old maps and discovered Egypt. Since then Egypt has been crawling with movie stars. A tourist can hardly get to the Pyramids without brushing aside Robert Taylor or Gregory Ratoff — distributing, of course, a little Baksheesh 'o each.

During the last year or so, besides "Valley of the Kings," Warner Brothers has shot "Land of the Pharaohs," 20th Century Fox "The Egyptian," and Gregory Ratoff a picture called "Abdullah the Great" here. At this very moment, Cecil B. DeMille's henchmen are constructing settings for a re-shoot of "The Ten Commandments" somewhere out in the desert. The Pyramids, I guess, aren't big enough for De Mille. He'll probably build something much bigger and, after the research experts do their work, much more Egyptian.

MGM, though, has stolen a march by releasing its picture ahead of the competition, the first major picture shot in Egypt to be released here. It was quite a show. Outside the theater MGM constructed a Pharaonic arch, adorned with hieroglyphics shouting the praises of Eleanor Parker, with two terribly Old Kingdom statues of a man and woman. The statues looked 4,000 years old but were actually constructed at the behest of those great patrons of art, the Warner Brothers, for their picture "Land of the Pharaohs." Then the MGM boys here mischievously bought these massive objets d'art and are now using them to plug a competing picture. Aaah, the wily Near East!

The Egyptians are pretty good movie-goers but they have their own strong tastes. They love spectacles with a strong story line — "Scaramouche," "Quo Vadis," "Ivanhoe" — that sort of thing. The sort of thing they don't like is "Philadelphia Story" which they considered just a lot of talk. (Gads, I wish I'd been here for that one! I'd love to have watched a theaterful of Arabs staring at Katherine Hepburn, bandying Philip Barry's dialogue with Cary Grant, and wondering just what the hell they were getting so excited about.)

An appreciative audience, the Egyptians. They howled with laughter at even the smallest witticism in "The Valley of the King," and also at some spots where they were not supposed to laugh at all. From time to time, during the picture, Robert Taylor would shout something in Arabic in what my Egyptian friends confided to me was an atrocious accent. The house would break up. Taylor could easily be the Jackie Gleason of Egypt. He could just walk out on a stage here and say "Salam Alei-

PREVENT THAT DISCARD

SEEING that the declarer is in position to discard a loser on some established card in dummy, it is the defender's job sometimes to score whatever his side can in the suit where the discard is likely. If it is not done right away, maybe it can not be done at all. The defender, in a spot like that, should emulate the businessmen, statesmen and others who have a favorite expression: "Time is the essence," they say in comparable urgent situations in their own fields.

	♠ A 9 8 2 ♥ J 10 9 ♦ K 10 5 ♣ K 5 3
♠ 6 ♥ 8 3 2 ♦ A J 6 4 ♣ A J 10 9 6	N W E S	♠ J 10 7 3 ♥ A 7 5 4 ♦ Q 9 8 7 2 ♣ None

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

Pass	Pass	2 NT	3 ♦
Pass	Pass	Dbl.

That contract should have been beaten by the defenders. But one of them failed to do his proper assignment at a critical time. West was smart enough to let the heart J win the first trick, took the second with his A when North indicated a three-card sequence by leading the 9, then himself led the 5 to the third round, South winning with the K.

An observant defender, who did nothing but merely notice the exact size of each card played, could easily see now that the 7 was established in the dummy, where it could be led later on to give West a discard in some suit. What suit? Spades, of course. South should have returned a spade accordingly, right away, as otherwise his side might never get a spade trick.

South, however, allowed his mind to be diverted from the urgent crisis to another matter, the fact that West could ruff some clubs in the dummy. Noting that, he decided on the hopeless course of trying to limit dummy ruffs despite the large string of trumps there, leading his own singleton diamond. That gave West his contract.

To prevent any further trump leads, West went right in with the A, scored the club A, ruffed the club 6, discarded his only spade on the heart 7, North ruffing with the diamond 10, then took the returned spade A with the diamond 4. There came then ruffs of the club 9 and spade 10. The club 10 was ruffed by North's diamond K as the spade J was discarded, leaving the diamond Q and 9 good for the last tricks, producing a game when none had been dealt.

CAIRO

We television critics are a badly spoiled bunch. You flip a switch in your own livingroom and the picture swims into view. You watch it and you've done a night's work. Now the movie critic crowd is different. They must kiss their wives, leave their homes, go to a theater and there, surrounded by strangers, they watch a picture that may or may not be any better than the ones we watch at home.

The big difference, of course, is that they're not home. They have to undergo all sorts of hardships to get to their place of work. It takes stamina to be a movie critic. I've always admired this quality in movie critics and the other day, just to see how the other half lives, I thought I'd try it. There was an interesting picture opening here in Cairo so I came. It does seem like a long ways to come sc. a movie, though. The movie crowd will have to make things a little more accessible to the customers or they'll never lick television.

The movie in question was "The Valley of the Kings," a sumptuous Metro Goldwyn Mayer production which was shot here in Egypt. And therein lies a tale. Egypt has been lying here under a benevolent — though sometimes blistering sun — for some 7,000 years now and Hollywood, during all that time, ignored it. Then one day somebody in Hollywood — Cheops Pincus is the name I've arbitrarily decided to give him — was leafing through some old maps and discovered Egypt. Since then Egypt has been crawling with movie stars. A tourist can hardly get to the Pyramids without brushing aside Robert Taylor or Gregory Ratoff — distributing, of course, a little Baksheesh to each.

During the last year or so, besides "Valley of the Kings," Warner Brothers has shot "Land of the Pharaohs," 20th Century Fox "The Egyptian," and Gregory Ratoff a picture called "Abdullah the Great" here. At this very moment, Cecil B. DeMille's henchmen are constructing settings for a re-shoot of "The Ten Commandments" somewhere out in the desert. The Pyramids, I guess, aren't big enough for De Mille. He'll probably build something much bigger and, after the research experts do their work, much more Egyptian.

MGM, though, has stolen a march by releasing its picture ahead of the competition, the first major picture shot in Egypt to be released here. It was quite a show. Outside the theater MGM constructed a Pharaonic arch, adorned with hieroglyphics shouting the praises of Eleanor Parker, with two terribly Old Kingdom statues of a man and woman. The statues looked 4,000 years old but were actually constructed at the behest of those great patrons of art, the Warner Brothers, for their picture "Land of the Pharaohs." Then the MGM boys here mischievously bought these massive objets d'art and are now using them to plug a competing picture. Aaah, the wily Near East!

The Egyptians are pretty good movie-goers but they have their own strong tastes. They love spectacles with a strong story line — "Scaramouche," "Quo Vadis," "Ivanhoe" — that sort of thing. The sort of thing they don't like is "Philadelphia Story" which they considered just a lot of talk. (Gads, I wish I'd been here for that one! I'd love to have watched a theaterful of Arabs staring at Katherine Hepburn, bandying Philip Barry's dialogue with Cary Grant, and wondering just what the hell they were getting so excited about.)

An appreciative audience, the Egyptians. They howled with laughter at even the smallest witticism in "The Valley of the King," and also at some spots where they were not supposed to laugh at all. From time to time, during the picture, Robert Taylor would shout something in Arabic in what my Egyptian friends confided to me was an atrocious accent. The house would break up. Taylor could easily be the Jackie Gleason of Egypt. He could just walk out on a stage here and say "Salam Alei-

State's Surplus Over $6 Million

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5 (AP)—Maryland's financial chief reported a six-million dollar now-you-see-it-now-you-don't surplus today.

Comptroller J. Millard Tawes reported the State closed its 1954 year with a general fund surplus of $6,004,533—up $1,208,000 from last winter's estimates.

But most of the six-million dollars already had been committed by the governor and legislature to balance the budget for the new fiscal year, which started July 1st.

Tawes called "too close for comfort" the fact that general fund revenues during the last fiscal year ran only .3 of one per cent over advance estimates.

In prospect for next June is a surplus of $1,245,935 but Tawes said this could be wiped out by a decline of 1½ per cent in estimated revenues for 1955.

Maryland's 2 per cent sales tax produced $408,678 more than anticipated in fiscal 1954. The income tax take fell $908,383 below advanced estimates.

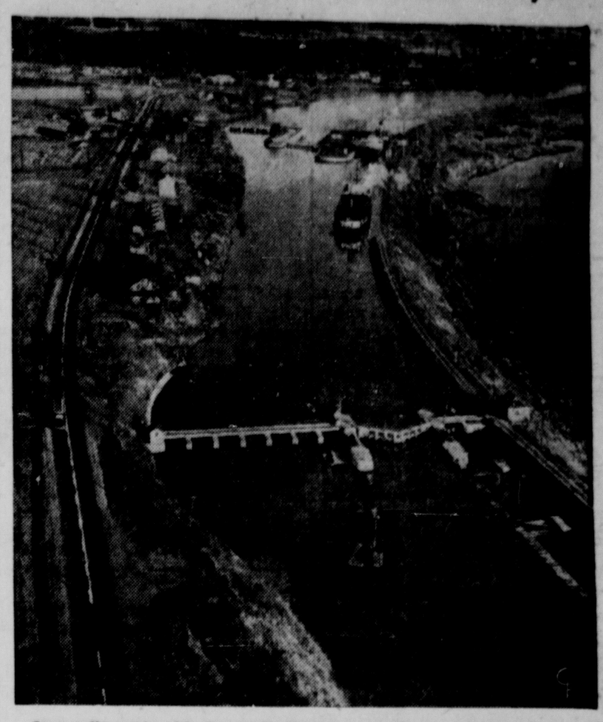
Seaway Ends 50-Year Dream

Residents Of Area Welcome Dams, Canals; However, Cherish Old Ways



Cornwall canal, with Cornwall, Ontario, in background. This is near the site where huge power dams will create 36-mile-long lake.

By H. D. CRAWFORD
Central Press Correspondent

CORNWALL, Ont.—People who live along the International Rapids of the St. Lawrence river, on both American and Canadian sides, are rubbing their eyes after a 50-year dream and gradually realising that it's really true: the seaway and power projects are about to become realities!

Mayor R. P. McDonald of Ogdensburg, N. Y., characterized the reactions of the people of his historic city in words that might apply to most of the communities directly affected by these gigantic engineering projects that are certain to bring great changes to the St. Lawrence valley.

"Ogdensburg is a sleepy little city rubbing its eyes and ready to spring into action," he told me as we talked in his electric appliance store, "but is reluctant to leave the peace and quiet of its former ways."

I traveled along both sides of the International Rapids section recently, talking with mayors, editors, planning board officials, and other residents in the towns and villages that will be flooded out or transformed when the big power dams create a 36-mile lake and big canals enable ocean-going freighters to penetrate to the heart of the continent. I drove, walked, and slept in areas that will become lake bottom.

MOST of the people who live along this area of the St. Lawrence and look across its sparkling blue waters toward their neighboring nation have heard their fathers and grandfathers talk about the St. Lawrence development scheme and what it would mean to both nations.

Now that Ontario and New York state are about to start the $600 million power project, and United States and Canadian officials are ironing out final problems preparatory to digging the 27-foot canals, these people directly affected have been suddenly shocked into facing hard and dramatic realities. Their reactions are as varied as the range of human emotions.

The predominant reaction I encountered on both sides of the river was enthusiasm and optimism for the future, because the St. Lawrence dream was coming true. These people feel that the changes will benefit the United States and Canada. They expect their own communities to experience unprecedented prosperity. They believe their way of life will be improved.

MANY of these people, however, are concerned primarily with ways these St. Lawrence developments are going to affect them personally. Few display any real comprehension of the overall immensity of the projects. Besides enthusiasm and optimism, I encountered humor, pathos, bitterness, and apathy in their reactions.

Some are concerned more with the fate of cemeteries where members of their families have been buried for generations than over losing their homes. To others in areas to be flooded, the old homestead, shade trees planted by grandfather in the front lawn, shrubs cared for tenderly through the years have all suddenly taken on a new sentimental aura.

Editors of local newspapers in every town I visited are ardent advocates of the St. Lawrence projects and are exerting invaluable leadership in striving to foresee local problems, work out intelligent solutions, and plan for the dawning era.

On the Canadian side, where more villages and farms will be flooded out than on the United States side, I was surprised to see some people painting their houses, building additions, and making other improvements.

Some, I learned, were trying to get a coat of new paint over the old house in hopes that appraisers will give them a higher price. Others were doing it in respect for the old place, its memories, its history; with a probable three years yet before moving, they wish to enjoy the homestead, shade trees, shrubs, lawn, and river view to the fullest extent as long as possible.

I WAS surprised to see smooth blacktop resurfacing being placed on Canada's No. 2 highway that skirts the affected area between Prescott and Cornwall. Explanations were twofold: power and seaway construction will attract numerous tourists, and thousands of tons of machinery and materials must be hauled to sites of the big dams and canals.

Massena, N. Y., citizens realized when local taxes shot up this year that new sewage systems, new schools, new housing, and other expansions to take care of expected thousands of workers on the power and seaway projects cost money.

In Iroquois, Ont., largest community to be completely flooded out—a village that has grown from 750 to only 1,050 residents in nearly a century—I found great enthusiasm among village leaders. They have a model townsite planned on higher ground down the river. When they tell you they expect to have a city of 40,000 people, they're not kidding.

Radio And TV

One thing the Egyptians don't care about much — I pass this on to Dore Schary, Cecil B. De Mille, the Brothers Warner and even Gregory Ratoff — is kissing scenes. When Miss Parker and Mr. Taylor finally fell into one another's arms, the crowd stirred restively, muttering "Bass, bass" (Enough! Enough!) — and I was with them all the way.

"The Valley of the Kings" — whose finer points I entrust to the movie critics — is another example of a trend in movie-making toward sheer scenery. If I were a movie star, it would alarm me. The beauty of the English (and Irish) countryside in "Knights of the Round Table," the splendor of Rome in "Three Coins in the Fountain," the grandeur of Egypt in this picture no actor can compete with them. Eventually they may just eliminate the actors entirely and show the Pyramids.

Piedmont Man Loses His Hand

Authorities identified the victim of the mishap as Roy J. Ashenfelter, 44, of 8 Jones Street in Piedmont. Taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, following the accident, he was reported in "good" condition yesterday by Dr. Robert Bess, plant physician.

Auto Insurance Firm Cuts Collision Rates

Allstate Insurance Company has put into effect in Maryland automobile collision insurance preium reductions averaging 7.43 percent, G. H. Bartlett, Southeastern Zone vice president, announced today.

Reductions in the Baltimore area average approximately ten per cent, with lesser reductions in the remainder of the state, Bartlett said.

The Salton Sea in southern California was formed in 1905-07 when the Colorado river broke through a gap in its levee and poured into the below-sea-level valley.

Market, In Year's Second Most Active Session, Mixed

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP) — The Stock Market was completely mixed today in the second most active session of the year. Most market leaders declined on profit taking while the majority of medium and low priced issues improved.

Volume was a substantial 3,150,000 shares, second only to yesterday's record 3,620,000 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 30 cents at $133.90 as the industrial component dropped 90 cents at $180.90 and rails 30 cents at $99.60. However, the utility component climbed 30 cents to $64.60, a new 1954 high.

The market had already closed when Chrysler cut its quarterly dividend in half and reported profits for the first six months at $1.81 a share against $5.07 in the 1953 half. The third largest auto maker was off ⅝ at 64⅞.

National Dairy climbed to a new high of 89 immediately after the company announced a two-for-one stock split and a five-cent increase in the quarterly dividend. But then it began to slip sharply, finishing off five points at 81¾.

American Distilling Co. jumped 3⅞ points at 40⅛ after the company reported complete insurance coverage for the fire which has nearly destroyed its Pekin, Ill., plant.

Aveo Manufacturing closed up ⅜ at 6¾. It was the most active issue, with 73,000 shares traded. Lehigh Coal & Navigation was second, up 1⅜ at 10⅛ on 71,300 shares. International Telephone and Lockheed Aircraft, fourth and fifth most active, also gained ground.

State's Surplus Over $6 Million

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5 (AP)—Maryland's financial chief reported a six-million dollar now-you-see-it-now-you-don't surplus today.

Comptroller J. Millard Tawes reported the State closed its 1954 year with a general fund surplus of $6,004,533—up $1,208,000 from last winter's estimates.

But most of the six-million dollars already had been committed by the governor and legislature to balance the budget for the new fiscal year, which started July 1st.

Tawes called "too close for comfort" the fact that general fund revenues during the last fiscal year ran only .3 of one per cent over advance estimates.

In prospect for next June is a surplus of $1,245,935 but Tawes said this could be wiped out by a decline of 1½ per cent in estimated revenues for 1955.

Maryland's 2 per cent sales tax produced $408,678 more than anticipated in fiscal 1954. The income tax take fell $908,383 below advanced estimates.

Seaway Ends 50-Year Dream

Residents Of Area Welcome Dams, Canals; However, Cherish Old Ways

By H. D. CRAWFORD
Central Press Correspondent

CORNWALL, Ont.—People who live along the International Rapids of the St. Lawrence river, on both American and Canadian sides, are rubbing their eyes after a 50-year dream and gradually realizing that it's really true: the seaway and power projects are about to become realities!

Mayor R. P. McDonald of Ogdensburg, N. Y., characterized the reactions of the people of his historic city in words that might apply to most of the communities directly affected by these gigantic engineering projects that are certain to bring great changes to the St. Lawrence valley.

"Ogdensburg is a sleepy little city rubbing its eyes and ready to spring into action," he told me as we talked in his electric appliance store, "but is reluctant to leave the peace and quiet of its former ways."

I traveled along both sides of the International Rapids section recently, talking with mayors, editors, planning board officials, and other residents in the towns and villages that will be flooded out or transformed when the big power dams create a 36-mile lake and big canals enable ocean-going freighters to penetrate to the heart of the continent. I drove, walked, and slept in areas that will become lake bottom.

MOST of the people who live along this area of the St. Lawrence and look across its sparkling blue waters toward their neighboring nation have heard their fathers and grandfathers talk about the St. Lawrence development scheme and what it would mean to both nations.

Now that Ontario and New York state are about to start the $600 million power project, and United States and Canadian officials are ironing out final problems preparatory to digging the 27-foot canals, these people directly affected have been suddenly shocked into facing hard and dramatic realities. Their reactions are as varied as the range of human emotions.

The predominant reaction I encountered on both sides of the river was enthusiasm and optimism for the future, because the St. Lawrence dream was coming true. These people feel that the changes will benefit the United States and Canada. They expect their own communities to experience unprecedented prosperity. They believe their way of life will be improved.

MANY of these people, however, are concerned primarily with ways these St. Lawrence developments are going to affect them personally. Few display any real comprehension of the overall immensity of the projects. Besides enthusiasm and optimism, I encountered humor, pathos, bitterness, and apathy in their reactions.

Some are concerned more with the fate of cemeteries where members of their families have been buried for generations than over losing their homes. To others in areas to be flooded, the old homestead, shade trees planted by grandfather in the front lawn, shrubs cared for tenderly through the years have all suddenly taken on a new sentimental aura.

Editors of local newspapers in every town I visited are ardent advocates of the St. Lawrence projects and are exerting invaluable leadership in striving to foresee local problems, work out intelligent solutions, and plan for the dawning era.

On the Canadian side, where more villages and farms will be flooded out than on the United States side, I was surprised to see some people painting their houses, building additions, and making other improvements.

Some, I learned, were trying to get a coat of new paint over the old house in hopes that appraisers will give them a higher price. Others were doing it in respect for the old place, its memories, its history; with a probable three years yet before moving, they wish to enjoy the homestead, shade trees, shrubs, lawn, and river view to the fullest extent as long as possible.

I WAS surprised to see smooth blacktop resurfacing being placed on Canada's No. 2 highway that skirts the affected area between Prescott and Cornwall. Explanations were twofold: power and seaway construction will attract numerous tourists, and thousands of tons of machinery and materials must be hauled to sites of the big dams and canals.

Massena, N. Y., citizens realized when local taxes shot up this year that new sewage systems, new schools, new housing, and other expansions to take care of expected thousands of workers on the power and seaway projects cost money.

In Iroquois, Ont., largest community to be completely flooded out—a village that has grown from 750 to only 1,050 residents in nearly a century—I found great enthusiasm among village leaders. They have a model townsite planned on higher ground down the river. When they tell you they expect to have a city of 40,000 people, they're not kidding.

kom" (Peace be with you) and he'd have 'em rolling in the aisles.

One thing the Egyptians don't care about much — I pass this on to Dore Schary, Cecil B. De Mille, the Brothers Warner and even Gregory Ratoff — is kissing scenes. When Miss Parker and Mr. Taylor finally fell into one another's arms, the crowd stirred restively, muttering "Bass, bass" (Enough! Enough!) — and I was with them all the way.

"The Valley of the Kings" — whose finer points I entrust to the movie critics — is another example of a trend in movie-making toward sheer scenery. If I were a movie star, it would alarm me. The beauty of the English (and Irish) countryside in "Knights of the Round Table," the splendor of Rome in "Three Coins in the Fountain," the grandeur of Egypt in this picture no actor can compete with them. Eventually they may just eliminate the actors entirely and show the Pyramids.

Piedmont Man Loses His Hand

A Piedmont man lost his right hand Wednesday afternoon in an accident while working at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Authorities identified the victim of the mishap as Roy J. Ashenfelter, 44, of 8 Jones Street in Piedmont. Taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, following the accident, he was reported in "good" condition yesterday by Dr. Robert Bess, plant physician.

Fellow-workers said Ashenfelter's hand was drawn into a paper machine as he was attempting to remove paper from a calendar.

Auto Insurance Firm Cuts Collision Rates

Allstate Insurance Company has put into effect in Maryland automobile collision insurance preium reductions averaging 7.43 percent, G. H. Bartlett, Southeastern Zone vice president, announced today.

Reductions in the Baltimore area average approximately ten per cent, with lesser reductions in the remainder of the state, Bartlett said.

The Salton Sea in southern California was formed in 1905-07 when the Colorado river broke through a gap in its levee and poured into the below-sea-level valley.

Gibson Suggests Bond Issue For Expressway Cost

Could Affect Tax Rate By 3.3 Cents

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, yesterday told the Mayor and Council that the city's costs under the proposed crosstown expressway program would represent a maximum of 3.3 cents on the tax rate if costs were spread out by a 30-year bond issue.

Gibson based his figure on a total city cost of $800,000, which is considered the maximum the city's costs could reach, and is some $100,000 more than total estimates.

Part of this sum, the city's $490,000 contribution to match available federal aid funds, is fixed by the proposed contract. Additional city obligations, which include the costs of moving utilities, has been estimated at $198,180, but Gibson said the additional fund was added to his estimated costs as the "maximum" the local costs could reach.

Costs To Be Less

The utility costs, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan pointed out, will be adjusted downward "considerably," since the city will make every effort to get the utilities to pay the cost of moving any utility lines.

Gibson added the 3.3 cent tax figure is based on the issuance of a 30 year bond issue, at three per cent interest, with interest only paid the first 20 years and principal in the last 10 years, when the city's debt service will be down.

Under the proposed agreement with the State Roads Commission, the city may pay its $490,000 either by the deduction of $70,000 yearly, between 1954 to 1960, from state gasoline tax and motor vehicle revenues, or any other source legally available, such as the sale of municipal bonds.

Using the state gas revenues, Gibson said, would be "the highest priced way" to get the matching money.

Flood Money Needed

It was pointed out that the city will soon sell $400,000 more of Flood Protection bonds, and that it is estimated another $1,000,000 will be needed to complete the flood project.

The addition of these bond issues, Gibson said, would raise debt service (33 cents in the 1954-55 budget) by four cents next year, to a high of 9.4 cents in 1957 (for a total debt service of 42.4). From there, it would drop to about 32 or 33 cents in 1964, and remain at the 32 mark until 1974 and then continue dropping until 1984, when debt service will require 14 cents.

He said these estimates are based on present assessments and would vary up or down with assessments.

He said the calculations include the need for more flood money, adding that to base calculations on the bridge alone would be to ignore the need for additional flood funds, so these figures were incorporated in order to show "the worst picture possible" in regard to general obligations to be paid from tax revenues alone.

Not Needed Now

Delays in the sale of any of the bonds would, of course, defer the impact until payments on the bonds begin.

The next major point discussed was how to meet the first year's $70,000 obligation if the city's share is to be financed by bonds, which the city would ask the General Assembly to authorize.

Finan pointed out Norman Pritchett, SRC engineer, advised he could not conceive of any demand for city matching funds until April 1955, and then only a partial demand.

He suggested it might be possible to curtail other spending during the coming year in order to have funds available if and when they are needed.

Fund Is Available

Gibson said the money can be used for any traffic improvement program, since the funds are merely earmarked for urban development.

Finan pointed out that other work which the funds was to finance could be deferred, and done later if bonds can be secured from the Assembly. Among this work was the extension of North

Timber Management Setup Paying Off To Landowners

The cooperative woodland management program sponsored jointly by the U. S. Forest Service and the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks is proving to be beneficial to private landowners of District 1.

The service, according to William H. Johnson, district forester, is designed to set up a management plan for the landowners. Foresters assist them with technical work and in setting up their programs.

In District 1, Johnson added, there are three such projects now in operation. R. Thomas Thayer, assistant district forester at Oakland, is in charge of the program in Garrett County.

The Cumberland project which embraces Allegany County and the western end of Washington County is in charge of Harry H. Hartman, assistant district forester.

At the end of the fiscal year June 30, some 217 new cooperators had requested such service in Garrett County, Johnson pointed out. During the year, 418 woodland owners of that county were assisted. The total number of acres involved in the Garrett project was 2,111.

In the Cumberland project 219 owners were given the benefit of the service and 136 new cooperators sought aid in the program. Some 1,795 acres of woodland were involved.

In Frederick and eastern Washington counties, 339 landowners received the service, there were 258 new cooperators and a total of 236 acres were involved.

In addition to setting up a work plan for the landowner, the foresters will mark "ready for harvest" timber on his land in accordance with good forest practices.

The foresters also advise the owner on the amount of each kind of stumpage marked for sale and furnish him with a listing of the number and size of each species of trees marked for cutting.

With this information the landowner can solicit bids and receive the highest market value for his timber. A list of prospective buyers is also furnished the owner.

Byrd Reports He Spent $139,674 In Primary Test

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5 (AP) — The Byrd-for-Governor committee spent $139,674 during the primary campaign compared to $49,915 spent by the committee backing George P. Mahoney, Circuit Court disclosed yesterday.

The Byrd organization reported borrowing $52,000 to meet expenses and said it intended to repay four loans out of subsequent contributions.

Contributions totaled $88,800 and the loans raised the total received to $140,800, treasurer Presley D. Bowen told the court.

Bowen loaned $13,000; E. Brooke Lee, manager of Byrd's campaign headquarters $14,500; James Swartz $13,500 and James Stevens, $11,000.

Contributors included Lee, $3,000; Swartz, $1,000; Stevens $1,000; Bowen $500; Dr. Byrd $4,500; former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr., $2,800; Larry McPhail, $2,500; Samuel Winograd and J. Newton Brewer, $3,000 each and Raymond Machen, $2,000.

Donors of $1,000 each included Charles P. McCormick, Clarence W. Miles, Howard Bruce, Arthur Hyde, H. Guy Campbell, Thomas D. Webb Jr., S. R. Machen and Victor Frenkil.

William F. Webb, treasurer for the Mahoney organization, reported expenditures amounting to $49,844 leaving a balance of $70.55 in the fund.

Philip H. Dorsey, candidate for nomination as attorney general on the Mahoney ticket, donated $5,300, and $5,000 each came from George Sellmayer and Lawrence Lockwood. Mahoney and Hugo R. Hoffman, director of the campaign, were listed as giving $3,500 each.

Other contributors included Theodore Julio, J. H. Requard, Edward O'Donnell, J. T. Gray and A. C. Mahoney, $2,000 each; William P. Wenn and Peter Aiello, $1,500 each and $1,000 each from Douglas Peterson, A. Atlee Peterson, Irvin Rankin, J. S. Shapiro, Paul J. Wilhelm and William Martin.

Snake Bites Small Girl On Ankle

Linda Shaffer, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Shaffer of Greencastle, Pa., was a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital at Oakland for four days after having been bitten on the ankle by an 18-inch copperhead snake.

The child was attending a family picnic at Broadwater Chapel along Savage River in Garrett County when she was bitten by the snake Sunday afternoon.

Linda was bitten shortly after she had sat on a rock to eat her picnic lunch. Her cry attracted the attention of Merle Wilt, a forest supervisor for the State Department of Forests and Parks, who was seated nearby. When he saw the mark on her leg he knew she had been bitten by a snake, which had been hiding under the flat rock.

While Linda was rushed to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment, others in the picnic party killed the snake. The child was discharged from the hospital Wednesday and was allowed to return with her family to Greencastle.

Rawlings Free On Bond Pending Investigation

Oberlin Rawlings, 32-year-old Bloomington resident, yesterday was released under continued bond of $1,000 pending sentence on a charge of assault and battery, in a case heard in Trial Magistrate's Court before Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Rawlings pleaded guilty to the charge, which was placed against him after he reportedly had struck his divorced wife, Mrs. Dorothy Rawlings, Mt. Savage, in a disturbance on Baltimore Street.

Sentence was deferred until Thursday at 10 a. m. In the meantime a complete investigation of the defendant's background will be conducted by David M. Steele, probation officer for Allegany and Garrett counties.

An investigation will also be made concerning information furnished to the court through the State's Attorney's office.

Dick first remanded Rawlings to the Allegany County Jail pending the investigation, but then released him when it was agreed to continue the bond of $1,000.

Among the witnesses at yesterday's trial were several persons who saw the fracas on Baltimore Street. City Patrolman Roscoe M. Nuse, the arresting officer, also testified.

$400 Settlement Ends Damage Suit

A damage suit has been settled for $400 in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Daniel Martin, by George W. Martin and Ruth M. Martin, his parents and next friends, 619 St. Mary's Avenue, filed the suit against George Richard McGregor and Emma May McGregor, 511 Louisiana Avenue.

In the declaration it was charged that young Martin sustained contusions and lacerations on Montgomery Avenue last October 23 when he was knocked down by an automobile owned by Mrs. McGregor and driven by McGregor.

The $400 compromise settlement was signed by Attorney James S. Getty, representing the plaintiff, and Attorney W. Earle Cobey, representing the defendants.

Outdoor Meeting Planned

The Past President's Club of the VFW will hold a picnic supper at 6 o'clock tonight at the home of Mrs. Alice Miller, Cash Valley Road. Mrs. Florine Rinker will preside at the business session following.

Frostburg Man Killed In Crash On Braddock Rd.

Andrew Bugosh, 25, Dies Instantly

Andrew Joseph Bugosh, 25, of Route 1, Frostburg, died instantly last night shortly after 10 o'clock when his automobile skidded off Braddock Road and crashed into a tree.

Dr. H. V. Deming, county medical examiner, pronounced the man dead when authorities arrived at the scene about three miles west of Cumberland on State Route 49, near the intersection of Winchester and Braddock Roads.

State Police Troopers Robert Wolford and Lindberg Cook said Bugosh attempted to pass another car going west toward the intersection of Route 40 and Braddock Road when his car ran off the roadway to the left.

He apparently lost control of the vehicle, which skidded on the wet pavement and crashed headon into a tree in front of the residence of W. C. Willison, Braddock Road.

Bugosh was riding alone at the time of the mishap. He died of a fractured skull and internal injuries suffered when he was thrown to the highway by the force of the impact of the car against the tree.

Two Hurt In Crash

Two Cumberland men were severely injured near Moorefield, W. Va., yesterday morning when their automobile skidded off the highway and crashed headon into a large tree.

Paul "Jake" Fisher, 33, of 528 North Centre Street, and Harold Everline, 51, RFD 1, LaVale, were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital about 1:30 p. m. after being brought here from Moorefield by ambulance. The accident occurred at 9:30 a. m.

Trooper D. A. Burner of the West Virginia State Police said Everline and Fisher were traveling toward Moorefield on Route 220 from Cumberland on the way to a job for the sheet metal concern with which they are employed.

The state policeman said Everline, who was driving the vehicle, lost control of the car when it skidded as it rounded a sharp turn in the highway about nine miles north of Moorefield. The roadway was wet with recent rains, Trooper Burner stated, and was very slippery at the spot where the accident occurred.

Skids On Wet Road

As the car hit the sharp bend in the road it skidded to the right and smashed headon into the tree. The automobile was completely demolished by the impact, the trooper added.

Both victims were treated at the scene by a Moorefield doctor and were brought to Cumberland in ambulances from Moorefield and Romney.

Sacred Heart Hospital attaches said last night the conditions of both men were "fair."

Fisher had severe lacerations of the forehead and right upper arm. He was unconscious when admitted to the hospital but later became coherent and was able to talk to authorities.

In two other highway mishaps yesterday and Wednesday four youths were injured and admitted to the hospital.

State Police said Virgil Speicer Jr., 19, and Donald Keith Taylor, 18, both of Baltimore, were admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital after the car driven by Speicer careened from Route 219 about 2½ miles south of Keyser Ridge and crashed against a tree at 7:30 yesterday morning.

Suffers Broken Ribs

Hurt at 2 p. m. Wednesday in an automobile crash on State Route 35 near Ellerslie were Vaughn Hone, 16, of Jackson, Ohio, and Lee Thompson, 16, of Hollidaysburg, Pa. Both had lacerations and contusions. Thompson was admitted to Memorial Hospital.

Trooper First Class Donald R. Wade, who investigated, said the car which Hone was driving failed to negotiate a turn and hit the rear of a State Roads Commission truck operated by Abraham Chisholm, 34, Mt. Savage. Chisholm was uninjured.

Chamber Urges City To Delay Expressway

Promises Report To Back Up Action

The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce last night went on record as being opposed to the entry of the City of Cumberland into a contract with the State Roads Commission to construct the proposed crosstown expressway at this time.

This action was taken by the board solely on the basis of financial considerations and without respect to any of the engineering aspects of the proposed facility.

A complete and detailed statement clarifying and explaining this action is being prepared and will be released shortly, Chamber officials said.

The Board of Directors also elected new officers and executive committee members.

R. Finley Thompson, manager of the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, was elected president, succeeding Edmund S. Burke, who becomes an ex-officio member of the executive committee. Other officers are:

Lynn C. Lashley, first vice president; George A. Schwarzenbach, second vice president; James L. Weber, third vice president; Franklin H. Ankeney, treasurer, and Henry W. Price, national councilor.

5 Persons Hurt In Auto Mishap Near Keyser

Five persons were injured, none seriously, in a two-car collision at Allegheny Front on Route 50 about nine miles west of Keyser yesterday shortly after noon.

Hospitalized in Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser were Homer William Tyler Jr., 25, his wife, Mrs. Jean Tyler, 23, both of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cwickala, and Charles J. Cwickala, 15, their son, of Chicago, Ill.

The accident occurred when the car driven by Cwickala heading east down the mountain, skidded into the path of the auto operated by Tyler while rounding a sharp curve in the highway. Mrs. Cwickala and the younger Cwickala were passengers in the automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyler were accompanied by their two small children, who were uninjured in the mishap. The youngsters were taken to the home of a friend of their parents in McCoole to stay while the Tylers recover from their injuries.

Hospital attaches said Tyler had chest, face, leg and arm injuries, Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Cwickala and the Cwickala youth suffered multiple injuries, and the elder Cwickala was hurt about the ankle, chest and abdomen.

Cpl. F. H. Tribett of the Keyser detachment of the West Virginia State Police, investigated.

Soaking Rain Is Helpful To Area Crops

Showers Bring .25 Inches Of Rainfall

Intermittent showers throughout most of the day yesterday gave crops and dry ground in the tri-state area a good soaking for the second straight day.

Approximately .25 of an inch of rain fell in Cumberland and surrounding territory. In Pennsylvania, brief showers in the afternoon heralded clearing skies and cooling breezes in the evening.

In Moorefield a hard storm was brewing about the time the West Virginia Poultry Association was ready to begin its gala parade in celebration of the naming of the Poultry Queen. Heavy drizzles marked most of the day in the Hardy County section.

Romney, W. Va., state police reported a hard thunderstorm about 5:30 p. m., lasting about an hour and a half. Lightning and some wind accompanied the hard, driving rain, but authorities reported no damage in the Hampshire County area.

State Police in Maryland and West Virginia said highways throughout the area were very wet and urged motorists to use caution while driving. However, with brisk winds in some places, police expected the roadways to dry quickly.

Winds were west to southwest yesterday, changing to southeast to southerly in the evening. Temperatures rose to 75 degrees in Cumberland, with a low for the period registered at 65 degrees.

Four Hyndman Youths Injured In Auto Crash

Hospitalized were George Dennison, 18, driver of the vehicle, Howard Shroyer, 15, Edison Ringler, 16, and Junior Leydig, 17.

Pennsylvania State Police are investigating the mishap.

Three Candidates Report Expenses

Three more candidates have filed expense accounts this week in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

William C. Abbott, who was renominated for another term as judge of the Allegany County Orphans Court on the Republican ticket, reported that he spent only $55. Of that total $25 was for filing fee, $20 for advertising and $10 for donations.

Alvin H. Rankin, Republican candidate for the House of Delegates, who was defeated in the June 28 primary, listed his expenditures at $233. Itemized, they included $25 for filing fee, $92 for posters and cards, $21 for matches, $44 for other advertising, $31 for traveling expenses and $20 for donations.

Frank W. Hartell Sr., a county delegate to the State Republican Convention July 24, submitted a report showing no expenses and no contributions.

14 Companies Seek To Join CD Network

County To Start Radio System

Some 14 volunteer companies in Allegany and Garrett counties already have indicated they wish to participate in the Civil Defense radio network, according to David E. Kirk of Barton, president of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

The 14 companies, all but one of them in Allegany County, will send representatives to a meeting at the LaVale Fire Hall at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. The LaVale meeting has been called by William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense in Allegany County, for a discussion of the bids received Wednesday for supplying 20 mobile transmitters and receiver sets for the volunteer fire companies.

Low bid of $8,401.60 was submitted by the General Electric Company. Barger plans to make a recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners after the meeting next Wednesday. In another bid on two fixed-station transmitters and receivers Motorolo was low with $1,925.

Fire companies which want to participate in the radio network include Potomac Company No. 2 of Westernport, Barton Hose Company, Shaft Fire Company, Frostburg Fire Company, Luke Fire Company, Bloomington Fire Company, Midland Fire Company, Corriganville Fire Company, LaVale Fire Company, Bedford Road Fire Company, Baltimore Pike Fire Company, Cresaptown Fire Company, Flintstone Fire Company and District No. 16 Fire Company.

Others which also may be interested also are asked to send representatives to the LaVale session. At that meeting a representative from the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company will explain how the company's radio operates.

According to present plans four of the 20 sets will be installed in trucks of Cumberland's Fire Department. The rest will go into volunteer companies' trucks.

Four Persons Held For Investigation

Four persons, including one woman and a 17-year-old boy, were picked up yesterday morning by City Police and are being held in City Jail for investigation. Officer George E. Pfeiffer made the arrests.

Pfeiffer, who was driving a cruiser, said he saw the foursome pull into a gasoline station in the Narrows at about 5 o'clock. When he pulled up, the out-of-town car suddenly drove away.

Pfeiffer gave chase and made the arrests a short time later. The driver, Sam H. Snider Jr., 25, of New Bern, N. C., was held on charges of driving without registration and without a license.

The others, booked for investigation are James H. Willen, 29, of Baltimore, Betty Snyder, 22 of Baltimore, and Charles Dail, 17, of New Bern, N. C. Detective Donald U. Smith is continuing the investigation.

Local Man Arrested In Petty Larceny

John V. Steinmetz, North Waverly Terrace, was arrested Tuesday by Lt. James E. Van, of the City Police Detective Bureau, and released for trial Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. in Trial Magistrate's Court, on a charge of petty larceny.

Steinmetz was apprehended Tuesday afternoon and questioned by Van at Police Headquarters before being released.

Council Defers Frederick Street Job Contribution

Buchholtz Asks Time To Study Project

A move to issue a check of $250,000 covering the city's share of the Frederick Street improvement project fell through yesterday afternoon when Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz asked additional time to study plans for the work.

Mayor Roy W. Eves called a special meeting of the Mayor and Council yesterday after C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, explained the status of the project.

Commissioner Buchholtz said he saw no reason why the matter could not be delayed until a decision is reached on the crosstown expressway, saying he did not know whether the Frederick Street work will be needed if the expressway plan is adopted, and added he wanted to investigate the plans.

C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, pointed out that the city has entered into an agreement for the Frederick Street job and that it is "late to back out."

Asks 3 Days Grace

But Buchholtz asked for "three days grace." The commissioner insisted he had not said whether he was "for or against" the Frederick Street work, but that in the interests of the people, it would be better to wait and see if it is needed.

Frederick Street, Nuzum said, is part of the traffic plan worked out following the 1950 survey.

Payment of the check was moved by Police Commissioner William V. Keegan and seconded by Water Commissioner William J. Edwards. Keegan later agreed to drop the motion.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan had suggested that action be held up in deference to Commissioner Buchholtz, since the work falls under his department.

And Engineering Cost

The estimated cost of the project, needed in order to make one-way streets of Frederick and Bedford streets, was about $480,000, to be shared equally by the city and the federal government since it is to be built as a federal urban aid job, with the city's share coming from a $350,000 urban development bond issue of 1953.

When bids were opened on June 15, it was found that the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company of Cumberland had submitted the low bid of $517,119.

Part of the route lies outside the city limits, and the SRC, Nuzum reported, agreed to pay for that portion, which would leave a total of $483,138.09 of construction costs to be shared by city and federal funds.

Engineering costs, estimated at about 10 per cent, increased the city-federal share to $531,451.96.

City officials have informed the State Roads Commission they are reluctant to go much above $250,000, and the SRC agreed to let the contract with that contribution, saying a rebate can be expected from the funds set aside for engineering.

Paper Company, Union Contract Talks Break Up

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Union leaders announced negotiations were broken off today between management and union on wage increases for workers of the West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co.

The company operates plants at Covington, Va.; Luke, Md.; and Williamsburg, Pa.

Director Harry Scott of the CIO Paper Workers Union said the negotiations ended when "management flatly refused" to consider granting a pay raise. Company officials could not be reached for comment.

Scott said the bargaining session was initiated by the union under a current labor agreement which provides for a voluntary wage reopening during the contract year.

The union, he added, had offered to consider a contract extension as part of a package settlement and this too had been refused. The negotiations had continued for a day and a half when they were broken off.

Participating in the negotiations were Director Charles Bridgewater, President Arnold Brown, Ray Brown, Jay Whitehead, A. W. Harding and Harry Crawford of Local 675, Covington; President Wilbur Johnson, Eugene Dawson, Lee Miller and Charles Butler of Local 676, Luke, and President Ralph Lilly and Charles Black of Local 677, Williamsburg.

The union represents some 4,000 workers at the three plants.

Prizes Awarded In Craft Show

Five youngsters won prizes in West Side Playground's handicraft show Wednesday night.

James Young had the neatest project, Carol Meade, largest; Robert McKenzie, smallest; Kay Smith, prettiest, and Dorthy Barham, largest collection. Other contestants were Truman Livengood, John McMullen, and Betty McMullen.

Judges were Mary Offutt, Darla Koerner, and Sandra Reichert.

Gibson Suggests Bond Issue For Expressway Cost

Could Affect Tax Rate By 3.3 Cents

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, yesterday told the Mayor and Council that the city's costs under the proposed crosstown expressway program would represent a maximum of 3.3 cents on the tax rate if costs were spread out by a 30-year bond issue.

Gibson based his figure on a total city cost of $800,000, which is considered the maximum the city's costs could reach, and is some $100,000 more than total estimates.

Part of this sum, the city's $490,000 contribution to match available federal aid funds, is fixed by the proposed contract. Additional city obligations, which include the costs of moving utilities, has been estimated at $198,180, but Gibson said the additional fund was added to his estimated costs as the "maximum" the local costs could reach.

Costs To Be Less

The utility costs, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan pointed out, will be adjusted downward "considerably," since the city will make every effort to get the utilities to pay the cost of moving any utility lines.

Gibson added the 3.3 cent tax figure is based on the issuance of a 30 year bond issue, at three per cent interest, with interest only paid the first 20 years and principal in the last 10 years, when the city's debt service will be down.

Under the proposed agreement with the State Roads Commission, the city may pay its $490,000 either by the deduction of $70,000 yearly, between 1954 to 1960, from state gasoline tax and motor vehicle revenues, or any other source legally available, such as the sale of municipal bonds.

Using the state gas revenues, Gibson said, would be "the highest priced way" to get the matching money.

Flood Money Needed

It was pointed out that the city will soon sell $400,000 more of Flood Protection bonds, and that it is estimated another $1,000,000 will be needed to complete the flood project.

The addition of these bond issues, Gibson said, would raise debt service (33 cents in the 1954-55 budget) by four cents next year, to a high of 9.4 cents in 1957 (for a total debt service of 42.4). From there, it would drop to about 32 or 33 cents in 1964, and remain at the 32 mark until 1974 and then continue dropping until 1984, when debt service will require 14 cents.

He said these estimates are based on present assessments and would vary up or down with assessments.

He said the calculations include the need for more flood money, adding that to base calculations on the bridge alone would be to ignore the need for additional flood funds, so these figures were incorporated in order to show "the worst picture possible" in regard to general obligations to be paid from tax revenues alone.

Not Needed Now

Delays in the sale of any of the bonds would, of course, defer the impact until payments on the bonds begin.

The next major point discussed was how to meet the first year's $70,000 obligation if the city's share is to be financed by bonds, which the city would ask the General Assembly to authorize.

Finan pointed out Norman Pritchett, SRC engineer, advised he could not conceive of any demand for city matching funds until April 1955, and then only a partial demand.

He suggested it might be possible to curtail other spending during the coming year in order to have funds available if and when they are needed.

Fund Is Available

Another possibility suggested by Finan to get matching funds until bonds would be available is to use money left from the Urban Development Bond Issue of 1953 after the city's share of the Frederick Street Improvement Project is financed.

About $100,000 will be left after the city pays its share — about $250,000 — toward the Frederick Street work.

Gibson said the money can be used for any traffic improvement program, since the funds are merely earmarked for urban development.

Finan pointed out that other work which the funds was to finance could be deferred, and done later if bonds can be secured from the Assembly. Among this work was the extension of North

Timber Management Setup Paying Off To Landowners

The cooperative woodland management program sponsored jointly by the U. S. Forest Service and the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks is proving to be beneficial to private landowners of District 1.

The service, according to William H. Johnson, district forester, is designed to set up a management plan for the landowners. Foresters assist them with technical work and in setting up their programs.

In District 1, Johnson added, there are three such projects now in operation. R. Thomas Thayer, assistant district forester at Oakland, is in charge of the program in Garrett County.

The Cumberland project which embraces Allegany County and the western end of Washington County is in charge of Harry H. Hartman, assistant district forester.

At the end of the fiscal year June 30, some 217 new cooperators had requested such service in Garrett County, Johnson pointed out. During the year, 418 woodland owners of that county were assisted. The total number of acres involved in the Garrett project was 2,111.

In the Cumberland project 219 owners were given the benefit of the service and 136 new cooperators sought aid in the program. Some 1,795 acres of woodland were involved.

In Frederick and eastern Washington counties, 339 landowners received the service, there were 258 new cooperators and a total of 236 acres were involved.

In addition to setting up a work plan for the landowner, the foresters will mark "ready for harvest" timber on his land in accordance with good forest practices.

The foresters also advise the owner on the amount of each kind of stumpage marked for sale and furnish him with a listing of the number and size of each species of trees marked for cutting.

With this information the landowner can solicit bids and receive the highest market value for his timber. A list of prospective buyers is also furnished the owner.

Snake Bites Small Girl On Ankle

Linda Shaffer, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Shaffer of Greencastle, Pa., was a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital at Oakland for four days after having been bitten on the ankle by an 18-inch copperhead snake.

The child was attending a family picnic at Broadwater Chapel along Savage River in Garrett County when she was bitten by the snake Sunday afternoon.

Linda was bitten shortly after she had sat on a rock to eat her picnic lunch. Her cry attracted the attention of Merle Wilt, a forest supervisor for the State Department of Forests and Parks, who was seated nearby. When he saw the mark on her leg he knew she had been bitten by a snake, which had been hiding under the flat rock.

While Linda was rushed to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment, others in the picnic party killed the snake. The child was discharged from the hospital Wednesday and was allowed to return with her family to Greencastle.

Rawlings Free On Bond Pending Investigation

Oberlin Rawlings, 32-year-old Bloomington resident, yesterday was released under continued bond of $1,000 pending sentence on a charge of assault and battery, in a case heard in Trial Magistrate's Court before Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Rawlings pleaded guilty to the charge, which was placed against him after he reportedly had struck his divorced wife, Mrs. Dorothy Rawlings, Mt. Savage, in a disturbance on Baltimore Street.

Sentence was deferred until Thursday at 10 a. m. In the meantime a complete investigation of the defendant's background will be conducted by David M. Steele, probation officer for Allegany and Garrett counties.

An investigation will also be made concerning information furnished to the court through the State's Attorney's office.

Dick first remanded Rawlings to the Allegany County Jail pending the investigation, but then released him when it was agreed to continue the bond of $1,000.

Among the witnesses at yesterday's trial were several persons who saw the fracas on Baltimore Street. City Patrolman Roscoe M. Nuse, the arresting officer, also testified.

The state was represented by James S. Getty, assistant state's attorney.

In the declaration it was charged that young Martin sustained contusions and lacerations on Montgomery Avenue last October 23 when he was knocked down by an automobile owned by Mrs. McGregor and driven by McGregor.

The $400 compromise settlement was signed by Attorney James S. Getty, representing the plaintiff, and Attorney W. Earle Cobey, representing the defendants.

Frostburg Man Killed in Crash On Braddock Rd.

Andrew Bugosh, 25, Dies Instantly

Andrew Joseph Bugosh, 25, of Route 1, Frostburg, died instantly last night shortly after 10 o'clock when his automobile skidded off Braddock Road and crashed into a tree.

Dr. H. V. Deming, county medical examiner, pronounced the man dead when authorities arrived at the scene about three miles west of Cumberland on State Route 49, near the intersection of Winchester and Braddock Roads.

State Police Troopers Robert Wolford and Lindberg Cook said Bugosh attempted to pass another car going west toward the intersection of Route 40 and Braddock Road when his car ran off the roadway to the left.

He apparently lost control of the vehicle, which skidded on the wet pavement and crashed headon into a tree in front of the residence of W. C. Willison, Braddock Road.

Bugosh was riding alone at the time of the mishap. He died of a fractured skull and internal injuries suffered when he was thrown to the highway by the force of the impact of the car against the tree.

Two Hurt In Crash

Two Cumberland men were severely injured near Moorefield, W. Va., yesterday morning when their automobile skidded off the highway and crashed headon into a large tree.

Paul "Jake" Fisher, 33, of 528 North Centre Street, and Harold Everline, 51, RFD 1, LaVale, were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital about 1:30 p. m. after being brought here from Moorefield by ambulance. The accident occurred at 9:30 a. m.

Trooper D. A. Burner of the West Virginia State Police said Everline and Fisher were traveling toward Moorefield on Route 220 from Cumberland on the way to a job for the sheet metal concern with which they are employed.

The state policeman said Everline, who was driving the vehicle, lost control of the car when it skidded as it rounded a sharp turn in the highway about nine miles north of Moorefield. The roadway was wet with recent rains, Trooper Burner stated, and was very slippery at the spot where the accident occurred.

Skids On Wet Road

As the car hit the sharp bend in the road it skidded to the right and smashed headon into the tree. The automobile was completely demolished by the impact, the trooper added.

Both victims were treated at the scene by a Moorefield doctor and were brought to Cumberland in ambulances from Moorefield and Romney.

Fisher had severe lacerations of the forehead and right upper arm. He was unconscious when admitted to the hospital but later became coherent and was able to talk to authorities.

In two other highway mishaps yesterday and Wednesday four youths were injured and admitted to the hospital.

State Police said Virgil Speicer Jr., 19, and Donald Keith Taylor, 18, both of Baltimore, were admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital after the car driven by Speicer careened from Route 219 about 2½ miles south of Keyser Ridge and crashed against a tree at 7:30 yesterday morning.

Suffers Broken Ribs

Hurt at 2 p. m. Wednesday in an automobile crash on State Route 35 near Ellerslie were Vaughn Hone, 16, of Jackson, Ohio, and Lee Thompson, 16, of Hollidaysburg, Pa. Both had lacerations and contusions. Thompson was admitted to Memorial Hospital.

Trooper First Class Donald R. Wade, who investigated, said the car which Hone was driving failed to negotiate a turn and hit the rear of a State Roads Commission truck operated by Abraham Chisholm, 34, Mt. Savage. Chisholm was uninjured.

Chamber Urges City To Delay Expressway

Promises Report To Back Up Action

The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce last night went on record as being opposed to the entry of the City of Cumberland into a contract with the State Roads Commission to construct the proposed crosstown expressway at this time.

This action was taken by the board solely on the basis of financial considerations and without respect to any of the engineering aspects of the proposed facility.

A complete and detailed statement clarifying and explaining this action is being prepared and will be released shortly, Chamber officials said.

The Board of Directors also elected new officers and executive committee members.

5 Persons Hurt In Auto Mishap Near Keyser

Five persons were injured, none seriously, in a two-car collision at Allegheny Front on Route 50 about nine miles west of Keyser yesterday shortly after noon.

Hospitalized in Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser were Homer William Tyler Jr., 25, his wife, Mrs. Jean Tyler, 23, both of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cwickala, and Charles J. Cwickala, 15, their son, of Chicago, Ill.

The accident occurred when the car driven by Cwickala heading east down the mountain, skidded into the path of the auto operated by Tyler while rounding a sharp curve in the highway. Mrs. Cwickala and the younger Cwickala were passengers in the automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyler were accompanied by their two small children, who were uninjured in the mishap. The youngsters were taken to the home of a friend of their parents in McCoole to stay while the Tylers recover from their injuries.

Hospital attaches said Tyler had chest, face, leg and arm injuries. Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Cwickala and the Cwickala youth suffered multiple injuries, and the elder Cwickala was hurt about the ankle, chest and abdomen.

Cpl. F. H. Tribett of the Keyser detachment of the West Virginia State Police, investigated.

Soaking Rain Is Helpful To Area Crops

Showers Bring .25 Inches Of Rainfall

Intermittent showers throughout most of the day yesterday gave crops and dry ground in the tri-state area a good soaking for the second straight day.

Approximately .25 of an inch of rain fell in Cumberland and surrounding territory. In Pennsylvania, brief showers in the afternoon heralded clearing skies and cooling breezes in the evening.

In Moorefield a hard storm was brewing about the time the West Virginia Poultry Association was ready to begin its gala parade in celebration of the naming of the Poultry Queen. Heavy drizzles marked most of the day in the Hardy County section.

Romney, W. Va., state police reported a hard thunderstorm about 5:30 p. m., lasting about an hour and a half. Lightning and some wind accompanied the hard, driving rain, but authorities reported no damage in the Hampshire County area.

State Police in Maryland and West Virginia said highways throughout the area were very wet and urged motorists to use caution while driving. However, with brisk winds in some places, police expected the roadways to dry quickly.

Winds were west to southwest yesterday, changing to southeast to southerly in the evening. Temperatures rose to 75 degrees in Cumberland, with a low for the period registered at 65 degrees.

Four Hyndman Youths Injured In Auto Crash

Attaches said last night their conditions were satisfactory. Dennison had possible back injuries, Shroyer and Ringler severe lacerations and abrasions, and Leydig a possible broken left ankle.

Pennsylvania State Police are investigating the mishap.

Itemized, they included $25 for filing fee, $92 for posters and cards, $21 for matches, $44 for other advertising, $31 for traveling expenses and $20 for donations.

14 Companies Seek To Join CD Network

County To Start Radio System

Some 14 volunteer companies in Allegany and Garrett counties already have indicated they wish to participate in the Civil Defense radio network, according to David E. Kirk of Barton, president of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

The 14 companies, all but one of them in Allegany County, will send representatives to a meeting at the LaVale Fire Hall at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. The LaVale meeting has been called by William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense in Allegany County, for a discussion of the bids received Wednesday for supplying 20 mobile transmitters and receiver sets for the volunteer fire companies.

Low bid of $8,401.60 was submitted by the General Electric Company. Barger plans to make a recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners after the meeting next Wednesday. In another bid on two fixed-station transmitters and receivers Motorolo was low with $1,925.

Fire companies which want to participate in the radio network include Potomac Company No. 2 of Westernport, Barton Hose Company, Shaft Fire Company, Frostburg Fire Company, Luke Fire Company, Bloomington Fire Company, Midland Fire Company, Corriganville Fire Company, LaVale Fire Company, Bedford Road Fire Company, Baltimore Pike Fire Company, Cresaptown Fire Company, Flintstone Fire Company and District No. 16 Fire Company.

Others which also may be interested also are asked to send representatives to the LaVale session. At that meeting a representative from the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company will explain how the company's radio operates.

According to present plans four of the 20 sets will be installed in trucks of Cumberland's Fire Department. The rest will go into volunteer companies' trucks.

Pfeiffer, who was driving a cruiser, said he saw the foursome pull into a gasoline station in the Narrows at about 5 o'clock. When he pulled up, the out-of-town car suddenly drove away.

Pfeiffer gave chase and made the arrests a short time later. The driver, Sam H. Snider Jr., 25, of New Bern, N. C., was held on charges of driving without registration and without a license.

The others, booked for investigation are James H. Willen, 29, of Baltimore, Betty Snyder, 22 of Baltimore, and Charles Dail, 17, of New Bern, N. C. Detective Donald U. Smith is continuing the investigation.

Council Defers Frederick Street Job Contribution

Buchholtz Asks Time To Study Project

A move to issue a check of $250,000 covering the city's share of the Frederick Street improvement project fell through yesterday afternoon when Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz asked additional time to study plans for the work.

Mayor Roy W. Eves called a special meeting of the Mayor and Council yesterday after C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, explained the status of the project.

Commissioner Buchholtz said he saw no reason why the matter could not be delayed until a decision is reached on the crosstown expressway, saying he did not know whether the Frederick Street work will be needed if the expressway plan is adopted, and added he wanted to investigate the plans.

C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, pointed out that the city has entered into an agreement for the Frederick Street job and that it is "late to back out."

Asks 3 Days Grace

But Buchholtz asked for "three days grace." The commissioner insisted he had not said whether he was "for or against" the Frederick Street work, but that in the interests of the people, it would be better to wait and see if it is needed.

Frederick Street, Nuzum said, is part of the traffic plan worked out following the 1950 survey.

Payment of the check was moved by Police Commissioner William V. Keegan and seconded by Water Commissioner William J. Edwards. Keegan later agreed to drop the motion.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan had suggested that action be held up in deference to Commissioner Buchholtz, since the work falls under his department.

Add Engineering Cost

The estimated cost of the project, needed in order to make one-way streets of Frederick and Bedford streets, was about $480,000, to be shared equally by the city and the federal government since it is to be built as a federal urban aid job, with the city's share coming from a $350,000 urban development bond issue of 1953.

When bids were opened on June 15, it was found that the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company of Cumberland had submitted the low bid of $517,119.

This included the installation of storm sewers, curbing, sidewalks and paving the 1.4-mile area from Woodlawn Terrace north.

Part of the route lies outside the city limits, and the SRC, Nuzum reported, agreed to pay for that portion, which would leave a total of $483,138.09 of construction costs to be shared by city and federal funds.

Engineering costs, estimated at about 10 per cent, increased the city-federal share to $531,451.96.

City officials have informed the State Roads Commission they are reluctant to go much above $250,000, and the SRC agreed to let the contract with that contribution, saying a rebate can be expected from the funds set aside for engineering.

Paper Company, Union Contract Talks Break Up

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Union leaders announced negotiations were broken off today between management and union on wage increases for workers of the West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co.

The company operates plants at Covington, Va.; Luke, Md.; and Williamsburg, Pa.

Director Harry Scott of the CIO Paper Workers Union said the negotiations ended when "management flatly refused" to consider granting a pay raise. Company officials could not be reached for comment.

Scott said the bargaining session was initiated by the union under a current labor agreement which provides for a voluntary wage reopening during the contract year.

The union, he added, had offered to consider a contract extension as part of a package settlement and this too had been refused. The negotiations had continued for a day and a half when they were broken off.

Participating in the negotiations were Director Charles Bridgewater, President Arnold Brown, Ray Brown, Jay Whitehead, A. W. Harding and Harry Crawford of Local 675, Covington; President Wilbur Johnson, Eugene Dawson, Lee Miller and Charles Butler of Local 676, Luke, and President Ralph Lilly and Charles Black of Local 677, Williamsburg.

The union represents some 4,000 workers at the three plants.
